I was used up, perfectly dead inwardly and frequently when I would get up, would be dizzy, and have to put my hand on something to keep from falling; but since I commenced taking Vegetine it has all disappeared, and I feel like a new man. My honest conviction is that it will cure my leg entirely from the present looks and feelings. Faint Heart.

She stood before him, tall and fair And gracious, on that summer's day, With June's first roses in her hair, And on her cheek the bloom of May, But rosy cheek and dimpled chin, And raven lashes drooping low, Conceal the answer he would win; It might be Yes; would it be No?

Ah, if 'twere No-his throbbing heart Stood fairly still with sudden pain, And if 'twere Yes, the world so wide His deep content could scarce contain. Ah, sweet suspense that still leaves hope! Ah! pain of sad uncertainty!

And moved to press it with his lips, With chillest touch of finger tips, And took the seat she offered him Upon the sofa by her side, Nor made the space between them less, Which seemed so narrow, yet so wide.

He held her hand so white and small.

Then gazing on the perfect face, The dimpled mouth, the serious ever And drinking in with eager ears The music of her low replies, He let the bright hours drift away. Nor told the secret of his heart, But when the shadows lengthened lay, Rose, all reluctant to depart.

An eager, timorous request That she, for old acquaintance sake, Would grant the rosebud from her breast She gave it him, with downcast eyes, And watched him leave her with a sigh. 'So good," she said, "so true, so wise; Ah me, if we were not so shy!"

GRADES AS MILKERS .- A recent writer suggests two very important questions, the facts in relation to which, and the principles controlling the case, should be well understood by all dairymen and breeders of dairy stock. His query is, "Do heiters from native or scrub mothers, by bulls of thoroughbred milking stock make better milking stock, make better milkers than their dams; and if so, why? Why take the qualities of the stock from the sire rather nan the dam?"

It is an indisputable fact that many native cows are superior milkers and butter-makers.

and this quality is transmitted to their daughters, in some cases, until a family exists of local celebrity. This characteristic, however, has generally been lost in three or four generations for want of care in keeping up the regular line, or by the yearly infusion of blood of base or unknown quality. It s quite possible that remarkable milking qualities in an individual native cow might be perpetuated to remote descendants, ard even increased, by careful selection of sire and in-and-in breeding.
