Convention Calendar.
Provincial at Fredericton, Sept. 14th, 15th and 16th, 1886.
Carleton County, at Woodstock, August 17th and 18th.

The Richmond Parish Sunday School Convention will meet at McKenzie Corner on Tuesday the 10th of August. There will be two sessions, afternoon and evening, in the Kirk. The lesson for the following Sunday, and a short review of the preceding one, will be taken up in the afternoon. The subject for discussion at the evening meeting will be: "Sabbath School Literature," opened by Rev. S. Howard. "Our Teachers" Help and Hindrance," by Rev. K. McKay. "Our Children for Christ," by Rev. Mr. Herbert. Sabbath School Workers will be cordially welcomed, and the different subjects will be open for discussion.

Will Sunday School Superintendents who have not yet sent in their annual returns to the secretary, attend to it at once as to delay him to make up an established report for the County Convention.

Echoes from the Head of Tobique.
(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT)
In order to make up for lack of items during the past few weeks, I now purpose to give the readers of the SAVANNAH a description of that part of Tobique where I have been hunting for a short time.

A party consisting of five persons left Arthurette on July 20th en route for the head of Tobique, or more correctly speaking, Towler Lake. During the trip we enjoyed very good weather and went as far as Johnson's first day. Mr. William Johnson keeps one of the best of the best places for travellers to put up at that can be found on the Tobique; and he can entertain travellers in the evening by recounting his adventures "by forest, field and flood" with great vividness. At Blue's, a few miles farther up, we cross the river fording it at the foot of Blue's Island and start across the portage road cut through last year by the commissioners, James McNeil, Esq. This road runs through the land granted to the railroad company by the government, and the road is being built in taxes to the municipality; but they have the privilege of having the money laid out on roads through their own lands. The road from the river to the lake is just eighteen miles, two furlongs and twenty-four rods; but it is very rough, although last year $500 was expended on it and a similar amount is to be laid out on it this year. However, we reached the lake without any mishap, and the beauty and wildness of the scene, at first sight, would almost compensate for accidents, if not too serious. At the thoroughfare from the great lake leading to a smaller one, an island is to be seen that very much resembles a steamer coming down the lake. But when one goes to the island, he finds it is a cove in which "distance lends enchantment to the view," with only a few stunted trees, covered with moss, and here and there a little patch of blueberries, and rocks to no end. In fact the country around the lake is one continuous bed of granite rocks; and in one sense the government were lucky to get rid of such worthless land, for farming purposes at least. When the lumber is cut off, the place will be worthless, unless for granite, for building purposes, and even that will have no value unless a railroad is put through in that vicinity. With regard to the lake itself, it is a body of water six or seven miles in length, and nearly divided by a tongue of land, and the two parts are called the "legs" of the lake. On the right leg, going from the foot of the lake, Babbitt & McNeil's camps are situated; one about two and a half miles from the outlet, the other about five miles. This firm will have lumber enough to occupy them for some years, on the lake and Long Lake together. About two miles north east of Towler Lake is Long Lake. This sheet of water is about nine miles in length, and would be a splendid chance for Haulan and Beach to test their muscles. On a fine day it is very pleasant, but when the wind blows (and it often blows hard and comes on, too, without warning) there are waves ten feet high, rolling "feather white" as the drivers say. This lake is noted for large toques, a kind of fish something like a cod fish, and when taken out on the ice in winter they are very choice, biting and striking with their tails when one goes to take them off the hook. Nearly all the toques come from the head of Long Lake is another lake, which traps up some flowers into Miramichi and known as Island Lake. This is one of the best resorts for winter trout fishing, unless it be Nepesiguit, or as it is more commonly called, Bathurst Lake. About a mile to the northwest of Towler Lake is another body of water known as Blind Lake. This lake has no apparent inlet or outlet, yet the water is very clear and, in many places, remarkably deep. Mr. Alexander Gray, who had charge of one of Babbitt & McNeil's camps last winter, informed me that there had been over twenty barrels of trout taken from this lake alone during the winter and spring. In fact there was fish in the camp all the time. Our party did not get many there, but they were the prettiest fish that I have ever seen my good fortune to see. There seems to be no small trout in the lake, all that are caught weighing from three quarters of a pound to one and a half pounds. The trout in Long Lake are very destructive to the trout. I saw a 12 1/2 pound toke that was caught in that lake last winter, and when it was opened we found a trout inside of it weighing over a pound. Indeed, it is seldom that one of them is caught and opened without giving evidence of the havoc they are capable of playing among the "speckled beauties."

On the way to the lake we met Mr. J. V. Ellis, of St. John, and at the lake had the pleasure of joining in a sport with Master Willie Ellis and George Babbitt of Fredericton.

One thing more, I must not neglect to relate. If my memory does not deceive me, I saw a New Brunswick bear last week at Towler Lake to hear it. In order to hear it to perfection he must take a walk out in the lake one-half or three-quarters of a mile directly opposite Blind Lake mountain. The bear is simply "too utterly utter."

I will not try your patience or occupy any more of your valuable space this time, but may attempt another letter at some other time.

Respectfully yours,
ARTHURETTE

Another Side of the Question.
Seeing a number of communications in your paper concerning the contemplated and much talked of "Centreville Railroad," by "Carleton County," John D. Baird, Henry T. Scholey and others, I thought that, perhaps, the American opinion of such a scheme would be favorably received. The people of Fredericton and for that matter the rest of the county want no such railroad. What they want, and what is sure to come, is a direct line from Piquette Lake to Danforth, taking the numerous border towns in the route. Such a line, and as I have stated we are sure to have it, would cripple, if not kill, the New Brunswick Railroad or any other railroad that has to carry Arnotwood products through the Provinces in order to find an American market, as any sane man can see. Now, does John D. Baird, Henry T. Scholey and J. A. L. think that any men with their sense about them and most business men as well as capitalists have, are to invest their money in a profitless railroad. If they do, they have not as much good sense as I gave them credit for. The people of Arnotwood County, if they aid at all, will lend a very feeble hand to the enterprise, and as "Carleton County" says, John D. Baird, Henry T. Scholey and their associates will find it difficult to raise the necessary funds.

"X." Answered.
To the Editors of the Carleton Sentinel:
In looking over your last issue I saw a correspondent from Centreville signed "X," who wrote some strange things concerning Centreville East. He speaks of "the grand spread on the first of June last, at the bridge opening, connecting Centreville with Peel, as the backlanders are totally oblivious when East Centreville came into existence, as such a place had not been heard of previous to the building of the bridge across the St. John river at Centreville. We would like to be informed if Gratton has changed its name to East Woodstock or St. Mary's to East Fredericton, as bridges span the river at both these places; perhaps some of the Centreville mudshakers will give the desired information." I have nothing to do with the mudshakers, but thought I would give the desired information; I did not think there was any one at Centreville so foolishly ignorant; I have made up minds for Centreville East for some twenty years.

COSSITT'S
BUCKEYE
MOWER!

It is a significant fact that while the Buckeye has been made and sold for more than thirty years, it has no competitor whose years cannot be counted on the ends of your fingers. Hundreds of competitors have sprung up, and by means of unlimited puffing have met with large sales for a few years, but as time goes on, the defects known by people of opinion, and to-day (with a very few exceptions) they "sleep in unknown graves, unwept, unremembered, and unused." In the meantime the Buckeye has kept on the same line of its way, keeping the general principles unchanged. Buckeye manufacturers have adopted all real improvements, and as some of their sales have increased year by year until to-day they exceed those of all other mowers combined.

The Cossitt Buckeye
Has always been noted for strength, durability, ease of management and excellent working qualities. Their Mower for 1886 has been fitted with greatly improved wheels, which give it a better and more practical life than any other Mower in the market, without impairing the strength of the Machine (as some other Buckeye manufacturers have done). They also manufacture a light Buckeye without a tire, which is undoubtedly the lightest running Mower in the market.

COSSITT'S ITHACA RAKE
Is too well known to require comment. We have had some made short especially for the use of new settlers. Call and see our stock of Rakes, and after comparing them with those of other dealers you will be forced to the conclusion that no other firm in the trade protects its customers as we do. Buckeye Sections specially. Cossitt Machines are for sale at my Warehouses, Main Street, Woodstock, and through my various agents throughout the country.
