Poetry.

There's a never dying-chorus Breaking on the buman ear, In the busy town before us, This is labor's endless ditty, This is toil's prophetic voice,

Bidding human hearts rejoice. Sweeter than the poet's singing Is that anthem of the free; Blither is the anvil's ringing Than the song of bird or bee. There's a glory in the rattle Of the wheels 'mid factory gloom

Or the trophies of the loom. See the skillful mason rising. Gracefully you towering pile; Round the forge and furnace blazing, Stand the noble men of toil. They are heroes of the people, Who the wealth of nations raise;

Glorious men of truth and labor, Shepherds of the human fold, That shall lay the brand and sabre With the barbarous things of old. Priests and prophets of creation, Bloodless heroes in the fight, Toilers for the world's salvation,
