the subject of Canadian Independence and annexation. The Canadian Monthly devotes considerable space to a discussion of these subjects On Independence, Mr. Norris contributes a paper in which he says :-

In the last decade, the United States i creased thirty-nine per cent. In view of this fact what is the use of talking of progress, but to blind the people? If Canada were independent we should obtain thousands of Americans to settle in the North West. They never will give up citizenship to become United States, while any one but a Canadian can be chief magistrate of Canada. Will is hard to think that it will.

Then Mr. Alpheus Todd, the clever librarian of Parliament and its constitutional guide, furnishes a paper in which he argue that Canadian attachment to the British Crown and British connection is a principle rather than a sentiment.

The Boston Journal says, touching the an nexation sentiment :-Lord Lorne in his recent speech at Win nipeg assumes from the silence of local legislatures, municipal corporations and the press on the part of the people of the Dominion to believe that it is very different. A gentleman who recently came to this oity from St. John by steamer found quite a large number defaulter in the amount of $2,400,000. of New Brunswick business men as his fellow travellers.
