The Farmer. The king may rule o'er land and sea, The lord may live right loyally, The soldier ride in pomp and pride, The sailor roam or ocean wide, But this, or that, whate'er befall The farmer he must feed them all.

The craftsmen fashion wondrous things, The doctor heals, the lawyer pleads, The miner follows the precious leads, But this, or that, whate'er befall, The farmer he must feed them all. The farmer's trade is one of worth, He's partner with the sky and earth,

The writer thinks, the poet sings.

And no man loses for his gain, And men may rise, or men may fall, But the farmer he must feed them all. The farmer dares his mind to speak, He has no gift or place to seek, To no man living need he bow; The man that walks behind the plow

He's partner with the sun and rain,

Is his own master, whate'er befall; God bless the man who sows the wheat, Who finds us milk, and fruit, and meat; May his purse be heavy, his beart be light, His cattle and corn, and all, go right. God bless the seeds his hands let fall, For the farmer he must feed them all.

The merchant he may buy and sell, The teacher do his duty well. But men may toil through busy days, Or men may stroll through pleasant ways, From king to beggar whate'er betall, The farmer he must feed them all. -Little E. Barr.
