$112,000 increased pay to members of Par-liament. Well, we did ask Parliament to increase the pay. We did more; we asked an increase in the pay of the Civil Service, for the members of that body came to us and said that $800 in 1867 was equal to $1000 in 1873, and was it not so? I appeal to you, and you will sustain me when I say it was. So, we asked an increase of pay to M. P's and members of Government. Has there been any motion by the present Government to reduce either? On the contrary, there has been an increase, and we are told been an increase, and we are told we are responsible for the increased experiture and they have not reformed the expenditure as they felt it would be unjust. Now, I am prepared to say that from '73 and '74 to the present time the expenditure ought to be run so as not to exceed $22,500,000. The expenditure should have been so controlled that there would not have been that there would not have been any necessity for imposing taxes as they have done, and there should be no deficiencies when they found the revenue was decreased. Two and one-half millions might have been saved
