THE NEW SOCIETY REPORTER .- ' Well how did you get along at the party, last night?' asked the city editor of a new reporter whom he had engaged the day before and whom he had sent to write up a social occasion.

'Not very well,' responded the new reporter gloomily, ' I don't think Brooklyn society is the top notch anyhow.' 'What's the matter?' demanded the city editor. 'Didn't they use you well? 'I can't say they did,' rejoined the new reporter. 'Now, I went up there last night, and waded right into the fun. I asked for the chairman of the party, and told him we were laying out to swell their heads in to-day's issue, and he'd better skip in and introduce me to some 'What did he say to that?' asked the

'He wanted to know who sent me. told him the main guy of the literary bank had fired me in there, and that when I'd got through shaking a leg, I'd like some facts about the lay-out. If he couldn't give 'em, I told him he'd better get the secretary to heel up pretty lively, or I'd give the whole outfit a deal in the paper that would make him think every hair on his head a band of music and all playing different tunes.' 'And what did he say to that?' inquired the city editor, the gleam deepening ominously. 'Oh, he said he was a friend to th Eagle and would go what he could for me. I told him he had better hop right at it, and first I wanted to meet the gals. If he calculated to hold the friendship of the Eagle, I said, he didn't want to make much funny business before he had me bumping around in the mazy. He said if I'd go up stairs and take off my hat and overcoat, he'd see me later.'

'Did you do it? asked the city editor,

No. I said I wanted some grub first. So he took me down in the front kitchen and asked me if I'd like boned turkey. I told him I'd take a leg and some you can lick me. I couldn't eat that, so I asked him for a glass of beer and a cheese sandwich. He said he had some wine, so I drank a bottle and put a

The subscriber of seasoned Pine Boards, there was a lot of old pelicans there, but I knew you didn't care for them, and as knew you didn't care for them, and as for the men, I told 'em it would cost 'em a dollar apiece, and as they would not put up I shoved 'em. I can state that they were a cheap lot who didn't know any more about society than a pig does of politics, and that'll teach 'em a lesson. And I say we'd better give the chairman a rub. He didn't introduce me to a solities per hour; together with Edger and Trimmer, also Shingle Machine and Lathe Machine. One advantage this mill has, is that it has all the upper St. John and its tributaries to furnish a never ending supply of logs; also the privilege of the noble S. John to float manufactured lumber to market. This mill is capable of manufacturing twenty thousand dollars worth of lumber per year, which amount of business, no doubt, would yield a good profit to the operator.

He didn't introduce me to a solitary hen. Better say that he has not paid his gas bill for seven months, and that day before yesterday his accounts were found short. What do you think?'

'Got any more about the party?' demanded the city editor, rising slowly.

Sewing Machines? The public will draw its own inference. Gold is continually counterfeited; Brass and Tin never.

3. After the Chicago fire, the Relief Committee undertook to furnish Sewing Machines to the needy women of that city. Applicants were permitted to choose from six different kinds of machines. 2944 applicants were furnished with machines. 2427 chose Singer Machines and 517 distributed their choice among the five other kinds of machines! These girls were to earn their living on these machines. Why did they choose Singers? Our experience was the same after the late great fire in the City of Saint John.

4. Over two millions of Singer Machines have been sold during the past nine years.

5. The year 1878 was a year of unexampled depression in business, yet we sold more machines than in either of the 25 years we have been in business. mitted to choose nom six different kinds

6. Three-quarters of all the Sewing Machines sold in 1878 throughout the world were Singers. Remember these are not our claims, they are facts shewing what other people think of the Singer.
For Durability and simplicity the Singer excels all other Machines. We have Branch Offices in every part of the known world. Our principal office is at 34 Union quare, New York.
