a bed of coal. By a repetition of this process with local variations, we may conceive the formation of any number of coal-seams, frequently amounting, in some districts, to fifty or sixty, embraced within a vertical thickness of several thousand SEW shales and sandstone. Ages roll on, the strata are removed from their foundations: upheaved from the sea bottom, the breakers and currents sweep away a portion of the covering, and the mineral tion of the covering, and the treasures are brought within the reach of treasures are brought within the reach of

As Usual.—A handsome bach, clerk in one of the most popular dry-goods stores in atlanta, is smitten with a resident of a neighboring city. The father of the young lady came to Atlanta recently and registered at the hotel where the bachelor clerk boards. As soon as this discovery was made, the old gentleman was looked up and made the recipient of earnest attentions (such as all of us have and are disposed to pay the parents of the hoped for,) to ingratiate himself into Agents Wanted to Sell the Most Popuhis parental favor.

Just before going up to dinner the old old gentleman asked the young one to show him the way. "Certainly. Though I don't drink myself," replied the tetotaler. Arrived at the bar, the want of the old man was made known, when the bartender, turning to the young man, coolly remarked: "I suppose you will take gin and sugar, as usual, Mr.—?"
