In less than six months the Presidential election in the United States will have taken place. Mr. Cleveland appears to be accepted by the Democrats as their only available candidate even by that portion of them who are not in accord with his views on trade questions. The Republicans seem unsettled as to their probable candidate though all the indications point to Mr. Blaine as their standard bearer. The conflict will be a close one and great uncertainty clouds the result.

Death of Archbishop Lynch.

Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, died from congestion of the lungs, on the 12th inst. The deceased gentleman was a man of superior ability, and his death will not only be regarded as a serious loss to the church of which he was a faithful member, but, as well, to the country.

It is supposed that Bishop Walsh, of London, will be appointed Archbishop Lynch's successor.

Might Have Been!

It now appears that all the heroic adventures expended in praise of Minnie Freeman, the school teacher of Nebraska, who was reported at the time of the great blizzard, to have saved the lives of her pupils by trying them together and conveying them home after a terrible struggle, were wasted. The facts are that she herself was escorted home by two of her male pupils but for whose aid she would have perished. This is what the papers now say; it is just possible there is such a person as this Minnie Freeman in existence.

Manitoba.

According to the report of speeches delivered in the Manitoba Assembly on the Budget, the affairs of that Province were admirably managed by the former government. The Treasurer said that owing to the wretched condition in which the books had been left by the Norquay Government it was almost impossible to figure what their discrepancies were. He estimated the total liability of the Province at two hundred and sixty-four thousand dollars and assets at four and a quarter millions, exclusive of school lands. His speech is admitted to be the biggest exposure of administrative rottenness ever made in Canada. Premier Greenway continued the debate on Saturday. In the course of his speech he threatened Messrs. Norquay and Laurier with criminal prosecution on account of their dealings with the Province's money.

An Important Matter.

It should not be forgotten that there is a tract of land, convenient to the Town, which was willed by the late J. M. Connell to Woodstock for the establishment of a free school. The introduction of the present free school system rendered the application of the bequest referred to for the particular purpose named, unnecessary. That the public should enjoy the benefit of the generous gift and that steps should be taken to secure its appropriation everyone will admit to be desirable. It seems to us that steps should be taken at once to decide in the matter and secure such legislation as may be necessary in order to direct the land or its proceeds. The Town wants, and as years go by will feel the want more and more, a public park. It is a pity that the money which was bequeathed to the town should be used for anything but a park. The town, too, should have a public library, as should all towns. To one of these purposes the property might be devoted. The main thing, however, which we desire to urge is that no more time should be allowed to lapse before some action is taken in the matter.

Ireland and the Pope.

Whatever effect the recent Papal Rescript may have in retarding or accelerating a solution of the Irish difficulty, it, for the moment, very much complicates the current agitation. Mr. Parnell, having endorsed the rescript and declared that he was never very much in favor of the plan of campaign, is now met by a sort of authoritative declaration that he, being a Protestant, cannot be accepted as a spokesman for Catholic Irishmen or as an exponent of Catholic sentiment. It is said that the rescript did not mean all that was taken to and that it was to be explained by the Pope as to apply morally to the political views and demonstrations. Meanwhile the tone of public speakers and public writers and for the Irish Catholics as well as Protestants, as a rule, is such as to show that the Irish people will not, even at the behest of the Vatican, yield an iota in their determination to secure speedily as possible Home Rule.

Archbishop Walsh, a loyal Irishman, and a loyal Catholic as well, declares that the rescript of His Holiness will not affect the League in any way, and that a Catholic can still agitate for Home Rule without any fear of censure by the church.

Camping is quite a popular source of amusement with some of our gentlemen of leisure and muscle just now. On Wednesday night a little party of gentlemen was out for a tramp. They were accompanied by a guide, and were to make a run to the Madawaska dam in Birch canoe, and an opportunity of enjoying a sail up and down the river, at a very low rate, and the excursion will be able to visit the new dam and supply to be given by the Methodist ladies in the Opera House, on the 24th.

The young ladies who made the pleasure trip to Fredericton, in the Florenceville, and returned delighted with the result. They speak in highest terms of praise of the courteous and attentive service of the boatmen, and of the Captain Duncan, and the other officials of the Florenceville, who with each other in administering to their comfort, the party feel under great obligations.
