DYING OF STARVATION.—The New York

There are more clerks in need of assistance than mechanics. It is related of one of the dry goods clerks, who had been receiving $2,500 a year some time ago, that, after he lost his situation, his money dwindled away, and his wife called on the St. John's Guild for relief, while the husband, ashamed to en-Neal Dow is in England, working zealous-ly for the temperance cause.

Bishop Hennessy, of Kansas, has prohibited dancing at Catholic fairs and festivals in the 1,000 families in distress. Scores of instances are mentioned by the Express. In the 18th Ward at least 200 families are living on one meal a day each. The strikers on the gas works have been out of work since April, and are in a terrible condition. Among individual stories are these: A poor Hungarian woman at 376 Third avenue has had no fire for eleven weeks, and her only food was the ends of loaves of bread given by a baker. Before closing my report, I would call the attention of the Council to the large decrease in the amount of fines collected this present year as compared with the preceding years, as will be seen on reference to the Mayor's account. This must be attributed to some cause; and I am therefore happy to attribute the same to the moral improvement of our people.
