Death has been here and borne away This loved one from our side, Just in the morning of her day, So fair and young she died.

We never more shall see her face, Nor hear her voice again; There's none to us can till her place, Nor be what she hath been.

Amidst her young friends all around We miss her coming teet, And in the old accustomed place There is a vacant seat.

Her memory shall be dear to us As long as life shall last, When we think on the happy hours In days that's gone and past.

She was a true and constant friend. A gentle, kind and tender heart: How sad the thought that love must end, That triends so dear must part.

But death that parts the dearest friends. Can reunite us at the last This soothes our griet, and hope commands. In heaven we'll meet when time is past.

We trust she is an Angel now In that bright land of rest. Singing her Saviour's end'ess praise, And numbered with the blest.
