The Executive cannot close this report taken from reports thus far to hand :without directing your attention to the question of finance. Money is absolutely necessary to the proper prosecution of our work. The Executive have been at considerable expense for printing, writing letters, postage, as well as for the outlay in Missionary work, all of which was essentially necessary; having given their own time and paid their own personal expenses, your Committee feel they are justified in making an appeal to every teacher, scholar, man, woman or child interested in Sabbath School work, to contribute towards supplying the necessary funds. The Convention must take some definite action on this point, so that the incoming executive may not be hampered in their work.

Brethren, for six consecutive years have we been wont to meet in annual Convention never, during that time, have we come together without realizing that the Master of Ceremonies was present to bless us; now for faith may we not be enabled yet still more to recognize this presence, and with more cheerful submission to the command and more entire consecration to the duty, go forth to " work in His vineyard," believing the promise that in due time we shall reap if we faint not.

Respectfully submitted. THE EXECUTIVE.
