Percheron-Norman Horses .- We have a lways combatted the idea of the ordinary farmer attempting to raise fast trotters, or running horses; that must be left to the gentleman of leisure, who has plenty of money, and breeds horses simply to gratify his tastes, or as a recreation. But the man who depends on the proceeds of his farm for a living, cannot afford to indulge in any such expensive luxury as breeding for speed has proved to be. But there is a type of horse that farmers can breed with certain profit, and that is the heavy, blocky, compact, active, quick-stepping horse, weighing from 1,300 to 1,600 pounds. No man ever raised a horse of that description at a loss, and no farmer ever raised such a horse that would not readily sell at a handsome profit. It is the little, spindle-shanked, lank, long legged weed that remains on the farmer's hands—a
