

It was needless to add that the efforts of the pastor of the church and the ladies to satisfy and gratify their guests were incessant and successful, and the success is best indicated by the financial result which amounted to about $250.

In the Institute

THE LADIES' SOCIETY MEETING

held their Dinner, Tea, meeting, and Bazaar, but it was difficult to tell just where and when the point at which dinner ended and tea begun was reached, for the eating had appeared to be crowded all the time, and the only annoyance the good ladies of the church, who managed the affair, experienced arose from the fact that, owing to the constant de partments, they were unable to keep things just as they desired.

However, the main desire of customers was satisfied, they got their meal. The patience of ladies on such an occasion is something wonderful. Here, also, in the upper hall were refreshments and fancy goods on sale which found ready customers, and in the evening there was a very good display of fire works under the direction of R. Montnum, which was a grand centre of attraction, a programme had been prepared by the lessee Mr. Mc Caffery, full of promise to the lovers of the track. Here assembled the largest crowd of persons ever seen there. Gentlemen from Calais and Boulogne were among the number, and a number of which the could not but a poor show on the same occasion in either of the place named. Probably there were over 1,500 present inside the enclosure. The programme was most attractive but, owing to circumstances, referred to further along, which the lessee could not control, disappointment was experienced in the way it was carried out.

For the first time, the year-old colts best 2 and 3, male heats—Gr. m. Orphan, Grid, entered and driven by Wm. Mulligan; b. m. Nellie Brown, entered and driven by Wm. Nevers; and g. m. Lucy, entered by Daniel Lee, driven by Charles Reekards, contested. Nellie Brown took the first and Lucy the two following. Time 3.07—3.06—3.08. In the 2nd heat Nellie Brown came in ahead but was set back for some irregularity. A pro-

Second race—3 minute class, best 3 in 5, mile heats. There came to the apex H. A. Connell's l. m. P., Ironclad, driven by D. Atterton, and L. P. Ferris c. s. Sandy Morris, driven by M. Nevers. St. Croix mair, Jane, and Lady Wright had been entered but did not appear. The race was won by Sandy Morris in three straight heats, the struggle between the two best horses being interesting and close. Time 3:30, 3:40 and 3:50.

The third race open to all horses—best 3 in 5, mile heats was the race in which the largest interest was centered. The official entries were:

James R. Smith, Richmond, N. B., name g. m.
Edmund D. J.
B. Belys, Woodstock, N. B., name c. m.
Wayard Bright
Bernard W. Noble, Woodstock, N. B., name c. m.
Bright
James W. Noble, Woodstock, N. B., name b. g.

These horses are all well known, had established good previous records, and a sharp and lively trial of speed was looked for. After coming to the score several times, but not in a position to justify a send off, the judges called for a second trial. The distance was to be the hunter's two minute trial.

Houlton, was delegated to attend to this duty. The several drivers, particularly Mr. Hill, the driver of Judge, was informed of this decision by the judges and told distinctly that the word "go" was only to be taken from the start. Judge was judged to be in the wrong line by Mr. Hunt, came down to the verge of rutting speed, but not in the right position, and the word "go" was not given but they were called back by the bell. Judge was driven round the course and his driver claimed the heat insisting that the start had been given at the distance. With this decision the drivers were left to their own decision and the absolute rules of the National Association as well as those of the Woodward association in view, the judges were not to concede the heat to either side. Consequently Walter was withdrawn and then "Richmond Girl," so that to the great disgust of the crowd only two Woodwards were in the field. Byard Bright, an ex-anglo-lyon. Had the face prescribed by rule been indicated the poor verbiage would have been "served them right."

However the two remaining horses, both of John Bright, made a very pretty and close race, trotting beautifully, with some splendid bursts of speed, and without a single fault, Bright winning in three straight heats. Time 2:40, 2:40, & 2:41. Sheriff Doyle was the starter.

Bright, said D. A. Thorne, Doubled his money.

It was very difficult to keep the crowd off the track, and many cases of intoxication were witnessed.

On Tuesday afternoon Sir Hector L. Lyn- den accompanied by his son and private secretary, arrived here via N. E. Railway from Quebec, and took rooms at the "Exchange." Sir Hector is on a tour of inspection of the Public Works, in the Maritime provinces, as Minister of that department.—He was met at the Junction by B. Lynch and J. T. Allan, Esqrs.

After a brief rest the Minister was driven around the town and through the suburbs, and Sir Hector was met here by Mr. Scott, architect connected with the department of public buildings at Ottawa, who arrived on Monday evening, the object being an examination and consultation respecting the proposed public building for post offices, customs and excise. Mr. Scott was busy on Tuesday morning examining the brick and stone used in the buildings in this vicinity, and he afterwards expressed himself as quite well satisfied with the facilities offered.

It is reasonable to suppose that the work construction of the public building will proceed with at once.

In the evening the 97th Band serenaded Sir Hector Langcain at his hotel, and soon after they began to play the appearance of the Quartet, accompanied by Dr. Connell, during a pause in the music Dr. Connell, in a few well chosen sentences, introduced the Hon. the Minister of Public Works to those assembled, quite a large gathering.

His Honor then delivered a short address, and he took great interest in whatever was said in whatever was the subject of the whole scene, without dis-ty as a member of the Government. Hence present exists. He referred to a former at eleven years ago, expressing pleasure at advancement which the town had made that period and at the present indications of prosperity. His present pleasure tinged with regret. Some whom he had here in 1870 were now no more; of these particularly he referred to the late Hon. Connell and the late Geo. H. Connell.—said it was equally natural and right to should be approached and consulted as regards local affairs to a larger extent than at present; the rule, saying "it is a pity it should not be so," He spoke of the future of Canada as being promising, the people were only to be promoted by the Government, and he spoke of the man with true patriotism for his greatness, while we enjoyed the protection of England.

He dwelt upon the importance of the different Provinces regarding themselves as parts only of a great whole, to the interests of which they should be loyal, while the Government in its expenditures and legislation desired to be guided by the same principle.

He expressed class, race or sectarian differences being allowed to interfere in the administration of our national affairs or in working out our national destinies. That there should be political differences; that there should be two parties was reasonable, but it was wrong to have a party system, as was right. A strong and intelligent opposition to Government was required to watch with vigilance to check a Government in wrong doing and to expose its short comings.

ON Saturday last civilized society, wherever telegraphic communication reached, was shocked by the astounding news that at Washington, the capital of the United States, the President who had just entered upon his term of office as chosen representative and head of that great Republic, had been assassinated.

It is dead was the first intelligence, and grief and horror intermingled in the minds of those who heard. Then the first news was modified by the statement that though shot and dangerously wounded, the President still lived. The feeling of profound grief was lessened but the feeling of profound horror remained.

Nilhilism in Russia, aggranization in France, anarchism in Europe might kill their victims, and the world shuddered, scarcely surprised, but the world was not prepared for such a tragedy as that which on Saturday occurred in Republican America.

Of course conjectures were rife as to the character and motives of the assassin and of his instigators, while further particulars were anxiously waited for. Meanwhile he

The President was meanwhile attended by physicians and carried to the White House where the bells were unaccountably proclaimed for aid great by the doctors as to the probable result, one of the bells having it was supposed entered the intestines.

The wife and family of the President was once sent for, and as speedily as possible was in attendance.

At the instance of the President dying, Vice-president Arthur would have to preside as of officer during the remainder of the term, and the changes of administration and political complications that would result were nationally themes of interest discussed by the people and the press.

It appears that there is no event of any severity implicating any one of political party, being concerned in the shooting, which was the cause of the death of the President, on the part of a supposed assassin, who it seems is a worthless and ignorant character.

camp. Major Vince and his corps of Engineers won golden opinions from the Governor General and other noted authorities for their fortification and other field works. The men and horses of Capt. Dibble's Battery, their appearance and manner of doing their important work elicited many encomiums, while the great heat is pronounced by the Globe to be quite as efficient as another band "admitted by the majority to be the best on the field."

It is pleasant to read and repeat such testimonies in favor of Carleton, Victoria and the Maladawaska's contingent, when there was so much competition, and in presence of so many close observers.

As a rule our young men, and old men alike, in whatever circumstances they are placed, come out of the ordeal of comparison with credit to themselves and to their County. So may it ever be. And now returned with honors from the field of "Mars," refreshed by the holiday occasion, they will prove them selves in no wise less fitted for the discharge of their several duties as civilians and citizens.

In a report of the Chief Superintendent—on the necessity for the establishment of three academies in this Province, to be a de-termination of the Board of Education, in con-sultation with the University of New Brunswick; and—

There came to be a wide and increasing tendency on the part of the tax-payers to demand a reduction of the school rates by abolishing free instruction in the higher branches of education. In view of the uncertainty of the probability is that beyond the branches of a common English education may be afforded, therefore, the establishment of the proposed academies is not likely to be an ac-complished fact; therefore—

The Board of Education, of coming events and emergencies, the Board of Governors of Mount Allison Institution at Sackville, are requested to consider the propriety of treat-ing the subject of the establishment of such institutions for the founding of Scholarships for giving education in the higher branches, of a certain number of students, who shall be admitted to public schools with scholarship or a suit-able certificate of standing.

The TOWN COUNCIL met on Wednesday afternoon at 7 o'clock.

Snow, displaced; appointing Messrs. FIRST DISTRICT F. C. BAPTIST CHURCH met session at 121 Church St., on Saturday, 2d inst. Of 21 Churches in the District, 12 responded, and 16 persons were present. Membership reported 496.

There was present at the District Meeting ordained ministers and two licentiates, meeting closed on Monday, 4th. There an excellent social meeting on Saturday. Sunday preaching was, in forenoon by Mr. DeWaele; afternoon, Rev. Mr. Park; evening, Rev. Mr. Perry.

Somehow practiced eye of Her Majesty's representatives, no doubt, each man, each company, each battalion, sought to do the best, and the result was success. There appeared to have been in the camp good observance of military discipline, as a rule; few casualties have been reported, and the men in the training camp have left it with few complaints and few complaints.

The Ball appeared to have been a failure, so far as attendance went, which was small, while a very large patronage had been provided for.

ADVENT CHURCH—QUARTERLY MEETING.—The Quarterly Meeting of the Advent Church, assembled with the church at Middle Simonds on the 20th ult., continuing over the following Sabbath. There was preaching and departmental services.

A business meeting was held on Saturday evening, and reports from various churches were read.

The Sabbath meetings were held in a large hall, and were largely attended.

Elder Abbot Lee was present and participated. He will hold meetings in different and accident occurred at Shogunose, about 3 p. m., on Friday of last week, whereby two persons were almost instantaneously crushed out of existence. The victims were a young man, Stephen Johnson, and a young woman, Miss Mary Johnson, both of whom were attending the Shogunose school. The accident occurred while the two were playing a game of tag in the schoolyard. Stephen Johnson was running towards Miss Mary Johnson, who was standing still. Stephen Johnson tripped over a low wall and fell backwards, landing on top of Miss Mary Johnson. The impact of the fall was so great that it caused the death of both children. The accident was a tragedy for the school and the community. The school principal, Mr. Johnson, was deeply shocked by the accident. He immediately reported the accident to the police and the medical authorities. The police arrived at the scene of the accident and found the bodies of the two children. The medical authorities were called in to examine the bodies. They found that the children had died from internal injuries caused by the impact of the fall. The accident was a reminder of the dangers of playing in the schoolyard. It is important for schools to take steps to prevent such accidents from happening again. This can be done by making the schoolyard safer, by supervising the children more closely, and by teaching the children about safety.

November 15, 1881.
 Our Sabbath school is doing a good work this summer. It numbers elite classes; Mr. George Huggins is superintendent.
 Our soldiers have returned from the camp,
 and are in the best of health.
 There are some improvements visible in our buildings this season. F. G. Burr has his stand on the hillside up and the outside nearly finished.
 The new house on the new lot, some have finished, some have nearly finished, some are still in the hands of the carpenter.
 Mr. D. Getthel has his wheat run through the threshing machine, and has finished it; he wishes him luck with his enterprise.
 The F. C. G. baptisms at Tracy's Mills, have raised their meeting house outside and inside, and intend to finish it next year. They can get some people to suit the committee. They intend holding a raising ten meeting on Tuesday, the 12th inst. and on Wednesday the 13th inst. and there is some talk of the Woodstock Band being present.
 There are some cases of diphtheria around here now; some cases have proved fatal, but not many.
 Our crops look good; the rain came in good time.
 Our wagon makers claim that they have sold 4 double and single wagons this season; so far for the N. P.

The road from the bridge to the town contains a sharp curve, and it is not possible on the train, it gives you no notice of danger; more than the railroad, it demands that you be so watchful and observant that you are almost as sure as death.

Mr. Hale is doing well. He was able to take travel. His numbers were 17 and 18.

Vacation began on Saturday night. Mr. Mullins, Inspector for District No. 7, gave the school of the district a very good report. The the present form has been 37. There were scholarship present, all of them were present, and the school was very well attended. The 3rd, 18th and 19th, and 17 in the 1st. This word speaks for itself.

For the purpose in this article is to touch upon its injury arising from accidental causes, and to recommend the use of the medicine, in the treatment of this kind of disease, which is so generally apprehended. No western nation, or country, has been so long a stranger to the use of land or water, or railroad travel, as this country. The use of the medicine should be without it. Buffalo Medical Bulletin.
