All the Western States and Territories are doing like herincreasing rapidly in population, and forcing a soil till now unworked to yield the profit. Unquestionably, this is the most important fact in contemporary history. It is a new fact; it cannot be compared with any cognate phenomenon in the past, so that it offers a fine field for those who like untrammelled political speculation. It fascinates the statisticians, such as Mr. Giffen, who has just dealt with it in an elaborate fashion before the Statistical Society. He points out that the population of the United States has risen in a hundred years from 3,000,000 to 50,000,000; that is to say, that it has during that time multiplied itself 16 times, or doubled itself every 25 years. At the like rate of increase it would reach in another century the unheard of total of 800,000,000. already better, and when four bottles had proves to be the country by which to a great been used upon him he could again walk extent we live.
