LITERARY NOTES.—The October Harper's will contain as a frontispiece a charming picture by Mr. Abbey of "Judith Shakespeare," the heroine of William Black's story, which nears its close, and will have more of the delightful engravings from the pencils of Dielman and Gibson, illustrating E. P. Roe's "Nature's Serial Story," part eleven. Both Mr. Boughton and Mr. Abbey illustrate the instalment of the former's clever "Artist strols in Holland," which will appear in that number. Horace E. Scudder will take the reader to Copenhagen, "The Home of Hans Christian Anderson," and Rufus F. Zogbaum to "The Home of Tommy Atkins," who is quite another kind of person. Tommy Atkins is the popular name for the British soldier, and the home described is the great camp at Aldershot. Both these papers will be fully illustrated, the latter by the writer himself. A Mexican metropolis, Monterey, will be described and illustrated in an article called "The Gateway of Sierra Madre," by Frank R. Brown. Two historical papers, one on King's College (now Columbia), New York, by John McMullen, and the second by Rev Treadwell Walden, on Westminster Hall; and two biographical—one a reminiscence of Mr. Darwin, with a portrait of him in middle age, the other the remarkable story of a slave horse jockey, Charles Stewart told by himself and edited by a Southern lady, will be features of the number. One of the miscellaneous papers on "Municipal Finance," by W. M. Ivans, private secretary to Mayor Grace of New York, will attract much attention, and there will be the usual variety of stories, poems, and departments.

SKILFUL SURGERY IN NEW YORK.—Thomas Colt has recently been discharged from Bellevue Hospital, N. Y, with a restored nose. He was deprived of his nose a number of years ago by a cancerous affection technically called lupus, which destroyed the nasal bone as well as the fleshy covering, and even the lower eyelids. His treatment was undertaken over 10 years ago by Dr. Thos. Sabine, the professor of anatomy of the College of Physicians and surgeons, and has been successfully pursued up to the present time. Dr. Sabine first addressed himself to the task of arresting the disease, and when that was accomplished he restored the lost eyelids by grafting thereon healthy skin taken from the cheeks and forehead of the patient. The more difficult operation of restoring the nose followed. This was done by making use of the third finger of the left hand, from which the nail was first removed by nitric acid. Then the end of the finger was fixed against the forehead between the eyes, the epidermis at the joints of contact having been previously removed to bring about adhesion. At the same time the finger up to the second joint was split open on the under side, the flesh stripped off, and the flaps thereby produced were connected with the flesh of the cheek on either side. The hand was fixed in the proper position by plaster of paris, and held so until the adhesion was complete. Then the finger was amputated at the second joint, and the free edges of the part adhering to the face were arranged so as to form the wings of the nostrils. During all this time the nasal orifice was kept open by a hard rubber tube. The treatment necessarily occupied some time, and involved a number of painful operations, but was completely successful, and it is almost impossible now to distinguish the nose thus fashioned by surgical skill from one cast in nature's own mould.

WHEAT IN THE UNITED STATES.—The striking decrease in our exports of $83,000,000 as compared with 1882 3, and of $162 000,000 as compared with 1880, has led the Financial Chronicle to investigate where the shrinkage occurred. That breadstuffs went abroad less freely is familiar, but it is startling to compare exports of them, amounting to $157,000,000 against $283,000,000 four years previously. And it is also surprising to find cotton marking as large a decrease ($50,000,000) as breadstuffs when the comparison is between last year and its predecessor. Among breadstuffs, corn has held its own, and rye has grown from under 1,000,000 bushels to over 6,090,000. In other words, the decrease in breadstuffs is almost wholly in wheat, which reached its greatest export at $190,000,000, in 1879-80 and fell to $73,000,000 in 1883-4. Since 1877 8 there has been no smaller total. The exports show a remarkable independence of the yield. It is the foreign demand and not the American supply which makes the market. This is truer of wheat than of corn. Boston shipped more than previously, and New York, while holding its own regarding exports, increased its lead as to imports.—N. Y. Times.

PROPOSED CANAL ACROSS IRELAND.—The project for constructing a ship canal across Ireland has been warmly espoused by influential people in England. Elaborate plans and surveys have been made at considerable expense, and have been submitted by Capt. Eads, the American engineer. The plans were prepared by Mr. T. A. Walker, of Great George street, Westminister. The proposed canal would be 127 miles in length, and would contain thirty locks. For ships of 1,500 tons the cost would be eight millions; for ships of 5,000 and upward, twenty millions sterling. If built on this scale the canal would be 200 feet wide on the surface and 100 feet at the bottom. The passage through the canal would be effected by a system of towage, and it is estimated that the passage of a ship from Galway Bay to Kingstown would occupy between twenty-four and thirty six hours.

An alternative scheme of a ship railway in which the ships would be carried in cradles, which could be constructed for ten millions, is proposed, by which the duration of the passage through the island would be reduced to twelve hours. An immense aqueduct would have to be constructed to carry the canal over the Shannon at Banagher, and would be over three miles in length, being one of the most difficult and costly works in connection with the undertaking.

A NOTABLE EVENT.—A great event have I to chronicle—the arrival of the first locomotive at the City of Guatemala. The event transpired on the 19th of July, the anniversary of the birth of the President. The day was duly celebrated upon a scale never before equaled or approached by anything in the country. It seemed as if the people all turned out. The enthusiasm was unbounded and the excitement of the wildest kind; and no wonder, for here is a splendid city of 50,000 or 60,000 people, almost in sight of two oceans, only accessible upon one side by horses and the other by oxen. No wonder the people went wild over their emancipation from those primitive modes of travelling. It was a time not only to be joyous and rejoice, but it was a time for the rest of the world to congratulate them upon their joining the great outside world. The shrill whistle of the locomotive has announced to the isolated city her initiation into the world of go ahead-ativeness by the double-quick of steam power. But as yet their full fruition is not; they are but entered apprentices. It is only when they are baptized with the clear ring from the Atlantic side that they will know the major secrets of the craft.

THOUGHTS FOR FARMERS.—Keep the best and sell the rest.

Weeds exhaust the land as badly as useful crops.

Better kindle the fire with dry wood, than a heated temper.

There is more profit in keeping one good animal than two poor ones.

Brains are the cheapest fertilizer than can be employed on the farm.

Nearly all diseases arise from impure air or water, or from intemperance.

Weeds are most easily and cheaply killed when just appearing above ground.

The manure bank is of more importance to the farmer than the money bank.

A portion of green feed, in winter is better for live stock, than medicine.

The distinctive military qualities of the Chinese are said to be unflinching bravery, or as some would have it, footbardiness. Chinese soldiers resemble the Mohammedans in this:—They believe that by exposing themselves to the deadliest dangers and dying in the heat of battle they are sure to win eternal bliss in their Celestial Paradise. Life is, therefore, little cherished by them, and death—even though it be caused by a recklessness that is akin to suicide—is held to be the most desirable of all things. This wild religious devotion urges them to do the most extraordinary deeds. They have been known to leap by hundreds into a river and to die by drowning, though it was possible for them to escape from their enemies by land. This contempt for life in one sense enhances their value as soldiers, since by it they are driven to do deeds that less enthusiastic nations might refrain from.

The Italian nobleman who wagered that he would cover 31,050 miles on French railways in 30 days has won his wager. On his twenty-eighth day he was seen by a gentleman who describes him as having been "completely exhausted and palsy-stricken, like an old man." He had been going backward and forward between Paris and one of the southern cities, and it is believed that he has obtained the stakes at the expense of his health.

KING DODDS AS A PREACHER.—The Mitchell Advocate publishes a long report of a speech by Mr. King Dodds, and says that anyone who reads it and then votes for the Scott Act, must indeed feel that he is acting against the teachings of the Founder of Christianity. We never suspected the advocates of a licensed liquor trade to possess over-much modesty; but when they can deliberately put forward such a person as Mr. King Dodds as the trustworthy interpreter of the teachings of Jesus Christ—they are surpassing themselves. To take the sinless Founder of the religion of love and purity and self-sacrifice, and to set Him up as a champion for a trade which is founded upon the most unmitigated selfishness, and which is admitted to be the cause of three-fourths of the sin and vice in this world,—a trade which degrades men to a state in which blasphemy against Christ himself is one of the natural consequences,—such an outrage upon our religion simply shows how little the supporters of the liquor trade care for the principles on which that religion is founded.—War Notes.

IMPORTANT MAIL ARRANGEMENT.—The United States postal department has issued an order directing the St. John and Vanceboro railway post office to make up a pouch daily for the Boston, Springfield and New York railway post office, to leave Vanceboro, Me., at 10 a. m., by the Vanceboro and Bangor express train on arrival of the St. John and Vanceboro railway post office, and connect at Boston with the Boston, Springfield and New York railway post office, leaving Boston at 10 30 p.m; the St. John and Vanceboro pouch to be kept open until after passing McAdam Junction, for the enclosure then of mails from St. Stephen and Woodstock, for New York, such mails to be made up direct. This pouch will contain all correspondence addressed to the Middle, Southern and Western States, also to Connecticut, and to Palmer, Springfield and Worchester, Mass.—telegraph.

PERFORMED TO DEATH.—The story of the "Lilliputian wonder," an infant 9 inches long and weighing 10 ounces, "performed" to death (at Birmingham) in order that its purchaser might profit by the exhibition of "the smallest child in the world," is one of the most revolting that has come to light for a long time. Talk of cannibalism, indeed! What is the cannibalism of starving men compared to such gratuitous and disgusting cruelty? The love of monstrosities—fat women, dog-faced men, two-headed nightingales—which is one of the most brutal features of the English character, has doubtless been the cause of many crimes, as it has led to the perpetration of much awful misery. Is it too much to hope that the history of this poor "midget" may have some effect in restraining decent people from indulging and encouraging a vulgar and brutalizing curiosity?—Pall Mall Gazette.

Oysters! Oysters! Bob will sell Providence River Oysters, cooked in all styles; Shediac Oysters in shell or on the half shell; baked beans and hot brown bread; ham and eggs; at all hours, day or night. Call and see Bob and save money. "Eat, get fat and be happy." Yours Bauldheadedly, R. H. S.

At Dimcanville, near Ottawa, recently a four-year-old boy switched his father's horse which was attached to a reaper. The horse trotted and the reaper severed one of the boy's legs completely. The little fellow did not fall, so rapidly was it done, but stooped and said, "Pa, me leg's off." The numbness soon departed, leaving him in agony.

A Newburg girl ran off with her best young man and was married to him in a little country hotel near Peekskill. Papa and mamma arrived in an awful rage just as the ceremony was concluded. The young lady was not one whit disconcerted, but hailed her furious parent with the remark:—"Why, this is just as funny as it could be. Don't you remember this room? It is the same one you were married in, and your family folks came to make a fuss as you are doing." It was a true bill.

Very considerable talk is being occasioned by the results attending the admission of a colored girl to the vice principal's department of Brunswick street school since the end of the summer vacation. The department, which previously was full of young ladies, including some from the best north end families, and all receiving an education equal to that of seminaries and similar institutions elsewhere, is now attended by only a score or less. The other pupils refuse to attend or their parents refuse to send them. Tuesday's Halifax Chronicle.

Having reference to the late Cincinati riots an exchange says:—There's no use in plunging into the caves of theory and guess work for explanations of mob uprisings. A country that spends $900,000,000 a year for liquor and only $85,000,000, a year for her schools must not expect perfect security against the bloody violence of the rabble,

There was a time when Egyptians took pride in keeping the mummies of their ancestors out of the hands of impious infidels, but speciments can now be openly bought for $25 to $100, those with well-authenticated pedigrees being the most valuable.

An Irish temperance paper says: Lately the body of a young man was fished up from the slime of the Mersey. An inquest was held, and a note taken from one of the pockets of the deceased was read. It was to this effect: "Make no inquiries about me. Let me rot. Drink did it." The inquest was, of course, a public one, and the tragic note was duly reported in the papers. Within ten days the coroner received more than 200 letters from parents asking for particulars as to the deceased. What a horrible fact this is! Within the reach of the Liverpool papers there were 200 mothers who feared that the writer of that ghastly note might be their "wandering boy!"

Despatches to the New York papers from Toronto report that at Paris, Ont., there is a great deal of excitement over the ruin of a young woman who joined the salvation army, and who was carried away by the earnestness and religious fervor of the members. She fell a victim to the wiles of "Major" Atherton, with whom she started out on a preaching tour, and returned to her home broken hearted. On Saturday night Atherton returned to Paris, where he was rotten egged, covered with flour, and pelted with stones. The windows of the barracks into which he retreated were broken. Again, on Wednesday night the same thing was repeated and he was treated worse than before. Even the police which interfered to protect him came off badly in the melee.

A man without any bones is now being exhibited through New Jersey. He is probably a retired baseball umpire.

The apple crop of Maine promises to be of very fair size, and of exceptionally fine quality. The western New York crop is immense, but there will be an outlet for surplus fruit in Europe and there is no apprehension of a glut of winter fruit.

Cholera does not seize its victims by hazard. It has been ascertained that of any one hundred who die of this disease ninety were in the habit of using alcohol.

It is said that more than 60,000 visits are made annually to the fortune-tellers of New York city.

The aged grand-parents of Private Whistler, of the Greely expedition, viewed the remains when they were exhumed, and of course were much shocked. But they took it philosophically. "Poor boy," said the old lady, "he was a good lad, but it is better that he has been eaten by his comrades than that he should have eaten of them."

A change in the navigation laws of the United States will throw about 500 Canadian engineers and pilots out of employment.

It is stated that 15,000 Italians have returned to their native land from the United States during the past month. It is said that lack of work and bad treatment are the causes.

The consumption of spirituous, vinous and malt liquors in the United States in 1883 amounted to 655,000,000 gallons.

A disastrous drought prevails in Eastern Ohio and West Virginia. The crops are perishing, stock being sold at almost any sacrifice for lack of feed. The river is so low that boats cannot run.

Typhoid fever prevails to an alarming extent in several counties in the upper part of South Carolina. A large majority of cases are located in the parts of the paths of the disastrous tornadoes which swept through the state last spring.

The decrease in the public debt of the United States during August was $8,542,852.

The Truro Condensed Milk and Canning Company uses 30,000 lbs. of milk weekly, which represents the milk of nearly 500 cows. This season they have manufactured 685 cheese, varying in weight from 30 to 60 lbs. In thirteen months they have put up 208,628 cans of condensed milk, 1 lb. weight each.

The Freedom of Faith

Mr. Munger's remarkable book has attracted no less attention in England than in America. Two editions of it are published there, and the English press has treated it fully and with marked respect. The British Quarterly Review for January says—

Mr. Munger is a capital preacher. The sermons, as such, deserve to rank with the noblest productions of modern times; they have the large sympathies of Beecher, the exegetical tact of Robertson, the literary finish of Vaughan, and the daring of Maurice. Really fresh, suggestive and inspiring.

Hardened Liver.

Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism.

Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water.

All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bitters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been now in my grave. J. W. MOREY, Buffalo, Oct. 1, 1881.

Poverty and Suffering.

"I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bills for doctoring.

I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I want to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost. I know it."

MANHOOD

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Address The CULVERWELL MEDICAL CO., 41 Ann St., New York.
