THERE is no doubt about it, the defeat of the Scott Act in Hamilton, Out., by so large Graham and Corn Meal, in barrels and bags, at majority is a deplorable result, that will Is affect the action of the temperance people as regards seeking to secure the ac ceptance of the Act in other large cities.

It seems evident that there must have been som mismanagement. The Toronto Globe, fri ndly in its attitude to the law, says :-There was of course a possibility that th Hamilton would be successful, and that the law could be put into effective operation if it were adopted. Neither of these contingenfore the movers in the Hamilton campaign SALESMEN WANTED! were throughout regarded by many of their own fri ads as pursuing a mi-taken course. Defeat at this early stage of the local option crusade could not fail to have a bad effect, and the chances of defeat in Hamilton w very much greater than in many other municipalities. It was not necessary to run any such risk as that which was incurred thus Morris. Stane & Wellington, . . . Praprietors, voluntarily, and as the result shows, somewhat recklessly. We are not prepared to admit that the defeat in Hamilton should by any means stop Upper Woodstock, April 16, 1881.—2m-17 the friends of the law in endeavoring to secure its final adoption. We know it is of prime importance to secure its operation in the large communities, and having learned a careful lesson by the failure in Hamilton, the friends should persist in getting the Act to the polls all over the Dominion.

Of course it is a great matter to have the 3i-17. law in force in the country, but what i wanted is a thorough test of the efficiency of the Act and this test can be best applied in cities where the machinery of police &c., is 30th inst., for the completion of the wood-work of

We have a great and supreme evil which exerts a bad influence whenever it is allowed to manifest itself. From the highest ranges of society down to the lowest the evil is a malevolent and a demoralizing one. It weakens the SireD by "Fearnot," winner of the great National Stallion race at Buffalo, New York, and a demoralizing one. It weakens the strong, debilitates the weak; it debases the great, makes more vile the vicious. It prostitutes all that is high and good and beautiful in life and its associations. These facts should be sufficient to demand the united efforts of all good men and women in the direction of a reform of this evil by moral and by legal measures, without the waste of time over theories of practical successes and prac over theories of practical successes and prac- Smuggler, who drove him over Belmont Park, tical failures.

now in the State, and the only one in this section, is the stallion Norridgewock, owned in Calais. This stallion is a striking copy of his sire in color, motion, form and disposition, and, notwithstanding that late development is a characteristic of this blood, has already proved himself a superior stock horse. Many of his colts exhibit speed, and are valued at high prices, while nearly all of them are strong, vigorous animals with a fine, easy garriage and an abundance of spirit. The attention of horse owners and breeders is directed to his pedigree, which is a sufficient guarantee of the value of his service:

Norridgewock was by Gen. Knox, he by Vermont Hero, he by Sherman Black Hawk. Vermont Hero was from a mare by Young Hambletonian, he by Harris Hambletonian; and the dam of Sherman Black Hawk was by Young Hambletonian. The dam of Gen. Knox was by Young Hambletonian. The dam of Norridgewock was by Eaton Messenger, he by Maine Messenger, he by imported Messenger.
