(For the Carleton Sentinel.) In Memory OF GEORGE HARMON, WHO DIED APRIL 6. 1888, AT PEEL, CARLETON COUNTY.

Poetry.

And can it be dear George has gone, The one we did so love; Has he changed the scenes of earth For greater joys above? And shall we see his face no more, Nor hear his gentle voice? How gladly would we've kept him here, Could we have had our choice. We are very sad and lonely now, And have been since that day

When, to the cold and silent grave, We followed him away. We are thinking of that solemn bour, When, standing round his bed, We watched his ebbing tide of life, As from earth his spirit fled. How oft the warm and guebing tears
Flow down our cheeks so fact,
As we call back unto our minds Scenes of the happy past.

And think we ne'er shall meet on earth: Our hearts are pierced with pain, Although we know our earthly loss Will be his heavenly gain. We know that God has but recalled

The gem which He had given,

And, though the cacket moulders here,

The jewel is in heaven.

and from that land of untold bliss. Free from all worldly stain, We would not, if we had the power, Recall it back again. Since he has left a world of toil, And free from every care, Why would we wish him back again To earthly trouble share.

So we will say farewell, dear one, Though hard to give thee up; Help us, Oh Lord, we humbly pray, Help us, Oh Lord, to do Thy will, While we are here below,

That, when our work on earth is done Go to that land of perfect rest, Where dearest George has gone, To join the ransomed of the earth In our eternal home.

A GHOST STORY.

A TRAVELLER'S EXPERIENCE. There was a large party of us com mercial travellers in the smoking-room of the "George." One of us had started the subject of ghosts, and we were very merry over stories of folk, fou and sober, who imagined they had seen a ghost and afterwards found their mistake. Jim Peters, however who was the oldest man in the room, sat smoking in silence. He usually led the conversation of any company he happened to be in, and had besides a large stock of Too Deadly For Common Use. Tobacco, according to the following, kills both wives and flies. If it were destructive to vermin only, it might be put to a very good use, but it is altogether too deadly, when it kills of wives. When will Christian people learn that reason and religion have set up their warning signals against this vile stuff, and that these voices cannot be refused with impunity. Read the following:

"Not long since, I was walking in the city with a celebrated physician. As we passed a house surrounded with every evidence of wealth and refinement, he spoke : "I have a patient in there, an idolized wife, who is dying, and beyond all help, and none of them know what is the matter with her, and still her husband has killed her.' "Why, dector,' said I, 'what do you

"Yes," I said, "the man of your dream!" He started at my repeating his words, and the policeman fightened their hold of him, thinking he meant registance.

"You nead not be afraid, he said in a shakey voice, "I won't try to escape; I'll confess all when I get in"

"And he did confess. He was the very man. He hid in Elgin after the deed was done till darkness fell, then he stole out of the town. He passed me at the prince to her entertainments, and at the prince to her entertainments, and at the prince to her entertainments, and at the last moment he would send a note regreting his inability to attend, thus humiliating her before her other guests. Once more she invited him, and he came, pink and fat and gorgeous in an open vest. No guests had of him, thinking he meant registance.
