St. Louis. The teacher failed to answer.

Now, sir, I believe we need a revised set of books, and I would suggest that a committee of teachers be appointed to make the necessary change. Let any one examine the merits of Greenleaf's and Mulholland's arithmetic, and say with which work can a teacher best fit a boy for actual business transac- Woodstocktion. This brings to mind a case which occurred three years ago. A young lady teacher from Maine attended one of our Province schools. She wished to use Greenleaf's (American) arithmetic, as it was the book to be used by her in the school she intended to teach. The teacher applied to the Board of Education for permission, but was refused .-I now propose that the public get the opinion of the teachers employed at present in the schools upon the present system of the school law ; but at the same time I am well aware. sir, they are prohibited from discussing the subject at the County Institutes; but I call upon the teachers to agitate this question and hold a meeting at the close of the Institute. when the subject can be fully discussed, unfettered by any Regulations of the Board of Education; and I would further suggest that the Resolutions passed at such meetings be published in two or three of our newspapers. Now I ask the teachers to consider this suggestion and, if thought advisable, to act accordingly and express their views independently, for I believe the time has arrived when experienced teachers, many of whom are men of intelligence and ability, must either earnestly grapple the subject or else quit the profession, as many are now doing, and engage in some other more lucrative calling. Wil some of our teachers express their independent views upon the subject. I must draw to a close, as I have already encroached upon your valuable space.
