Miscellaneous.

Twenty Years Ago. I'm sitting, darling, by thy side, As in the days gone by.

When hearts were light, and hopes were bright As summer's cloudless sky; To lines of sorrow marked thy brow-From all life's cares apart, The future casts no shadows now To cloud thy sunny heart.

No spectres from her mystic depths Came forth to mar our bliss, Life's opening heavens shone far and bright And love brought happiness. We stroll'd together side by side, Our hearts with joy aglow, And you became a loving bride,

Just twenty years ago. Do you remember, darling, How the hours would swiftly fly, As we listened, in the moonlight, To the music, you and I? In the glorious summer moonlight, That so many learned before.

Like some struggling golden sunbeams, Filtering through a clouded sky, Come those memories sweet to lure me Back to days that are gone by. We have sailed our bark together Down life's ever-changing tide, And when storms would round us gather, You grew closer to my side.

When the breaker's spray dashed o'er us, "Keep up courage," you would say, Bright and clear will be the morrow, Dark and drear as is to-day. When we anchor in the harbor And the tide is ebbing low, In our hearts be peace and sunshine, As was twenty years ago.

HAD NO FUN IN HIM .- One of the members of the Methodist Conference recently held here, was out for a walk at an early hour one morning, and while on Howard street he encountered a strappay for printing.

"The Book for young and middle aged men to read just now, is the reience of Life, or Self wagon to the blacksmith shop.

Preservation. The author has returned from the control of the blacksmith shop.

"Catch hold here and help me down." "Catch hold here and help me down

"I never drink," solemnly replied the 'Well you can take a cigar.' "I never smoke." The man dropped the wagon tongue looked hard at the member, and asked

"Don't you chew?" "No, sir," was the decided reply. "You must be mighty lonesome, mused the teamster. "I guess I'm all right-I feel firs

"I'll bet you even that I can lay you on your back," remarked the teamster. "Come now let's warm up a little." "I never bet" "Well let's take each other down for fun then. You are as big as I am, and I'll give you the under hold." "Well, I'm going to tackle you anyway. Here we go!"

Please call and learn prices, or send for quotations before purchasing.
Yours, respectfully, way. Here we go!'

The teamster slid up and endeavored to get a deck hold, but he had only just commenced to fool about when he was lifted clear off the grass and slammed against a tree-box with such force that quiring skill, secrecy and experience. Office hours he gasped half a dozen times before he could get his breath. "Now you keep away from me!" ex-claimed the member, picking up his cane." "Bust me if I don't!" replied the teamster as he edged off. "What's the use in lying and saying that you didn't have any fun in you when you're chuck full of it! Blame it! you wanted to break my back didn't you!"—Detroit Free Press. THAT UMBRELLA.—A dozen or more men stood at the eastern entrance of the PILE & HUMOR City Hall yesterday, when it began to rain, and along came an individual with an umbrella over his head. As he reached the top step one of the men advanced "Ah! I've been waiting for you. knew you had it, and it's all right."

The man surrendered the umbrella n a hesitating manner, and his sheepish look showed very plainly that he was not the lawful owner of it. As he passed into the hall another of the crowd stepped out and said : "That's my umbrella, and I can prove it. It has a 'J' cut in the handle."

So it had, and after some parleying it was handed over. The new owner was smiling very blandly as the crowd applauded, when a man turned in off the avenue 10 Cases Hats and Caps, to escape a wetting. As soon as he saw the umbrella he called out:

"Well, well, but where did you get you." At 9.10, the bell rang, and going
