Poetry.

ONE BY ONE. One by one the sands are flowing. One by one the moments fall;

Some are coming, some are going, Do not strive to grasp them all. One by one the duties wait thee, Let thy whole strength go to each;

Let no future dreams await thee, Learn thou first what these can teach One by one bright gifts of heaven, Joys are sent thee here below; Take them readily when given-

One by one the griefs shall meet thee; Do not fear an armed band; One will fade while others greet thee, Shadows passing through the land.

Do not look at life's long sorrow,

Ready, too, to let them go.

See how small each moment's pain God will help thee for to-morrow-Every day begins again. Every hour that fleets so slowly,

Has its task to do or bear; Luminous the crown and hely, If thou set each gem with care

Or for passion's hour despond; Nor, the daily toil forgetting, Look too eagerly beyond. Hours are golden links, God's token,

Do not linger with regretting

Reaching heaven, but one by one, Take them, lest the chain be broken, Ere the pilgrimage is done.

ARCHBISOP CONNOLLY IN BOSTON.-The first of a series of six lectures in aid of the home for destitute Catholic children was de-livered in Music Hall last evening by the Most Reverned Archbishop Connolly of Hali-fax, N. S. The attendance was large. Mr. Patrick Donahoe introduced the prelate in a few remarks, in which he appealed for an institution which had more than 200 inmates, maintained at an expense of about $1000 a month. The lecturer announced his subject to be the Roman Catholic Church as it now exists, his promised conclusion being that no progress of knowledge, no device of man, could ever destroy the one grand indestructible truth, which though it had existed for eighteen hundred years, still so far from being a theological fossil was at this moment exercising more control over men's hearts than the aggregate of mankind had been able to exhibit to the world from the very creation. He contended that the Catholic church of to-day was identical with that of the time of Christ, and that the primeval church of Rome had been Catholic from its inception, adducing the usual proofs in support of his How to keep square with the world- argument.
