TO THE ELECTORS.

Gentlemen of Carleton County I am not going to say, as other candidates municipal matters, in fact any power now vested generally have, that a large number of you had in the local Government can scarcely be classed requested me to allow myself to be nominated for the vacant seat in the Provincial Parliament bethe vacant seat in the Provincial Parliament belonging to this County; I have too correct a knowledge of proportion to make that assertion.

You, the electors, number about 4,000 in this County, you have under your electoral and demestic guardianship 20,000 souls, (your own included, a sublime responsibility, either religiously, domestically, or politically) and were I to say a large proportion of you had requested me, &c., thinking men would doubt its truthfulness, and to the non-thinking class it is better to state the truth, whether appreciated or not; enough for me to say a large, very large, proportion of for me to say a large, very large, proportion of those I have conversed with is desirous of me being returned to represent the constituency. I ed to admit that it has kept me busy, and as I am still occupied in so doing, and likely to be, I cannot find more time to devote to politics than Provincial laws are strict in letter, and Municipal cannot find more time to devote to politics than the amount necessary to meet the liability, that liability I am willing to assume, and I hope I have a just idea of the magnitude of the assumption. I will state to you a course of policy, which, as far as in me lies, I shall endeavor to follow. The first, and a very difficult subject for the people's representatives' consideration, still continues to be that of scholastic education. The next in point of magnitude is the public domain. The remainder may be comprised under the compendious terms Municipal and sumptuary powers, still remaining with us since we became conditions.

ers, still remaining with us since we became confederated with our sister provinces of this North does not rest with the retailer or wholesaler—one-American continent. My first subject, scholastic education, has been receiving the attention of the people, undoubtedly, since letters were formed; it is only lately that our Government has made the education of youth, indirectly, compulsory on the people by a direct and compulsory tax. As you, gentlemen electors of this county, have experienced the workings of this tax for two years you must, by this time, have discovered its beneficial effects, as compared with our old or previous laws touching on the same; as I come before you a strict supporter of the spirit and intention of the present acts, yet I reserve the right to criticise and sent acts, yet I reserve the right to criticise and sent acts. condemn certain portions that do not meet, or ation. Therefore in Merlin, French Ivili; are irrelevant to the said spirit and intention; it is an easy matter to say the law is defective, in parts it needs amendments; it is a harder matter to point out the defects and propose the administration of the district school law since it came in force, I think you will not consider me presumptuous when I point out errors and propose a better clause. Admit that errors exist, when is it too early to begin to rectify? Why delay one more year? Why encourage procrastination that aged thief of time? I think, gentlemen, when men say stop, delay, avast, and so forth, that they are only waiting for some one to point that aged thief of time? I think, gentlemen, you will observe that I am devicedly in favor of prohibition, wholly and solely, or leave the matter every that I am devicedly in favor of prohibition, wholly and solely, or leave the matter with the people; if money is to commend the feets and propose the administration of the district school law since it came in force, I think you will not consider me presumptuous when I point out errors and propose the administration of the district school law since it came in force, I think you will not consider me presumptuous when I point out errors exist, when are irrelevant to the said spirit and intention; (I use the word sale, because if gaps.
