CONSECRATION OF ST. LUKE'S.

Fifty years ago the deed by which the land upon which stands St. Luke's church was conveyed to the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestry was put on record, and some two years later the old church was built. Not many are there now living here who participated in the services of that consecration.

CONSECRATION SERVICE.

A large congregation, probably numbering in all some 500, was present on the occasion. At 10.30 a. m., a procession of clergy, comprising His Lordship the Metropolitan of Canada, the Coadjutor Bishop, Dr. Kingdon, Dr. Ketchum, Rector of St. Andrew, Rev. G. Roberts, Rector of Fredericton, Rev. Thomas Neales, Rector of Woodstock, Rev. Joseph Haulton, Rector of St. Stephen, Rev. L. A. Hays, of Andover; Rev. L. W. Fowler, of Prince William; Rev. J. E. Flewelling, of Wicklow; Rev. J. W. Vroom, of Richmond; Rev. A. V. Higgins, of Westfield, left the vestry, and moving down the southern aisle, was met near the south-west entrance by Church Wardens W. F. Dibble, Esq., and John D. Ketchum, Esq., when the former gentlemen read the following:

TO THE MOST REVEREND LORD BISHOP OF FREDERICTON.

We, the incumbent Church Wardens and other inhabitants of Woodstock, having acquired the land upon which stands the said Church, and set it apart for the worship of God, according to the rites and discipline of the Church of England, in the following manner:

Signed, THOS. NEALES, Rector.

W. F. DIBBLE, Esq., Church Warden.

JOHN D. KETCHUM, Esq., Church Warden.

His Lordship the Metropolitan, in reply said—

Sirs—It is my wish and that of the parishioners, we will proceed to consecrate this Church.

The procession then passed up the central aisle and the clergy took their places on either side of the altar.

The Legal, Ecclesiastical and Religious formulas in each case provided, in connection with the Dedication and consecration of the building were now proceeded with to a conclusion.

The usual morning service of the Church of England then followed. Rev. G. Roberts officiating as priest, the lessons for the day being read by Mr. Neales, Vicar and Rector, the Lord Bishop, Coadjutor and Dr. Ketchum taking part in the service.

The music selected for the services consisted of the 24th Psalm as a processional, sung by the clergy down to the 7th verse when the choir joined. Psalms 84, 122, 132, Anthem—"A Day in thy Courts." Hymn 395 of the collection. "Hymns ancient and modern."

The organ was played by Mr. H. W. Bourne, and the choir full one performed its part well.

THE SERMON.

was preached by His Lordship the Metropolitan, the text being part of the 22nd verse of the Gospel of St. Luke.

They thought him to Jerusalem to prevent him to the Lord. The discourse was very plain, direct and practical, delivered without any manuscript or notes. The preacher showed how to a proper understanding of the truth of scripture it was necessary to study both the old and the new Testaments; it was impossible to understand the one unless guided by the light and teaching of the other. There are those who do not comprehend the harmony that exists between the law and the Gospel; who regard their duties apart and separate, and do not appreciate the significant and essential relation existing between them, or understand how the Gospel lay under the law until its glorious revelation was made in and by Christ.

He then referred to the festival, still commemorated by the Church, indicated by his plain, and proceeded to analyze the significance of the term present; referring to the presentation of children to the Lord in Ephraim, as of old the child was brought into the Temple for presentation, now—and he remarked there could be no better time than at the consecration of a new church for its members to present themselves to the Lord—it is to the Church of Christ, the Temple dedicated and set apart for the Holy worship of God, as the proper place, that children are brought to be presented, and to which all should come for presentation of themselves, through the ordinance of God's Holy worship. This presentation and dedication should be of the entire being. He explained the true meaning of man—body, soul, spirit—and, dwelling upon the orthodox opinions entertained by some in this respect as to the relationship of these three to the other and the responsibility of all to render God service, urged that all the members and powers of the body as well as of the soul and spirit should alike be devoted to God's glory without the exercise of these powers God's worship could not be properly and fully enjoyed.

Remarking how the body senses conveyed, by ear, by sight, by voice gratification to the spiritual sense, he urged upon the individuals of the congregation that they should strive to participate in the divine and sublime this course could not be looked for, but in the plainer hymns and familiar tunes all might learn to join. He said it was a holy habit, an irrevocable habit, that in which some indulged, of sitting still and being mere listeners when they should be active with the tongue and all the powers in giving God glory both in and out of Church. He spoke of the frequent occasions of the present day in which, as judged by the newspaper accounts, glory is given to events, to individuals, to institutions, in a word, all glory to man, while it was forgotten apparently the duty to glorify God. Remarking upon the irreverent spirit of the age as being something shocking, dreadful, he said those who came to church should do so not to look about them to see who is there; not to note the style of the building; not how nearly it suits their individual tastes; but to worship God in reverence, truth and love; to seek grace for themselves, to ask pardon for the defects in their own lives, to be enlightened more and more with Divine truth, and to be filled with the gracious spirit of love; they should come to assist in, to enjoy, to grow stronger and better from the services of the church, and to render unto God the debt which is due to him of body, soul and spirit. He dwelt upon the virtues of Truth, reverence and love, Truth being the very foundation of all right worship as taught in the creeds, themselves being the teaching of the Bible. From the church all irreverence, all indulgence in worldly thought, all consideration of secular affairs should be banished. Love, he pointed out, is an essential principle of Christianity. "By this," said Christ, "shall all men know that ye are my disciples, because ye love one another." True Christians love God, know that ye are true Christians because ye love one another. Paving the way he reminded his hearers how great their blessedness was in belonging to a church which treasured Apostolic truth; a church, to which if they were true, they to themselves and to God, that could not be destroyed, but that was made stronger by every attempt against it. He mentioned an instance as having occurred in this Province when a church was burned, probably by mistake, and he said, "I know that ye are true Christians because ye love one another." This is the fact of the Church of England here; it is gone and will never be heard from again. But what are the facts? There is now in debt, and having four times as large a congregation as before.

His Lordship congratulated the Rector and the people upon the character of this edifice just constructed. It is pretty, it is solid and good of its kind, and without intending any slur upon the latter, it is more suitable for the services of the Church of England than was the old building which was built at an earlier day and under less advantageous circumstances. "I have built this church," said His Lordship, "I am pleased to see that you have built this church yourselves. It is much more satisfactory than if some other person in England had set you up for its construction. Much better is it that you can look upon this completed work as the result of your own exertions, without trusting to or looking for help from others; let assistance come, if it comes, later. But you must remember that your work is not yet done; a few of your number have already assumed obligations from which you by a common effort should seek to relieve them as soon as possible.

His Lordship concluded by urging upon his hearers not to forget the proper observance of their religious duties; not to neglect attendance at church and its solemn sacraments; not to forget to come here and present themselves and their children to the Lord, and by invoking upon them the Divine blessing.

THE BUILDING.

The special decorations consisted simply of two handsome bouquets of flowers and a pair of dried flowers on the Altar, and in the font at the west end several pots of house plants in bloom.

The entire length of the building is 102 feet; its width in the nave 49 feet, the chancel being 30 feet by 25 feet; on the north side of the chancel is the organ room, 12 by 15 feet, and on the opposite side the vestry, also 12 by 15 feet.

The height of the nave from the floor to the apex of the roof is 40 feet, and the main roof, which is 24 feet 10 inches in width, is supported by 12 pillars and trusses, with three massive arches finished in plaster and painted.

The roof inside is plastered between the rafters and celled with pine. The sides of the building are finished in wainscoted ash, the dado having a crown and base wainscot. The wood work throughout is of ash and pine, finished with oil and varnish, relieved in some places by walnut.

The pews have heavy moulded ends of ash, ornamented with a quarter fluted sunk on the outside of each, the arm-rests being black wood. The only pointed work is on the arches and in the chancel, where Mr. Stroop, of St. Andrew, has very effectively blended stone that and some skillful ribbing.

The altar furniture, of ash and walnut, made by C. W. Raymond, Esq., is of appropriate design and good appearance, in keeping with the general design of the building, which is of Gothic style; the architect's plans and drawings, it may be noted, have been, with some slight modifications, closely followed by the contractor.

The nave pews were made by Mr. John Garret. There are three aisles in the nave, one central, and one on each side. There are 80 pews, each with an easy resting capacity for seven persons, so that 560 may be comfortably seated.

The choir is reached by three steps from the main floor, and on its level are the lectern and pulpit, and the entrances to the organ room and vestry. The Sanctuary and altar occupy a still higher level, being some six feet above the nave floor. The floors and steps of the choir and sanctuary are covered with rich carpeting.

Of the windows remark is scarcely necessary, as the present ones, comparatively quite plain, of stained glass, are to be removed in the spring to give place to some memorial and other handsome fittings.

The lighting arrangement consists of three handsome chandeliers suspended over the central aisle, two of eight lights each and one of twelve lights, with four over the side aisles of two lights each.

The basement, of stone and brick, is 7 feet deep under the entire building, affording ample storage room and space for the two Wood & Bishop furnaces, imported by Connel Bros., by which the building is heated through two large registers in the main aisle. The pipes and fittings of the furnaces were made and put up by Mr. John McAfee.

There are three entrances—one on the south west corner through a portico, one through the Tower in the front and one into the vestry.

The general internal appearance of the Church is very pleasing. The Belfry in his sermon well characterized as a pretty and good, it is very airy and comfortable, and comfort combined with a sense of solidity. There is harmony of design and detail that is greatly satisfactory.

We should judge that the aesthetic properties are excellent.

We need say no more of the external of the building than that, standing on an elevated site, of very fine proportions, and style of finish, painted in subdued yet pleasing shades of stone color, with a tower 14 feet square at the base rising at right west corner to a height, including the steeple, the latter terminating in a Grecian cross, of 104 feet, it is at once an ornament to the Town and a credit to all, in whatever capacity who have been concerned and interested in its erection.

We may congratulate the congregation of St. Luke's, and especially their Rector, and express the hope that while he has had, a young man, to deplore the loss of much valuable personal and Church property by fire, he may live long enough to forget these in the enjoyment of still accumulating success, in his high calling, and social happiness.

TOWN COUNCIL.—A session of this body was held on Tuesday evening; His Worship in the chair.

An express bill of $1.70, and a bill of J. Macdonald for amount paid for wood, $5.50, ordered paid.

The Clerk was authorized to give notice through the local papers of the intention to ask the Local Legislature for the passage of certain bills relating to the Town.

It was ordered that Mr. Wyatt and the Methodist be each charged with $75 per night for the use of the Town Hall, the former for dancing, the latter for lecture purposes.

The chairman of the Water Works Committee reported for the progress made and progress had in obtaining information from Messrs. Crafts and Forbes in reference to plans and specifications. The above engineers were offered to do the engineering and surveying during the construction of the works for $1800, or they would draw the plans and specifications for $450; in case they were employed as engineers, then the $450 to be included in the first named sum.

On motion of Coun. Lynch, seconded by Coun. Blythe—

Resolved, That Messrs. Crafts & Forbes be authorized to make plans and specifications in detail for the construction of Water Works, according to system adopted, so that tenders can be asked for the erection of the Works.

It seems that the slight storm that reached us on Sunday last of rain and hail had previously expended its main force farther west. The accounts from the Western States, and as far east as Pennsylvania, are of very destructive floods on Saturday, overflowing driving communities from their houses and doing a very large amount of damage. The ravages by fire have with a few exceptions been very extensive. Indeed, to mention the catalogue of casualties, accidents, crime and elemental ravages that have occurred since the advent of the year would weekly occupy a very large space in this paper.

Another delegation from our Government has visited Ottawa to seek for a settlement with the Dominion Government of the Provincial claims in connection with the "Eastern Extension" and the "Penitentiary." We are glad to note that the two parties were in the last delegation about these matters. We should think it was about time that fruitless delegations of this kind should be discontinued; about time that a firm and resolute respect for the claims was given by the Dominion.

The annual meeting of Carleton Co. Lodge, L.O.A., was held at the Orange Hall, here, on Tuesday last. There was a large attendance of the Brethren from the different Lodges in the County, and a good deal of business of interest to the Order was transacted. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

D. F. Merritt, W. M.; S. S. Wiggin, Secy.; C. J. Shaw, Chap.; Wm. Wallace, Co. Secretary; John E. Kerrigan, Treasurer; J. W. Byer, Co. D. C.; C. N. Scott, Co. Lecturer.

The semi-annual meeting will be held at Benton, on the 14th June next.

It may be judged that the identification of some of the parties who participated in the murder of Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke at Dublin, as recently made at the trials now progressing, is direct and conclusive; the developments are such as to intensify our pity for a country laboring under so many burdens that has so many organized murderers.

We publish in this issue a report of the doings at the recent meeting of the Victoria County Council. At home and abroad the intelligence of the people and of the country is fairly being judged by that of its Councils, and we are quite sure that put to this test the people of Victoria will not suffer. It will be observed that the Councilors at the present session devoted themselves more to acts than words. They did their business promptly. They showed their progressive spirit and their acquaintance with the current of thought elsewhere, by their action with respect to territorial elections, and evidently see that entrusted now with important powers, their jurisdiction might be safely extended.

As we have frequently said, Victoria has all the elements that should assure a grand future; to develop her resources and advertise her claims, the County Council can do much, and what they can do are quite sure they will not neglect.

Notings.

If you desire to vote at the coming election for civic officers, you will have to pay your taxes on or before the 19th inst.

Our Main Street Boarding houses are much encouraged over their prospects for a new year. As will be remembered they some time since purchased a very eligible lot of land on which to place a new boarding house. The other day, a subscription paper was drawn up, and in a few hours $1900 was subscribed, by some 60 or 70 persons, in sums varying from $50 to $100. Their available assets for the purpose named must already amount to $2,000.

Heavy storms prevailed around the British coast during the three last days of the week. At Salisbury, York, Burlington, Bradford, Fleetwood, Chorley, and other places, much damage was done to buildings, fences, chimneys and trees by the hurricane. The low lying lands in the central and western parts of Ireland were inundated, and much property in this way was lost to property. Two vessels were wrecked on the Isle of man, and the crews drowned.

A panic in a wool factory at Bombay, on the 14th inst., caused by an alarm of fire, resulted in the killing of 22 women, who were crushed to death while struggling to escape.

A social was held in Kearney's Hall, on Saturday evening last, for the purpose of raising the sum of $1000 for the relief of the poor and afflicted families living in the village; gotten up by very short notice, the attendance was very large, and the proceeds were $1000.

We mention on Whistler's recent visit, a "Speed Away," very nicely; Emma J. LePage, played "Galop"; Minnie Wheeler, and Mrs. H. D. W. played "The Rose Tree"; and they sang "In the Starlight"; E. S. Kearney played "A March"; M. Wheeler, E. H. Williams, and A. T. Truett, played "The Wandering Boy To-night"; and last, but not least, Annie A. Taylor sang with much address "The Star." Mrs. G. Johnson presided at the organ, and the chair was occupied by Rev. A. L. Page. A considerable amount, considering the number present, was raised.

We often hear the query, "When are we to have that bridge across the river?" and the hope is cherished that now that the Government has apparently triumphed over its foes politically, this important public work, which is a real public necessity, will be one of the first agricultural projects in New Brunswick, any large scale consideration.

A large number, embracing nearly the entire congregation, gathered at the Baptist Church here, on Christmas evening, to witness the marriage of Miss Kate A. Mackay and Mr. Samuel McNeill, both of whom were present, and performed by Rev. J. G. Harvey, Mr. Theodorus, brother of the groom, officiated as groom's best man, and Mr. J. G. Harvey, the officiating minister, dressed in garnet suit, trimmed in garnet; ornate and richly decorated. The bride was dressed in garnet suit, trimmed in garnet; ornate and richly decorated. After the ceremony, a large number of invited guests remained to the wedding supper.

A curious case is about to come up for trial before the courts in Montreal. According to a custom practiced from "time immemorial" in the city of Montreal, a building known as the "Temple Emanuel," was erected for the purpose of raising funds for the church. The city of Montreal claims taxes on the building because it has been used for profit and not exclusively for Divine service, and the congregation are determined to resist the tax. The decision of the case will be interesting.

The status of a Canadian in his native land and that of a citizen of the United States, is a subject of strikingly illustrated by the facts that in Canada the General must be an old countryman, and the "floor" commanding the militia must be a citizen of the United States. The President must be a native American. Comment is unnecessary.

The Decided Wife's Sister question in the Dominion has been first performed in the Dominion from the Colonial Office that Her Majesty the Queen will not disallow the Act of the Dominion. Marriage with a deceased wife's sister is being legalized in Canada. It will be interesting that several Senators took the opportunity to be asked to ask to disallow the Act after it had passed both branches of the Canadian Legislature.

A NEW WRINKLE.—An exchange says: The following features of an entertainment are new and likely to become popular. It is termed a "basket social." The young ladies prepare a basket filled with an elaborate repast, place their cards within it, and then the baskets are sent to the gentlemen without the knowledge of the owners. Each gentleman is then expected to partake of the feast and to return the basket to the lady who prepared it. It is recommended as a plan likely to excite a worthy rivalry in the art of cooking. Let these entertainments become common, and the young ladies will be enabled to learn to make good bread or desirable puddings will be likely to be left in single blue-dress cases.

TESTIMONY OF AN ENLIGHTENED PATRIOT.—The PROGRESSIVE ATTITUDE of the claims of NORFOLK & LEAM'S EMULSION OF PURE LIVER OIL, and HYPOPHOSPHITES, be regarded as the finest pulmonary emulsion, emulsified in many instances from physicians of eminence. Dr. J. G. G. St. Thomas, writes as follows:—"During ten years of active practice, I have had occasion to prescribe Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites, and in every instance, when your preparation came under my notice I have tried it, and take great pleasure in saying that it has given great satisfaction, and has relieved me of many cases of my own family during heavy colds, and in every instance, when I have used it, I have used it fully recommended its use in all cases of debility arising from weakness of the muscular or nervous system."

What can be more convincing than this? Here is a professional man of long practice and high standing, who has tried and positive testimony to the value of a remedy which has been thoroughly tested. Who can read and doubt?
