ENDEAVOR. A moaning cry, as the world rolls by, Through gloom of cloud and glory of sky, Rings in my ears forever; And I know not what it profits a man To plow and sow, to study and plan, And reap the harvest never. "Abide, in truth abide," Spake a low voice at my side, "Abide thou, and endeavor."

And even though, after care and toil, I should see my hopes from a kindly soil. Though late, yet blooming ever, Perchance the prize were not worth the pain Perchance this fretting and wasting of brain Wins its true guerdon never; "Abide, in love abide," The tender voice replied,

Strive, endeavor; it profits more To fight and fail, than on Time's dull shore To sit an iller ever; For to him who bares his arm to the strife, Firm at his post in the battle of life, The victory faileth never. "Therefore, in faith abide," The earnest voice still cried

THE NEW OLD TESTAMENT.-The revised translation of the Old Testament, which will snortly be published, may not take the place of the authorized version in popular estimation; but it may be fairly expected to clear up many infelicities and obscurities in that version which puzzles the ordinary reader. The "unicorn," which never existed cutside the English Bible, will at last be killed, and the "wild ox" substituted in its place. The "Book of Tescher" will be changed to the Book of the Upright." Sunday School children will be no longer troubled by the doubtful ethics of the Israelites in "borrow-
