Dear woman is the dream of life,

A world without a sun-a plan

She calls each fragile form;

That ever incomplete must be.

Adorned with every winning art;

Without her what were lordly man?

A rainless cloud-a fruitless tree-

Her fost'ring care, devotion, love,

Seem inspirations from above.

In childhood's hour, beside her chair

She clasps our tiny hands in prayer, Safe-sheltered from the storm.

And when he's won a woman's heart,

'Tis yours to speak those grand decrees That Herald in the Promised Morn,

Who guard and glorify our isles;
The seas in song shall roll along
Beneath the splendor of your smiles.
