Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous, and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Valuable Information.

BOSTON, MASS.

MR. H. R. STEVENS:—

Dear Sir,—My only object in giving you this testimonial is to spread valuable information. Having been badly afflicted with Salt Rheum, and the whole surface of my skin being covered with pimples and eruptions, many of which caused me great pain and annoyance, and knowing it to be a blood disease, I took many of the advertised blood preparations, among which was any quantity of Sarsaparilla, without obtaining any benefit until I commenced taking the VEGETINE, and before I had completed the first bottle I saw that I had got the right medicine. Consequently I followed with it until I had taken seven bottles, when I was pronounced a well man, and my skin is smooth and entirely free from pimples and eruptions. I have never enjoyed so good health before, and I attribute it all to the use of VEGETINE. To benefit those afflicted with Rheumatism, I will make mention also of the VEGETINE'S wonderful power of curing me of this acute complaint, of which I have suffered so intensely.

Miscellaneous.

A SCOTCH EFFORT WITH THE LONG BOW.—Concerning the long-bow, no American effort can surpass the one that comes to us from Scotland:

It was told that Colonel Andrew M'Dowall, when he returned from the war, was one day walking along by the Myroch, when he came on an old man sitting greetin' on a muckle stane on the road side. When he came up the old man rose and took off his bonnet, and said:

"Ye're welcome hame again, me laird,"

"Thank you," said the Colonel, adding after a pause, "I should surely know your face. Aren't you Nathan M'Culloch?"

"Ye're richt, ' deed," says Nathan; "It's just me, laird."

"You must be a age, now, Nathan," says the Colonel.

"I'm no verra auld yet, laird," was the reply, "I've just turnt a hunner."

"A hundred!" says the Colonel, musing; "Well, you must be all of that. But the idea of a man of a hundred sitting blubbering that way! Whatever could you get to cry at?" "It was my father lashed me, sir," said Nathan, blubbering again; "an' put me oot, so he did."

"Your father!" said the Colonel, "is your father living yet?"

"Leevin! ay," replied Nathan; "I ken that the day tae my sorrow."

"Where is he?" says the Colonel.—"What an age he must be! I would like to see him."

"Oh, he's up in the barn there," says Nathan; "and no in a horrid gude humor the noo, aither."

They went up to the barn together, and found the father busy threshing the barley with the big flail and going on fearful. Seeing Nathan and the laird coming in, he stopped and saluted the Colonel, who, after enquiring how he was, asked him what he had struck Nathan for.

"The young rascal!" says the old gentleman, "there's noe doein' with him; he's never oot o' a mischief. I had tae lick him this morning for throwin' stanes at his grandfather!"—Harper's Magazine.

THE REASON WHY.—A Fulton youth who stopped before a vender of stove blacking on the street yesterday, became so interested in the man's encomiums and display of the article that he finally involuntarily mused aloud:

"I'd buy a box of that if I could use it."

"Use it," ejaculated the vender, "Why, any one can use it; all you have got to do is to put it on so, and give it a little rub so, and it's done."

"Yes, but I couldn't use it," sighed the young man, and he was moving away, but the man continued:

"A baby old enough to move its hand back and forth can polish a stove with ease; why can't you?"

"I haven't got any stove," was the meek reply, and the vender looked for another customer.—Fulton Times.

A recent advertisement contains the following:—"If the gentleman who keeps the shoe shop with the red head will return the umbrella of a young lady with whalebone ribs and ivery handle to the slate roofted grocer's shop he will hear something to his advantage as the same is the gift of a deceased mother now no more with the name engraved upon it."

A subscriber wrote to a journal to make some enquiries about the next world's fair, whereupon the wicked editor replied that he was under the impression that the next world would'nt have any fair.

The finest tribute to a departed wife was that engraved on a tombstone by a broken-hearted husband, who can never hope to repair his loss:—"We were married twenty-four years, and in all that time she never once banged the door."

"That's the sort of umbrella that people appropriate," said a gentleman to a companion one morning, showing him a very handsome one. "Yes," rejoined his companion; "I thought so when I saw you holding it."

A room will hold nearly twice as many people when the light is dim as when it is bright; at least we have noticed that when the gas is low in the parlor, a young man and a young woman can both sit in the same space which either one of them took up when the full head was on.

CATARRH

CONSTITUTIONAL CATARRH REMEDY

CURES CATARRH.

Thousands Applaud its Wonderful CURES.

Hear what a Reverend Gentleman says of the Constitutional Remedy.

T. J. B. HARDING, ESQ.,
BROCKVILLE, ONT.

DEAR SIR,—It is now two years since your "Constitutional Catarrh Remedy" was introduced to me. I have waited this long to see if the cure would remain permanent before doing this, my duty, to you, as at first the happy effects seemed to me to be "too good to be true."

I was afflicted in my head for years before I suspected it to be Catarrh. In reading in your Circular I saw my case described in many particulars. The inward "drop" from the head had become very disagreeable, and a choking sensation often preventing me from lying long, I would feel like smothering and be compelled to sit up in the bed. My health and spirits were seriously affected. When your Agent came to Walkertown in August, 1876, I secured three bottles. Before I had used a quarter of the contents of one bottle I found decided relief, and when I had used two bottles and a third, I quit taking it, feeling quite cured of that ailment, and have not used any since until of late I have taken some for a cold in my head.

A sense of duty to sufferers from that loathsome disease, Catarrh, prompts me to send you this Certificate, unsolicited, with leave to make what use of it you may see proper.

Yours truly,
W. TINDALL, Methodist Minister.
