VOL. XXXVI.—NO. 26.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., SATURDAY, JUNE 28, 1884.

General News.

A FRIEND hands us the following, with a request to publish:—
A CASE FOR DRUNKENNESS.—The following appeared lately in a leading New York daily to the effect that you have published numerous articles on the cure of drunkenness, but none of them, so far as I have been able to discover, have resulted in relieving the victim they were intended to benefit. With your permission, I will now give to the world a sure and speedy cure for intemperance, a cure that has been tried frequently and always successfully: Let the inebriate, it matters not whether he is just getting off, or beginning it, or on a spree, begin by taking every two hours one drachm, teaspoonful, of tincture of cinchona, peruvian bark. This will make him feel good. He can increase the dose to six drachms, teaspoonful, without any danger and take it in that proportion (four to ten times a day). It will not destroy his appetite for food. In the course of a few days the anti-periodic properties of the cinchona begin to tell and he does not only eat but sleep. He will be able to do everything in the way of alcohol. Recently in this city a well known gentleman, who in the past had been on the $500 and $1000 spree, tried this remedy, telling the various druggists where he drank it that he was fighting and would conquer the greatest demon on earth, but they could hardly believe him; yet he conquered, and the appetite for drink vanished. He was never drunk during the cure, and he has not drunk since. He is now a healthy man, and the cure is a cure in all cases using this remedy alone.

Poetry.
He and I.
He was the first to leave; fortune
Slept bright in his face;
I fought for years; with no effort
He conquered the place.
We ran; my foot was all bleeding,
But he won the race.
My home was still in the shadow,
His lay in the sun;
I longed in vain; what he asked for
I straightway was done—
Once I asked all my heart's treasure;
We played—and he won.
Yes; and just now I have seen him,
Cold, smiling and bright,
Laid in his coffin. God help me!
While he is at rest—
I am cursed still to live; even
Death loved him the best.
—H. J. PROCTOR.

Poetry.
He and I.
He was the first to leave; fortune
Slept bright in his face;
I fought for years; with no effort
He conquered the place.
We ran; my foot was all bleeding,
But he won the race.
My home was still in the shadow,
His lay in the sun;
I longed in vain; what he asked for
I straightway was done—
Once I asked all my heart's treasure;
We played—and he won.
Yes; and just now I have seen him,
Cold, smiling and bright,
Laid in his coffin. God help me!
While he is at rest—
I am cursed still to live; even
Death loved him the best.
