THE PRESS OF THE DOMINION .- England is about to celebrate the 400th anniversary of the publication of the first bo kin tast country by Caxon; and in noticing that fact the Montreal Gazette gives a sketch of the history of the newspaper press of the Dominion. It is recorded that Isaac Curry established a printing office in Halifax in the year 1756, but whether he set up the first printing press in the Dominion is not known. The Quebec Gazette was founded in the year 1764, and was destined to survive by some years its hundredth birthday. In 1769 Halitax followed the good example set by Quebec, an enterprising gentleman of that city having THE Spices of every description. And all other things founded the Nova Scotia Chronicle and Week-ly Gazettee, which, however, proved to be more short-lived than its elder sister. The first New Brunswick paper, the Royal Gaz-ette and New Brunswick Advertiser, made its appearance in 1785. In the list given above the Halifax Journal, published by Mr. Monro, and the Times and Pictou Observer are omitted. These journals were of some note in their day-the first named as a commercial organ, and the others as exercising considerable influence in moulding the political institutions of the country. On both the last named journals our friend Mr. W. Gossip was engaged. In company with Mr. U. Coade, he started the Times, and successfully edited it during the great political conflict which ushered in Responsible Govern-ment. On the "ashes" of the Times the Colonist came into being, as the organ of the Conservative party. The first morning paper was started in 1845, by Mr. J. H. Cross-tri-weekly .- Halifax Evening Reporter. THE ROYAL FAMILY OF GREAT BRITAIN .-The official denial of the rumor that the ex-Queen of Hanover and her children had joined the Church of Rome was hardly needed perhaps. But had the rumor been true, the Crown Prince Ernest and the Princesses his sisters would of course have forfeited their rights of eventual succession to the Crown of England under the Act of Settle. ment; but as His Royal Highness is but thirty-fifth in the line of succession, this consideration would hardly have been a practical one. As the Royal Family of Great Britain stands at the present moment, the first eleven princes and princesses in the succession to the throne are British subjects. In the happily more than remote contingency the failure of these heirs-namely, of the Prince of Wales and his children, of the Duke of Edinburgh and his children, of the Duke of Connaught, and of Prince Leopold. the next heir would be the Princess Imperial of Germany; Prince William of Prussia, her Highness' eldest son, recently invested with the Order of the Garter, being thus thirteen-th in the succession. After the Prince would come his six brothers and sisters. Failing these the Princess Louis of Hesse inherits the claim, being twentieth in the line of succession. Her Royal Highness is the mother of six children. Consequently her next sister, the Princess Christian of Sleswick-Holstein, is twenty-seventh in the order of succession. Next come the Princess Christian's four children; next the Princess Louise, Marchioness of Lorne; and last, of her present Majesty's issue, the Princess Beatrice (thirty-third). Following these come King George of Hanover (thirth-fourth), the Crown Prince Ernest, and the Princesses Frederica and Mary. The Duke of Cambridge is thirty-eighth in the order of suc-

GERMANY AND FRANCE.-A London correspondent writes:-"One of the most serious matters in the foreign imbroglio is the attitude of Germany towards France. There appears to be no doubt that if Russia were to declare war against Turkey, Germany would find some opportunity for picking a quarrel with France, so as to have an excuse for a fresh invasion. Not many months Czar positively forbade it, and it is because HAS JUST RECEIVED his FALL STOCK ago Bismarck would have done this, but the Alexander and his son know that as soon as NEW GOODS! they should be occupied in the south and unable to check Germany on the west the latter Power would force war upon France Spices, Raisins, Currants, that they are now so earnestly desirous of peace, which the Czarewitch until now cartainly was not. But what a monstrous iniquity it is that in this, the last quarter of the nineteenth century, a great civilized Power like Germany, having come out victor from a great conflict, should now be endeavoring to drive the vanquished, whom she has despoiled of Provinces and milliards, THE undersigned takes pleasure in announcing that the second will before long be in a better position to fight than she is now."

PUBLIC INDEBTEDNESS .- New Zealand, with a population of 279,000 in 1872, has an indabtedness in London of $69,378,000 or $249 per head. Queensland has a population of 150,000 and a London indebtedness of $28,833.000 or $10 per head. Victoria. Ex Stmrs. "Dorian" and "Scotia," with 696,000, is indebted $55,756,000 or $80 per head, while the Dominion has a total aggregate funded debt at home and abroad of $135,220,000, or $38 per head on her population according to the census of 1870. Adding to this indebtedness municipal and un- BLACK PAINT; funded debts, the people of Canada, on that basis of population, owe $55 per head .-Among the Provinces, Quebec has been the only borrower as such; her loans of 1874 All the above Goods will be sold at the lowest and 1876 aggregate $8,030,000, bearing interest at five per cent. The municipal indebtedness of Ontario exceeds $19,500,000, of which Toronto owes $5,311,810. The municipal debt of Quebec aggregates about $19,000,000, the debt of Montreal alone amounting to $10,488,000 .- Montreal Her-
