ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds and cannot be sold in competition with the multitude of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co., 106 Wall Street, New York. 481-48

It is one of the most powerful and permanent perfumes prepared. A single drop will be found sufficient to scent a handkerchief or even a room. It is put up in a new style of glass stoppered bottles and sold by all perfumers and druggists.

HALL'S

was the first preparation perfectly adapted to cure diseases of the scalp, and the first successful restorer of faded or gray hair to its natural color, growth, and youthful beauty. It has had many imitators, but none have fully met all the requirements needful for the proper treatment of the hair and scalp. HALL'S HAIR RENEWER has steadily grown in favor, and spread its fame and usefulness to every quarter of the globe. Its unparalleled success can be attributed to but one cause: the entire fulfilment of its promises.

The proprietors have often been surprised at the receipt of orders from remote countries, where they had never made an effort for its introduction.

The use for a short time of HALL'S HAIR RENEWER wonderfully improves the personal appearance. It cleanses the scalp from all impurities, cures all humors, fever, and dryness, and thus prevents baldness. It stimulates the weakened glands, and enables them to push forward a new and vigorous growth. The effects of this article are not transient, like those of alcoholic preparations, but remain a long time, which makes its use a matter of economy.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE

FOR THE

WHISKERS

Will change the beard to a natural brown, or black, as desired. It produces a permanent color that will not wash away. Consisting of a single preparation, it is applied without trouble.

OUR SOUTHERN BUDGET.

(Special correspondence)

Southern Pines, N. C., Aug. 29, 1885.

"There just listen to that, will you?" a friend exclaimed the other day, attracting my attention to sundry sounds that came welling from the kitchen.

Here is what we heard: "A great clattering of pots and pans. A feminine voice exclaiming, "Shoo, dah! git out, 'o dat, will you?" to the chickens, and a "Go right away from dah, or I break yo' back, yo' red pig yo!" to the presumptious swine which roam at will all over this section of the State. The jingling of teaspoons and the clatter of tea cups and saucers was accompanied by half-muffled strains of weirdest music mortal ears ever drank in. Dante heard such when he composed his picture of the Inferno. But listen. The wailing, sighing, once heard-never-to-be-forgotten sound suddenly gives way to a louder strain that is communicated, not in weird wailing but in words. Here they are:

"You may go an' tell ole Satan,
Dat for glory we am bound;
We're on board the old ship Zion,
An, if he follows he'll be drowned.

I glanced through a convenient crack in the door. The head of the negress, which was covered all over with little sharp wads of hair tied up with white cord, kept time to the music. She had paused from her labours, which is nothing unusual for the best of them to do. One hand was beating the devil's tattoo on the table, while one foot acted in sympathy with the hand.

After the words died away there was a moment more of wailing interlude which Will Carleton illustrates in his "New Church Organ," where he says:

And after every verse, you know,
They played a little tune;
I didn't understand, and so
I started in too soon.

This interlude was accompanied with closed eyes, more bobs of the head, and more drumming on the table. Then she broke loose in words again:—

Come, all yo' collo'd sinners,
An' go along wid me;
We'll cir-cum-vent ol' Satan—
He'll have to let us be!

"Did you ever go to colored camp meeting?" inquired my companion. Of course I never had, and so I told him, at which confession he told me I had lost a whole chapter out of my life.

"The most fun I ever had in my life was at a colored camp meeting," confessed my friend. I saw that he was "loaded," and so settled down to my fate.

"There were a lot of us youngsters who, one moonlight night, resolved to attend the camp services. Such preaching, such singing and such praying were never heard anywhere only at a similar service. I remember one big chap who seemed to be a leader. They called him brother Pomp Perkins. I thought he was going to pray a few of the biggest stars right plum down from the sky. All of us were effected. Finally, along about midnight, the praying ceased, the singing sisters succumbed to the powers of tired nature, and the camp was soon as silent as the grave. Finally the silence was broken in different parts of the camp by loud and unqualified snoring. Every mother's son and daughter of them was in the land of dreams. About twenty of the leaders, including Pomp Perkins, slept on a platform which was covered with a shingle roof. Silently us boys stole up—there were ten of us—we surrounded the cover, a slight whistle was the signal, and that roof slowly arose in the air, and we walked away with it and set it down about ten rods from where it originally rested. Then we hid ourselves and waited for developments.

"In about twenty minutes a small black cloud, 'no bigger than a man's hand,' scudded across the sky. It didn't hide the moon, but it shed a few great big drops of rain. As the rain-drops fell upon the faces of the slumbering deacons and bishops and other clerical dignitaries who slept upon the platform, one by one of them stirred uneasily, tried to brush off an imaginary bug, and then awoke. For a moment all was still. Pretty soon one of the brothers nudged his companion—I could feel him nudge—and hoarsely whispered:

"'Brudder Jones, am you awake?'

"'Yes, brudder Huckleberry, an' fo' de life o' me I can't make out what am de matter.'

"Then others of them awoke. They began comparing notes. They finally decided that they were at camp meeting; that they had not been drinking; that they went to sleep beneath a roof, and now it was gone. As soon as all of these conditions were thoroughly settled in their minds, brother Pomp Perkins brought a yell that must have awakened the slumbers of the old boy himself.

"'Didn't I pray do good Lawd to show us a sign that He was really heah and was de ruler of de heaven an' de yeath? An' He's done it! Hallelujah!'

"The rest of the brothers caught the spirit. The good sisters heard of the Divine manifestation, the miracle, and such shouting and praising, and singing were never heard before nor since. Us boys laid back in the bushes and took in the whole situation, and my eldes ached for days and days afterward. It was the first miracle I ever saw wrought, but it was not the last by any manner of means."

But more strains from the kitchen interrupted my friend, who held his peace and listened to the goat-colored angel who warbled:—

You may go an' tell ole Satan
Dat for glory we am bound;
We're on board the ole ship Zion,
An' if he follows he'll be drowned.

House domestics are very plentiful at the South, and they will work for very low wages. But they cannot compare with the intelligent, thoughtful help of the North. The negro help in the kitchen and in the laundry needs to be educated. Near the cities and large villages good laundry work can be procured, but in the country I must say that a good laundress is as scarce an article as are white black birds. Every coloured girl who comes along and wants a place is ready to take her oath that she can cook and do up fine linen to perfection. But her powers for doing good work is all in her mind's eye.

The West is moving East and South. Some of the bold, blooded men who have built up the great West are coming to this fair land of birds, and flowers and sunshine, and promise. Immigrants from the North are being located here at the rate of one hundred and fifty a month. They all buy cheap lands, and all of them—or a majority of them—will become well off in a very few years. Verily North Carolina is the coming State. Dr. Clark Whittier, brother of the great Quaker poet, who sang his way into the hearts of the public by his word picture of "Maud Muller," and "her brier torn gown," has recently come to this State from the famous golden shores of California. He has bought 60,000 acres of land which he will clear and plant and beautify. Right in the heart of the forest, where the air is pure and the birds sing all the day, he will soon have planted a town. And what he is doing is being well done all over the State. Everybody has caught the fever, and the spirit of building up will grow, and grow, until the Old North State becomes the richest and proudest State in the Union.

F. P. WOODWARD.

In the should-be busy month of June the bank statement showed a falling-off of half a million dollars in circulation as compared with May, and was three million dollars less than in June, 1883. The statement for July shows no improvement. In a country like ours the midsummer months should be among our busiest, yet the July statement shows a further falling off. One of the most noticeable features of the banking business in the increase of deposits. A year ago they were $93,925,000; at the close of June, 1885, they were $95,000,000; at the close of July they were $99,062,000. What does this show but that there is not sufficient employment in this country for its capital.—Globe.

COSSITT'S

BUCKEYE MOWER

AND

IMPROVED

Ithaca Horse Rake

Have been too long before the people of this country to need any introduction. Seven thousand have been sold in this Province during the past ten years, and in almost every instance have given the most unqualified satisfaction. Some of the most important considerations in buying a MOWER or RAKE are: lightness of draft, ease of management, simplicity of construction, durability, and a certainty of getting repairs if needed. I can safely defy any one in the trade to produce another Mower or Rake which combine all these qualities in so great a degree as Cossitt's. In order to meet a growing demand for a light Machine, with the least possible gearing, Cossitts have sent us this season a car-load of light Mowers with cutter 4 feet long. They are one hundred pounds lighter than their Buckeye, with 4 ft. 3 in. bar. With these two varieties of the Buckeye Mower, and the unequalled Cossitt Rake, all of which are fully warranted, I feel confident I can secure a large share of public patronage.

The above mentioned Goods, together with a full line of Farm Machinery, Carriages, and a full stock of Repairs for everything, including Pratt's Combined Gate Hinge and Roller, the cheapest and best Farm Gate ever invented, for sale at manufacturers prices and on favorable terms, at my Warehouse, Main street, Woodstock, next above the F. SMALL & FISHER:

GENTLEMEN.—In reply to your inquiry as to the merits of the "Little Giant Thresher," purchased from you, I would say that having used the Machine two seasons I have had time to thoroughly test it in all kinds of grain. I might here say that when I purchased, I was prejudiced against the Little Giant Machine, having heard that they would not do as good work as your Improved Benjamin Machine, and does it equally as well when threshing at the rate of 600 bushels per day. Your Horse Power I believe is the best in the market, being strong and durable, and very easy on the team. When threshing grain for Chas and Wm. Montgomery, last fall, we had to lower our power down to three inches before we could control the speed by feeding. Mr Upham, well known as one of the most successful farmers, has employed all kinds of machines to do his work, but claims that your Machine is the best he has ever had on his farm. I have no hesitation, as it excels in all respects any machine I have seen in operation, and does it equally as well when threshing at the rate of 600 bushels per day as when threshing at a slower rate. I might add that it is not given to the excitement of trying a new Machine, but after two seasons hard threshing.

Respectfully Yours,

HERE WE ARE AGAIN,

But in a little different Form this time, but the Same ARTICLE after all, only a Change of Name.

THE NEW WAY. THE OLD WAY.

Owing to the increasing demand for a WASHING MACHINE that will do the work just as represented, and to place it before the Canadian people so as to be within the reach of the poor and those in moderate circumstances, as well as the rich, we, the Patentees and Owners of the Missouri Steam Washer, have begun manufacturing this SAME PATTERN OF MACHINE in Toronto, Canada, and call it the Eagle Steam Washer!

The EAGLE is made from Better Material than the Missouri, the Tin being XXX. The TANK is also made One Inch Lower than the Missouri, thereby taking Less Water and less Fire to Boil the water, thus making a saving of both Time and Fuel. Since we got our Patent in the States three years ago there has been over One Hundred Thousand sold there. Last year we got our Patent for Canada and we are now ready to supply any one with our EAGLE STEAM WASHERS who is tired of the old way of Washing Clothes, which, as every intelligent person knows, is not only laborious but the Clothes are worn more by rubbing on the Board than by actual wearing. We have appointed GEO. F. MOTT of Woodstock, N. B., SOLE AGENT FOR NEW BRUNSWICK from whom the Machine can be obtained, at the Same Price and Terms as from us.
