is interesting to notice how Canadians are turning their attention to these quarters, tho it is still the day of small things with us.—
The direct lumber trade between South America and Canada had no existence during reciprocity, so that there have been only some three or four years of it yet. In 1867 three vessels went from the St. Lawrence, two to Monte Video, and one to Buenos Ayres, taking in all 728,116 feet of lumber, of the value of 48,457. In 1868 the number of records in of $8,457. In 1868 the number of vessels increased to 17, the feet of lumber to 6,407,634 and the value of the cargoes to $105,335. In 1869 there was a still more noticeable advance Forty-one vessels went, carrying 13,806,276 feet of lumber, of the value of $202,523; while last year there were 66 vessels, taking 24,998,914 feet, of the value of $362,415.— This is pretty good, and there is no reason why the same rate of increase should not go
