FEARFUL DEATH OF A WOODSTOCKER. The Marinette and Peshtigo Eagle, Marinette Wis of the 10th inst., says :-On Wednesday afternoon a fire was discovered in some slab piles near the sawmill of the L W. & V. S Company. The fire steamer was called out and Hon. Robert Stephenson, who was chief of the fire department, being also resident superintendent of the company, went to work with a will in connection with the boys, to subdue the fire. Manning the hose, he started in between two large fiery piles of slabs, and was warned at the time that he was going into a dangerous place. His energetic and impulsive nature would brook no restraint and he passed into the opening some 20 or 30 feet, when a sheet of flame struck him on the face and neck, burning him severely. He wheeled, placed his ands to his face and mouth and ran out, being caught a an by another sheet of flame striking him before he made his escape. When he came out, the flesh cleaved off from the back of his hands, which were literally roasted. He was taken into a buggy and taken home at once, and it was found that his face and neck were terribly burned and blistered, but not so badly as to be thought dangerous. Dr. Jones, of Marinette, remained with him through the following night, during which time he gradually grew worse and excly the following morning, surrounded by his grief stricken family and friends, he breathed his last. In the mean time Jennie and Fred., a daughter and son in school at Lake Forest, Ill, were telegraphed to and arrived home that morning, but too late to Hon. Robert Stephenson was born in the province of New Brunswick, May 4th, 1834, and was 48 years 1 month and 4 days old at the time of his death. He came with his parents to Aroustook Co., Maine, in 1843. From there he went to Minnesota in 1854. He was married in Sept. 1856, to Hannah Benthouse, who with six children still survive him. He was an energetic, whole souled, genial and companionable man, who had as many warm friends as any man in this section of the country. There is not an inhabitant of either Menominee or Marinette who in the least comprehends the situation, but feels that in the death of Robert Stephenson he and the public generally have suffered an irreparable loss. He was buried with Masonic honors by the Menominee Lodge, F. &
