SODA WATER RELIGION .-- A conductor on a New York railroad, not long since, compelled to check the singing and shouting of some Methodists who were returning from camp meeting on his train, that he might hear what his passengers said to him, was overheard to say to his brakesman, "I do not think much of this soda water religion." Soda water" is good-that is, the phrase is good. In regard to the thing, we quite agree with irreverent conductor. And yet how much soda-water religion we have in our churches. It is nt confined to the Methodists alone. We Baptists have it, and the Presbyterians have st join nov 13 A. C. WATSON. it, (a little of it) and what sect in fact has it not? Soda water religion is possibly better that no religion; but better far than this emotional piety, which fizes and froths and pops to day, and tomorrow is utterly vapid and lifeless (as every fizzing and frothing substance is every fizzing and frothing substance is every fizzing and frothing substance is expensed and substance in the substance is expensed and substance is expense apt to be in twenty four hours), is that quiet undemonstrative religious principle which holds right through, in whatever we do not deprecate emotion, if there to We have been appointed Sole Agents in St. Book Agents Wanted. a principle at the bottom in any reason- new in stock But we do deprecate that sods water piety which, if left to settle for a few and finish to last season's goods. moments, leaves a residum in the apparently brimming cup. And we confess we always think of our friend the con-ductor, when there is an extra amount of noise in a religious gathering. A BEAUTIFUL REPLY,-In visiting the poor families in a retired part of the town, to find scholars for the Sunday School, a gentleman found a httle girl, Important to all Travelling West! only six years old, trying to read her New Testament. She was a member of the school, and very fond of it; and though quite young, was a good scholar. She wanted a hymn book, and the gentle-man promised to get her one, if she would learn to read the fifth and sixth chapters will bear in mind that no other line is use 2nd the chapter where it is said by our Saviour, "Blessed are the poor in spirit," &c., the gentleman asked her which of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour, "Blessed are the poor in spirit," &c., the gentleman asked her which of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour state of the control of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour state of the control of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour state of the control of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour state of the control of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour state of the control of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour state of the control of the blessings here pronounced, she would like the said by our Saviour state of the control of the said by our Saviour state of the control of the said by our Saviour state of the control of the said by our Saviour state of the control of the said state of the contr and then replied, "I would rather be pure in heart." The gentleman asked why she preferred this. The little one said that if she was only good she should . have all the rest.

Could you have made a better, answer than this? And have you a heart that is pure? THE RETORT COURTEOUS .- Two young Nashvillians were conversing one Sunday evening upon the subject of matrimony. One of them-whom we shall call Mexpressing a desire to get married, the other, H—, mentioned a certain lady, saying "she would make you a good wife." "No, she wouldn't," replied M "She is too old." "Well," said H___, "I should consider the fact of FLANNELS, her being older than yourself, a great advantage, for you see you would be benefited by her superior wisdom and judgement." "No," responded the natrimonially inclined youth, "I don't want to be FRENCH MERINOES, benefited by her superior wisdom. when I get married, and I want to marry a woman who knows less than I do." CHOICE WORDS.—Cherish thy mother brief perchance the time may be that she will claim the love she gave; past are her hopes of youth, her harvest prime of joy on earth: her friends are in the grave but for her children, she could lay her heart gladly to rest among the cherished dead. O mother mine, grant I ne'er for-get, whatever be my grief, or what my joy, the unmeasured, unextinguishable employ ever, through my remaining days, to be to thee as faithful as thou wert to me .- Bethune.

TyroLESE Customs .- In the Tyrolean mountains it is the custom of the women and children to come out when it is bedtime, and sing their national songs until from the hill, or on their return house .-On the shores of the Adriatic such a custom prevails. There the wives of the fishermen come down about sunset and sing a melody. After singing the first stanza they listen awhile for the answering strain from off the water, and listen till the well-known voices come borne on the title, telling that the loved ones are almost home.

YOUTHFUL ELOQUENCE.—It is told Canning that at the Clifford street Club Lordon, on one occasion when he wa loudly denouncing Mirabeau just as foaming pot of porter was brought in and placed before the president, he contin-

"To the steady eye of a sagacious criticism the eloquence of Mirabeau will appear to be as empty and vapid as his patriotism. It is like the beverage that stands, sir, so invitingly before you found and frothy on the top, heavy and muddy within."

We did not make the world, but may mend it, and must live in it. W shall find that it abounds with fools who · are too dull to be employed, and knaves who are too sharp. The compound character is not common, and is that with which we have the most to do. - Colton.

Iron in the Blood

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "athousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon. This is the secret of the won-derful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or ac-companied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reac-tion, but are permanent, infu-sing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Con-Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial. See that each bottle has PERU-VIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. Pamphlets Free. J. P. DINSMORE, Proprietor,
