"I have suffered for years from a bronchial trouble that, whenever I take cold or am exposed to inclement weather, shows itself by a very annoying tickling sensation in the throat and by difficulty in breathing. I have tried a great many remedies, but none does so well as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral which always gives prompt relief in returns of my old complaint." - Ernest A. Centreville, Sept. 19, 1888. NOTES FROM THE MIRAMICHI. DEAR SENTINEL,-

Foreston has been unusually dull this season; in previous Summere, fishing parties have occasionally enlivened this generally quiet little settlement, but this year such parties have been like angels' visits—few and far between. Although fishermen have been scarce I think on the whole that the fish have been almost as scarce. There are several reasons given to account for this—one in parties.

All communication with Medellin is broken off and it is feared that many lives will be lost at that place. Help was sent from Vera Cruz this morning.

The Mexican railway between this city and Vera Cruz is in bad condition.

Telegrams from all southern and western Mexico announce heavy rains and floods and many lives lost throughout the country. reasons given to account for this-one in particular has been the rainy season, but 1 am afraid that is hardly sufficient to account for secure some of the great bargains they are offer-

They have stationed a guardian of the stream in the locality to endeavor to increase their revenues by selling permits to enjoy the piscatorial ar; this enterprising gentleman had the temerity to post a placard close to the bank of the stream. explaining his mission and threatening offenders with the terrore of the law who should endeavor to betray the scaly denizens of the waters, and the fish and the fishermen have been frightened away from our locality; at least, such is ened away from our locality; at least, such is gyear they find no work for them to do, and the laborers have no means with which to get home. What adds to the sinister aspect of the outlook is the sad failure of the potato crop in many parts of England and all along the west coast of Ireland. This alone would have made a hard winter here. Combined with dear bread it is a gloomy enough outlook.

Hats, new and cheap, at Hugh Hay's.

A London cable says: Already we catch a glimpse of what the wheat shortage means by the discovery that bread has gone up a penny on a quarter-loaf in many parts of London since Monday. The northern workhouse authorities have their hands full with an army of Irish laborers who are accustomed to come to England for the harvest. This year they find no work for them to do, and the laborers have no means with which to get home. What adds to the sinister aspect of the outlook is the sad failure of the potato crop in many parts of England and all along the west coast of Ireland. This alone would have made a hard winter here. "Though they can't speak they wish," may have taken the hint from the aforesaid to indulge in the exercise of the exhilarating sport without being taxed to fill the coffers of the N. B. R. Co. For my own part, I cannot complain. I have made several trips down the river in company with the genial fishery guardian of the government, A. G. Lindsay, E-q, and each one has been a most enjoyable outing. I have caught Murror. enjoyable outing. I have caught Murray river trout in Australia, Trumpeters and Guard fish in Tasmania, Barracouta and Haupuka in the Chatham Islands, Elephant-fish, Moki and Octopi on the coast of New Zealand, and fished for Whitebait and Smelts Zealand, and fished for Whitebait and Smelts in the streams of that country, besides fishing for minnows and sticklebacks in the streams and ponds of old England, but nowhere have I seen such a beautiful fishing stream as our own Miramichi, many of the reaches of which present some of the finest river scenery I have ever seen. Even sitting down inadvertently outside the gunwals of a canoe (though it has slightly wetted my garments). has not been sufficient to damp my admiration of the sport and of the beautiful scenery of the stream. Of course, it is needless to eay, that the season has been a very wet one, in fact that highly respectable indivi-dual, "The Oldest Inhabitant" can hardly remember such a one, and, in consequence, the crops, though looking well and promising an abundant harvest, have been very back-
