THERMOMETERS.

Most reliable in market. Manufactured by JOHN KENDALL & Co., New Lebanon, N. Y. Send for Price List. Dairy Thermometers a specialty. Be sure to ask for them. Established 1820.

Ten years ago Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co. established their advertising agency in New York City. Five years ago they absorbed the business conducted by Mr. John Hooper, who was the first to go into this kind of enterprise. Now they have the satisfaction of controlling the most extensive and complete advertising connection which has ever been secured, and one which would be hardly possible in any other country but this. They have succeeded in working down a complex business into so thoroughly a systematic method that no change in the newspaper system of America can escape notice, while the widest information upon all topics interesting to advertisers is placed readily at the disposal of the public.

Miscellaneous.

Whited Sepulchers.

Once a little ivy vine
Did its baby-arm entwine
'Bout a stone all spotless white,
Glist'ning in the soft Spring light.
"Tis a palace," so it said,
"Rising far above my head—
"Some King's palace well I know,
"For its walls are white as snow.
"Upward will I haste to glide,
"To some casement opening wide;
"There I'll pass my every night,
"In its rich and golden light.
"Count its treasures, taste its wine,
"Make its feasts and pleasures mine."
So it ran its glad career,
Day by day and year by year,
Till the longed-for goal was near,
But within it found but gloom;
The "King's palace" was a tomb;
And its rank and fetid breath
Sickened the poor vine to death.

Thus I've see a woman cling,
In her girlhood's fervent spring,
With the trust of her whole life,
With the pledges of a wife,
To some man her eyes have seen—
To some man of goodly mein,
Silken words and lordly bow,
Honored name and spotless brow.
I have seen her look of pride
As she thought "I am his bride!"
I have seen her face wax pale,
And her ruddy cheek grow frail,
And all joy and hope depart—
As she died of broken heart!

Fair to you, as fair to her,
Looms the whited sepulchre;
Built without of snow-white stones,
Full within of dead men's bones.

A SOFT ANSWER.—The husband was of quick temper and inconsiderate. They had not been married a year, when one day, in a fit of wrath, he said to his wife:

"I want no correction from you. If you are not satisfied with my conduct, you can return to your home whence I took you, and find happiness with your kind."

"If I leave you," returned the unhappy wife, "will you give me back that which I brought you?"

"Every dollar, I covet not your wealth you shall have it all back."

"Ah," she answered, 'I mean not the wealth of gold; I thought not of dress. I mean my maiden heart—my first and only love—my buoyant hopes, and the hopes, and the promised blessings of my womanhood. Can you give these to me?

A moment of thought—of convulsion—and then taking her to his arms:

"No, no, my wife, I cannot do that, but I will do more; I will keep them henceforth unsullied and unpained. I cherish your blessing as my own; and never again, God helping me, will I forget the pledge I gave at the holy altar, when you gave your peace and happiness to my keeping."

How true it is that a soft answer turneth away wrath; and how many, oh how many of the bitter strifes of life might be avoided by remembering and acting in accordance therewith.

ORIGIN OF PHRASES.—The term subrosa is said to have originated as follows: Cupid gave a rose to Hippocrates, and from this legend arose the practice of suspending a rose over the table when eating, when it was intended that the conversation should be kept secret. The explanation "by hook or by crook" is that in olden times persons entitled to get firewood in the king's forest, were limited to such dead branches as they could tear down with a "hook or crook without hurt to his Majesty's trees." "In spite of his teeth" originated thus: King John of England once demanded of a Jew the sum of ten thousand marks, and on being refused ordered that the Israelite should have one after another of his teeth drawn until he gave his consent. The Jew submitted to the loss of seven, and then paid the required sum.

Many people think that an idle life must be a pleasant one; but there are none who enjoy so little, and are such burdens to themselves, as those who have nothing to do. Those who are obliged to work hard all day enjoy their short periods of rest and recreation, and are apt to think it would be much pleasanter not to be obliged to work at all. But this is a sad mistake, as they would soon find out if they made a trial of the life they think so agreeable. One who is never busy can never enjoy rest; for rest implies a relief from previous labor; and if our whole time were spent in amusing ourselves, we should find it more wearisome than the hardest day's work. Recreation is only valuable as it unbends us; the idle can know nothing of it.—Many people leave off business and settle down to a life of enjoyment; but they generally find that they are not near so happy as they were before, and are often glad to return to their old occupations to escape the miseries of indolence.

There is nothing derogatory in any employment which ministers to the well being of the race. The plowman that turns the clod may be a Cincinnatus or a Washington, or he may be a brother to the clod he turns. It is very creditable to handle the yard stick and to measure tape; the only discredit consists in having a soul whose range of thought is as short as the stick and narrow as the tape. There is no glory in the act of affixing the signature by which treasures of commerce are transferred or treaties between nations are ratified. The glory consists in the recititude of the purpose that approves the one, and the grandeur of the philanthropy that sacrifices the other. The time is soon coming, when, by the common consent of mankind, it will be esteemed more honorable to have been John Pounds, putting new and beautiful souls into the ragged children of the neighborhood while he mended their father's shoes, than to have been set on a throne.

You may sigh as much as you please over your hard fortune, and wish you were rich a million times over, but not all the wishes of your life time, unaided by action, will bring one to a happier condition. There must be work, patience, perseverence and fatigue. Discouragements and stumbling blocks are to be surveyed with undaunted spirit.—One's enthusiasm and belief in ultimate success must be of a temperature and quality to endure many a cold bath from uninterested parties, whose indifference is scarcely less tolerable than their officious, thoughtless advise, against the absurdity of hoping to accomplish anything unusual.

Why is a horse half way through a gate like a cent? Because it is head on one side and tail on the other.

"George, dear, don't you think it is rather extravagant of you to eat butter with that delicious jam? "No, love—economical! Same piece of bread does for both.

Never turn a blessing around to see whether it has a dark side to it.

A woman is very like a kettle, if you come to think of it. She sings away so pleasantly—then she stops—and when you least expects it she boils over.

"Philadelphia wants a church," says an exchange, "in which a man wearing old clothes will feel at home."

Kind words will keep old friends, and make new ones.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
