LIVER AND BLOOD DISEASES. BY R. V. PIERCE, M. D., AUTHOR OF "THE PEOPLE'S COMMON SENSE MEDICAL ADVISER." strength, and makes our rest sweet and re-A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile, which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes failing cure for this complaint is found in tains a great amount of waste material taker from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested, it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance, which therefore, remains to poison the blood, and be conveyed to every part of the system—What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs,—the kidneys, lungs, skin, etc., but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor in addition to their natural functions, and cannot long withstand the pressure, but become various ly diseased.

The hrain, which is the great electrical center of all vitality, is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood which passes to it from the heart, and it fails to perform its office healthily. Hence the system of bile poisoning, which are dullness, headache, incapacity to to keep the mind on any subject, impairment of memory, dizzy, sleepy or nervous feelings, gloomy forebodings, and irritability of temper. The blood at little produces discoloured brown spots, pimples, blotches, and other cruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles, and corner corans, cannot escape becoming affected, soon leaves the more of the store of the system.
