SIXTH OFFICE, in Vanward's Brick Building, King Street, up stairs.

It is stated that if all the appropriations passed by the Senate of the United States should become law it would be necessary to raise, at least, $100,000,000 from new increased taxes.

Says an English statistician, since 1793 was among civilized nations have cost the lives of 4,470,000 men. Baroda was the most disastrous battle, 75,000 being killed of 250,000 engaged.

St. Stephen is to have a first class water supply system for $3,000 a year, under a twenty years' contract. Calais and St. Stephen are to be supplied from the same pumps and reservoir.

Once more the Kely motor is before the public through the announcement in a Philadelphia paper that it has been tested in presence of a number of scientists and the wonderful success. We hope it is so, but don't believe it.

In the Manitoba Legislature the government, on a want of confidence motion, was sustained. During the debate one of the members called the Premier a liar on which the latter struck the other and a free fight was barely avoided.

A project has been launched upon public attention which appears feasible, to light a pathway for vessels across the Atlantic by a system of floating light stations, about 200 miles apart, on the line of and connected to the submarine cables.

The Dominion Parliament was prorogued on Wednesday. It was announced on Tuesday that the report due on the prorogation would be reduced to $1 per thousand and on the line to $2. But to prohibit importation and manufacture of oleomargarine was passed.

A reason given for unpopularity of British rule in the East, is that the Hindoo and Mahomedan have been deprived of many of the most valued luxuries of life; as for instance, the privilege of burning or otherwise killing their wives and buying girls by weight.

In the House of Representatives, Washington, on the 27th, the report of the house committee favoring the adoption of the amendment authorizing the president to issue a proclamation depriving vessels of our vessels in such countries, was finally accepted.

Mr. L. P. FERRY, his wife and son, were thrown from their carriage on Saturday last, at White's Cove Grand Lake, and very badly injured being dislocated on the road in an unobscured state; it is hoped, however, that all will recover. Mr. F. is well known in Woodstock; he is son-in-law of Mr. Hugh Hay.

Another to be distinguished foreigner, by descent, has arrived in New York, a canal having been born in the Central Park manager on the 15th ult. It must be an interesting looking creature, described as being made mostly of ungainly legs into which is hitched a head resembling a cheese knife.

At the time of our going to press the present form of the Home Rule measure, as to be second reading, will have been decided in the British Parliament. Down to the date of the latest despatches the reports are so conflicting that it was rash to judge confidently but we incline to the opinion that the bill has passed its second reading.

We have received the Exhibition Manual of the Canadian Exhibition, intended for distribution at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition. Its twenty four pages contain articles, well written, on the commerce, finance, agriculture, mining, fishing, manufacturing and shipping of Eastern Canada, with a classified list of the principal business houses.

Queen Queen has this season, greatly to the delight of her people and more particularly the London tradesmen, emerged from the seclusion which, since Prince Albert's death, she had maintained. She has graced with her person several public and semi-public demonstrations, and even been about to take a trip to Balmoral, the London shop keepers are disappointed that Her Majesty don't prolong her presence and continue to appear in public.

A remarkable instance of false incarceration in a lunatic asylum has lately come to light in France. One Jean Miellet who over 30 years ago was placed in an asylum by his relatives because of his marrying a girl whom they did not countenance, was recently liberated and an examination revealed the circumstances. His fortune, meanwhile, has accumulated till it reaches 55,000,000 of francs. He is now physically a wreck. His efforts are being directed to finding his wife if she be still alive.

There was not a very large attendance at the Agricultural Society's meeting on Saturday afternoon last, but those who were present had the pleasure of listening to an interesting address by Mr. O. E. Grosvenor, on Soilage.

A business meeting of the Executive followed, when it was decided, on account of the absence of many directors, to hold an adjourned meeting on Saturday, June 12th inst., at 2 p. m. Important business relating to the Exhibition to be held next autumn, will be transacted.

Having for many years advocated the early closing movement, the SENTINEL now rejoices over the comparatively successful issue which has been at last reached. The agreement entered into between the business men and women will be found in another column.

We are satisfied that the longer the new system is tried the more popular will it become with both employers and employees, as well as with the public, and that when future change takes place, it will only be to make the closing hour still earlier. In order that there may be no mistake as to time, His Worship has kindly consented that the fire bell shall be struck twice at 8 o'clock and once at 8.30. As we go to press the agreement entered into by the grocers also comes to hand. It will be found elsewhere.

New Brunswick Railway Company.

The 15th annual meeting of the St. John & Maine New B. R. Railway Company, was held in London May 11. It was shown that the gross earnings for the half year were $581,974 or 10 per cent. increase in earnings.

ings of corresponding period of previous year. The extra traffic on account of the bridge at the mill is so large as anticipated. Twelve new locomotives, twelve first class passenger cars, two baggage and express cars, one official car and 500 box and flat cars have been added to the rolling stock. Eight hundred tons of steel rails have been laid, and 500 tons of iron track have been laid this spring. The traffic for the month of March last shows an increase of $10,000 over March, 1885. In addition to the facts given the chairman in his report said:-

The public mind of Canada seems to be awakening to the advantages of St. John as a port; and I see from a paragraph in the Canadian Gazette, that the Quebec Central project to make a short line to connect it with the St. John & Maine line, is rather with the short line of the Megantic branch which is in course of construction. In regard to the Megantic branch, the president of the New Brunswick Railway writes to me that the Megantic line is to be commenced this season and continued until the road is completed. I am happy to say, in regard to the Megantic line, that the amount of $4,000,000 that we have been effected, and the proceeds have been received since the close of the half-year. I am happy to say that the New Brunswick Railway has acquired a lease of the line from the government, who are at present the owners, which will allow them to work the railway on condition of their keeping it up. Thus, we shall have all advantages it may bring to us without additional cost. We have not yet decided what shall be done with this money—how we should recommend you to apply it. In the meanwhile, we have placed it on deposit.

Farm Accounts.

We observe from a letter of C. H. Logan's published in the Globe, that His Honor the Governor has called the attention of the Secretary of Agriculture to the desirability of farmers keeping accounts between themselves and their farms. We presume that it is only in very exceptional cases that such accounts are kept and the business of farming is carried on, as a rule, in a haphazard way without any record of expenditures or receipts. There are many and evident reasons why agriculturists should, with a view to a proper estimation of the merits of their land for the production of the several crops, keep systematic accounts, and attention being now called to the subject, the instance of Sir Leonard Tilley, it may be hoped the farmers will give the subject attention.

Mr. Logan suggests that agricultural societies might offer premiums for farm accounts, and says: "A few well kept accounts would form a valuable feature in subsequent agricultural reports, and if they made as favorable a showing as I feel sure they could, would be found very potent arguments in favor of New Brunswick."

The suggestion is a good one; nor is the general rule a new one in this country, as the SENTINEL has more than once called the attention of its readers to it.

Frederick Douglas lectured a short time since in Boston. In the course of his address he said: "There is a chance just now in the National Congress for the development of a great man. Ireland has her Parnell and England her Gladstone, but the United States, though served by many good and able men, lacks a leader. Pity 'tis, 'tis true." Here is a great country—great in its resources and achievements; great in its scientific and literary reputation and still it wants a man. A Boston paper commenting on Douglas' statements says: "But none, in either north or south, is a man to whom stands head and shoulders above his fellows, and commands a following by the force of his intellect and the God-given capacity of leadership. But somewhere in the processes of evolution there is a 'great man' coming forward. It is to be hoped he will be perfected before the next Congress meets." And the word of men, great men and leaders is the general want, and it is likely to be even more emphatically in the future the want, of the nations and of the world.

British Trade with Canada.

The British Board of Trade returns for four months ending April 30, shows that the exports to Canada during that period amounted to £1,465,706, while in 1885 they were £1,094,113, and the imports from Canada in the same period respectively were £1,856,438.58 and in 1885 £210,729. The four lines of manufactured goods of which the largest value was exported as above was cotton piece goods, woolen fabrics, worsted fabrics, haberdashery. We quote the imports from Canada which show a singular falling off in some articles:-

Animals	1885.	1886.
Oxen and bulls	60,992	3,812
Cows	2,120	612
Calves	6	6
Articles of food and drink
Wheat	14,487	12,609
Wheat flour	7,043	1,551
Barley	16,041	12,383
Fish, cured or salted	68,229	64,850
Raw materials
Wool, raw	8,187	9,807
Wool, spun	84,214	31,888
	2210,729	2106,508

Ireland—Canada.

A contemporary, referring to the self governing powers proposed to be given to Ireland, points out that under the provisions of Mr. Gladstone's bill those powers will not be so large as Canada now enjoys; thus:-

Canada can legislate upon matters of defence and militia, subject to the command of the militia forces being vested in a nominal appointment by the British government, but all matters are excluded from the power of the Irish parliament. Canada does deal with matters of treason, as shown in the Royal cases; and legislates also on the subject of alienage and naturalization, trade, navigation, or quarantine; the postal and telegraph service, banks, light houses, and sea marks, coinage, legal tender, weights and measures, local copyright and patents; the right to deal with every one of which is denied to the Irish parliament. Does not this complete list of powers, which are impairing the integrity of the empire, based upon gross ignorance of what powers a local parliament might be allowed to legislate upon without serious separation taking place?

Do Lewis.

Notwithstanding he had become noted as the great preacher of hygienic reform, and spent many years in expounding the laws of health and teaching how longevity could be secured, Do Lewis was dead. He was an enthusiastic vegetarian, and did a great amount of good rather by the stimulus of his speaking, writing and practice given to physical development and improvement through the means of gymnastics and exercise, than by his dietary rules. There are very few persons indeed who may not be benefited by physical exercises, while as regards diet "what is one man's meat is another man's poison," and people will eat what they like, and eat all sorts of food, what agrees with them, and this is a reasonable course, from which few suffer if the simple rule of avoiding over indulgence is observed.

Franchise! Railways!

The Franchise bill has been amended in some particulars in the direction of lessening expense and of doing greater justice. An amendment provides that in future all income voters otherwise qualified under the act, who live in electoral districts prior to the 1st of June, will be qualified. Formerly an income voter was compelled to derive his income for one year within the municipality. This shortens the time for qualification.

For Good Health.

Seeing it stated in a Boston paper that the danger of the introduction of cholera from abroad will probably be greater this year than last, and remembering that our provincial communities run a risk, if not an equal risk, of a visit from that terrible disease, it may not be amiss to remind house holders and our civil rulers of the importance of taking early such precautions in the way of promoting cleanliness and proper arrangements as will in any event conduce to the general health and be, to some considerable extent, a safe guard from the encroachment of the disease mentioned.

Central Farm Station.

It will be observed that $30,000 have been provided in the Dominion estimates toward a central farm station. We hope that the preliminary investigation as to the superior advantages offered by various sections of the country for the location of this station, will be completed soon. We presume that it is only in very exceptional cases that such accounts are kept and the business of farming is carried on, as a rule, in a haphazard way without any record of expenditures or receipts.

Garden Plantation Items.

On Friday, 21st inst., Arbor Day was observed by the school in District No. 9, Kent, when tree planting was conducted under the direction of Mr. J. H. Byles, who was assisted by the school board. The lady teacher taking shore in hand broke the surface of the soil and soon had a complete forest of trees. Under the tree her scholars properly obeyed her directions and all worked with a will and in the afternoon, the school was again assembled, and the trees had been successfully planted in three rows, enclosing the front of the school ground for the purpose of the school.

On the 24th in honor of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, these trees were followed by a large crowd of people, and the trees were planted in the school ground. The trees were planted in the school ground, and the trees were planted in the school ground.

St. John said he would be generous. The present government would remain in power for many years, yet he would agree to give the opposition journals a share if the present opposition would agree to give the Liberal Conservative papers advertisements when the Grits got in.
