

The Maid of Orleans is to be canonized. The principal object of the recent visit of the Bishop of Orleans to Rome. To fulfil the necessary conditions of canonization, a special tribunal has been appointed in Orleans to receive the evidence relative to "the touching story of the admirable heroine." Among the points to be submitted to this court are the facts concerning her birth and infancy, her conduct towards her parents, piety to the Virgin, fulfillment of her duties as a Catholic, her gift of prophecy, her aspirations, piety, her heroism, her cardinal virtues, and, finally, her capacity and martyrdom.

By far the largest and most powerful steam hammer in the world is now in operation in Woolwich, England. The weight of the falling portion is within a few pounds of forty tons, and the force of the falling weight is accelerated many times by the use of steam to drive it down from the top. It is estimated that the use of top steam is equal to allowing the hammer to fall of its own weight eighty feet. It has been allowed a striking fall of fifteen feet three inches. But no deformation has yet been made as to the actual force of the blow which it is capable of striking. The hammer is forty-five feet in height, and covers, with its supports, a base of 120 feet square. Above the ground it weighs 500 tons, and the foundation is founded on the bed of the river. It is at least four times as powerful as Krupp's celebrated hammer.

A simple accident near Rutland, Vermont, had a remarkable result. A woman, Mrs. McGuire, a farm wife, took a load of butter to the village, sold it for forty dollars, and started alone to drive home. Afterward she was found lying dead on the road, her carriage, with her head terribly bruised and her money gone. The theory of robbery and murder found ready credence. Later the truth explained it. She had taken the wrong road, and had fallen on the wheel of the carriage, which had made the bruise, and the money had been spent in buying bills in the village.

A singular death occurred recently near Eton College, England, where a woman, while watching a bonfire which the boys had made, died from the bursting of a blood vessel in her leg. She was making no exertion at the time.

A Nashville paper says that a life insurance company has paid $30,000 within 15 months on the lives of persons who have been shot. In 1873 there were nearly 8,000 deserters from the British army.

Boston claims to have more students of music than any other city in America. The law requiring drinking places in London to close at midnight is rigidly enforced. At some of the theatres the performances have usually lasted until 1 o'clock.

The habit of quaffing after the play that confusion has been the result, a part of the audience leaving in the middle of the last act rather than miss their drink. The managers are abridging their pieces to meet the requirements of popular taste.

Frederick Douglass has reminded a lecture audience in Grafton, Mass., that thirty-two years ago he spoke there from his wagon, a hall or church being refused him.

Twenty barrels entered "salt meat" and "Australian beef" were at Portsmouth, England, October 23, and in each barrel was found the corpse of a human negro. They reached England from the United States, and were intended for dissection in London; but who sent them, and where did the sender get them?

Winipeg, at the time of the transference of the Northwest to Canada, was a straggling hamlet of about 300 inhabitants. Now it has 5,000 of a population, and its business has increased enormously. The surrounding country is progressing rapidly, and the future is full of promise that a large, wealthy, and contented community will be soon formed in the "prairie province" of Dominion.

"Virtu" is the word now applied in England to persons who change their faith. Conversion being in some cases too respectful and devout in other cases not respectful enough, the barbarism is held to be justifiable.

The Catholic priests of London are exerting themselves to procure the closing of the public houses on Sunday. Meetings in favor of the movement are being held throughout the country.

A little tailor in Constantinople has just been paid very handsomely for a coat. He made the coat for a Turkish customer, and sent in a bill for $4. Like many other people who buy coats at $4, the customer was not satisfied, and the little tailor had to go ruefully away with nothing better than a bond in the Roumelian Railway lottery loan.

That fortune had in store for him a recompense for his temporary disappointment, for when the lottery was drawn the bond in question turned up a prize of $12,000.

At Zion's Calvinistic Church, in Nottingham, England, there has lately been a dispute in reference to the past-hor. The other night the contending parties met in the building, when they soon got to high words, and finally to fighting. As the church was in possession of the books and property of the church. The police had to be called on to quell the disturbance. The Rev. Mr. Sanford, one of the rival ministers, was so injured that he was confined to his home.

A body of constables had to go to the chapel on the following Sunday but no disturbance took place.

Paris is perplexed where to bury its dead. It needs 450 acres to dispose of its dead for the period of seven years. One million five hundred thousand dead bodies have been buried in three centuries near the city.

Within the last seventy years. This is the fact that the earth is one vast sepulchre. The cities of the dead are more populous than those of the living.

One hundred and two colored Baptist converts were to be immersed at Georgetown, Ky., the other day, and the water being insufficient, a dam had to be constructed.

A Baltimore servant girl who lately found a pocket book containing $800 and who had stored it to its owner, was more fortunate than the generosity of such honest persons. She received $100.

London has never known such an unhealthy autumn. Small pox and scarlet fever are raging to such an extent that several new hospitals have been erected. The small pox is of a very virulent type, but the scarlet fever is terrible, fatal, and the physicians are almost powerless either to resist or to cure it.

Golden opinions are universally expressed in behalf of the Shoonoono Remedy and Pills for their great efficacy in curing disease.

The READY REMEDY. The variable temperature of autumn is always pregnant with colds and all pulmonary affections. Dr. Wilson's Ready Remedy, a valuable medicine, will be found to be the most efficient means of immediately banishing coughs or lung complaints in their worst form. Whenever the system is predisposed to weakness of the chest, this Balm will be found sure to eradicate the seeds of future mischief in the lungs, and prevent the chronic cough, etc., all disappear before the successful employment of Dr. Wilson's Balm, which in the most delicate cases only require a moderate amount of time and fair attention.

The beauty of Dr. Wilson's Anti-Bilious and Preserving Pills, is that they work without pain. They gently move the bowels, increase the appetite, and gently on the liver, purify the blood, improve the whole system, keep it in order, and prolong life. They are especially good up to strength and build up the system.

A subscriber tells us that for years he has been suffering from chronic rheumatism, and from his having a supply of Dr. Wilson's Sturgeon Oil Liniment in his house, which he always keeps for his horse and stock, he was led to try it for his complaints; and to his great joy he was entirely cured. He writes: "I have taken one bottle of the liniment, and my pain has been entirely relieved. I will not part with my new found remedy for anything."

Why should any man permit his horse to run down as we frequently see? In many cases it stems from not knowing what to do, in others, the runner is put off from day to day, hoping relief will come of itself. Keep a Carby Compound in your house, and you will be able to do it. The Compound will cure the horse occasionally as you see they are required, and do not let your horse run down. They keep him so that he feels the full benefit of his food.

A FRIEND IN NEED. Dr. Wilson's Balm of Wild Cherry is a friend indeed. Who has not found it useful in curing all diseases of the lungs and throat, coughs, colds, and pulmonary affections; and "last, not least," Consumption? The sick are surprised that the high standard of excellence on which the popularity of this preparation is based, will always be maintained by the proprietors.

Butter and cheese are almost indispensable articles of food. Properly used, they are nutritious and healthy; but an immoderate use of either causes indigestion and dyspepsia. "Parsons' Purifying Pills," judiciously used, will remove both of these troubles.

Have you a pain in the face; and it badly swollen? Have you severe pain in the chest, back, or side? Have you cramps or pains in the stomach or bowels? Have you bilious colic or severe griping pains? If so, use "Johnson's Colic Remedy."
