frew Lodge, B. T., to the parents of the late ture whatever regrets there may be for the James Smith.

To Mr. T. J. Smith and family :-We, the members of People's Renfrew know not to what extent your hearts have been riven by this sad, untimely death, but he who wounds can heal; "what pleases thee O, God, is best." The exemplary life which our dear departed brother led is a source of great satisfaction to us, and must be to you. Beloved and respected by all who knew him, the life and light of our little will are the extreme points of the conflagaration. The delay in getting the steamer to play upon the fire, so near as we could learn from enquiry, arose from defective hose, and the disastrous effects apparent from such delay on the occasion referred to should actuate the authorities to remed the will never be cleary unravelled, the will never be cleary unravelled, the will never be cleary unravelled, the will never be clearly unravelled, the will never be clearly unravelled, the will never be clearly unravelled.
