Whilst this matter is prominently before the public, would it not be well for some one well informed in the matter to give a little information, which I think is much needed, as to the disposal of seizures made by Cusployed for the collection and disposal of customs dues. Smuggling is too often justified on the ground that tradesmen had better pocket proceeds than allow officials to do so. Cust ms dues are for our country's good. Their right collection a matter of concern to all. If the individual is benefitted, the community are the losers.
