some provision by law to secure voters in the exercise of the franchise. No law can guard inby their own carelessness or ignorance, but it ought to be easy to find or train returning officers so that they should not make such grave omissions as to sacrifice the franchise of entire districts as was the case in Albert. It is of less moment who secures or who loses the seat than it is that the right of the voters shall be so guarded as that a ballot having one for the candidate he desires. This case gave some very interesting information rebeen properly marked by the voter shall count in Albert is one that happens to have been discovered, but we very much fear that, were a general investigation to be had, it would be found that in scores of instances returning officers have failed in some respects properly to follow the letter of the law. It don't require a very profound intelligence to master the plainly defined duties of a returning officer, but it does require an appreciation, on the part of those filling such a position, of the necessity of strictly following the printed instructions, so that first, voters may have secur ed to them that secrecy in marking their balthat the ballot properly marked when deposited shall not be worthless because he, the officer, has failed in some detail. While Mr. Robeson was closing the debate on the bill, at 12 30, he took occasion to make some scathing remarks in referring to his administration of the Navy Department, and the reflections which have been cast upon He referred, in the most scorching language to the action of the Forty-fourth Con-Synod, met at St. John, last week. The lay gress, which, under the Sage of Gramercy Park, came into power with the cry of reorm, which sounded much like the rebel vell! and, without mentioning any name, re erred to Mr. Whitthorne, of Tennessee, i the bitterest terms. Referring to the inves agations undertaken by that Congress, and the men qualified to carry them on in the manner they were, he said : " If there was a man who was charged, whether true or talse with purloining the funds of his State-At this juncture Mr. Whitthorne stepped directly in front of Mr. Robeson and excitedly exclaimed: "That's a lie, and whoever repeats it is a liar !" This created a roaring sensation, and every member sprang to his feet and rushed forward anticipating a perthat the language be taken down. Mr. Robeson, waving a diesent with both hands, protested by saying: "Oh, never mind it. I IR IR have applied my language to no one. If any man feels it true let him step forward and acknowledge it." An exciting scene was that on the floor at this time, the confusion rom which attracted the Sergeant-at-arms to the floor, and his presence and the rattle of the Speaker's gavel soon quieted matters. After the Naval bill had passed, Mr. Whitt borne arose and said that he made a personal application of Mr. Robeson's remarks, because the latter, true to his instincts, as when Secretary of the Navy, had been looking up the school fund matter of Tennessee. He said that he had been followed day and defects. These men claimed that they had a

IMPROVED FOR 1882. TOWENTY-SIX SEASONS, and still in advance of all other Mowers in Fewness of Parts For 1882 Cossitt's Mower has been again improved by substituting a longer lever for the one used last season, with greater capacity for raising and lowering the Cutter Bar, which can now be raised higher than on any Buckeye Mower ever made

The Inside Shoe has also been altered to allow the Leading Wheel to be set lower, and the latter has been changed for a wheel with a wider face and greater diameter. Draft light; durability unquestioned. The Cutter Bar has a Double Joint which feature allows the Buckeye to WORK FREELY on rough grain. Construction simple and breakages few. Repairs the easiest obtained.

We guarantee every Cossitt Buckeye Mower to work well this season and satisfy purchasers or no J. G. EMERY, Agent. Wcodstock, July 6, 1882 -4i-2
