Buried Alive.—A few days, ago, says the Chicago Times, Mr. Muhlbesch was taken suddenly ill at his residence. His disease was of a very acute nature, and in spite of all the efforts of his physicians, he died after a brief illness, and his sorrowing friends made ready for the funeral. An undertaker was summoned, and the body properly laid out, and on yesterday the funeral services took place from his late residence. After the cusomary services had been performed and the sorrowing relatives had taken their last look of the deceased, the coffin lid was screwed down and the funeral cortege moved slowly toward the quiet confines of Greenland cemetry, where the body was finally lowered sadly into the grave that had been prepared for it. The last prayer had been offered and the last solemn service repeated, when, just as the sexton seized his spade and was about to drop the first shovelful of earth upon the coffin, a sound, something like a stifled groan, followfines of his narrow house, was heard proceed-
