It has seen scores of competitors brought into existence, run their ephemeral race, die and be forgotten, except by those who were unfortunate enough to purchase them; and now, armed with all the real improvements known to mowing machine men, it has taken a new lease of life and stands at the head of the list, equal in every point, superior in some, to any Machine in Canada.

Victoria County Parish S. S. Convention holds its annual session at Kilburn, on the 24th inst.

Secretaries of Parish Sunday School Conventions should send a notice of the proposed meetings of their Convention to W. T. Kerr, County Secretary Woodstock, and notice of the meeting will be given in the S. S. Calendar in the SENTINEL and Press.

Richmond Parish S. S. Convention

Meets for the transaction of business on August 15th at 2 o'clock p. m. at the Presbyterian Church, Mckenzie Corner. There will be an evening meeting at a convenient hour. All interested in the work are invited. Delegates from the different schools are expected. A programme for afternoon and evening sessions will be carried out, which we hope will be of interest to all.

C. W. DICKINSON, Sec.
Debec, August 1, 1888.

To the Friends of Sabbath Schools.

The time is approaching when Carleton County Convention will hold its annual meeting. It opens at Centreville on Wednesday 22nd. The Executive Committee are desirous of seeing a large attendance present this year. The attraction, we confine the word to the singular number, lies in the fact that Col. Cowden is to be in attendance, and will be prepared to take a prominent part in them. Since Col. Cowden arrived in the Province his tour has been a triumphant one. The fact that the Colonel is to attend our own County Convention and also the Provincial which meets in Woodstock, the 4td, 5th, and 6th Sept., gives the Sabbath School workers of this county, an opportunity for acquiring among other points an idea of correct teaching and places us under the obligation of accepting an opportunity that may not occur for many years.

The Superintendents of Schools who have made no report to the Co. Sec., and those who have not forwarded their contributions have the privilege of bringing both to the Convention.

Let us make our County Convention a decided success this year. May the Provincial Convention, which had its origin in the successful work of our County see at this session that our ardor has not cooled, nor our zeal abated.

CO. SECRETARY.
Woodstock, Aug. 9, 1888.

Communicated,

Answer to "Fair Play."

To the Editors of the Carleton Sentinel:

"Fair Play" wishes some explanation in regard to our taxes being higher for 1888 than they were in 1887. He says as far as he can ascertain we raise very little if any more money than we did in 1887. I have to tell him he is not as well posted as he might be in this matter. We raise $202 60 more for 1888 than was raised for 1887. True, the assessors for 1887 levied nearly as much on the parish as we did for 1888. But levying and raising money are two different things. For instance, I might make out an account against a firm, but if it was not a just account and the firm understood its business they would not pay it. Just so with the assessors levying an amount against the parish. If they did not understand their business and brought an unjust claim against any property holders of the parish the result would be it could not be collected. Now I claim that is the situation in the Parish of Brighton today, and the cause of our taxes being higher for 1888 than they were in 1887 is because the assessors for the past three or four years did not understand their business. We will try and make this plain. In the Parish of Brighton there is 33,772 acres of wild land owned by the New Brunswick Railway Co. Duncan McIntire owns a block of land called 9,000 acres. A. F. Randolph, F. H. Hale and G. R. Burt have 2,000 acres, making a total of 44,772 acres. The McIntire land is better known as the old Foundry land, and has been valued at $2 per acre, and been taxed at that a good many years. The R. R land was exempt from tax till 1885, then it became taxable; the assessors for 1885 valued it at $2 per acre, amounting to $675.44. They levied a tax on it at that value; the tax was $140; the R. R. Co. refused to pay a tax at that value but appealed to the valuators. The valuators reduced the value down to 50 cents per acre. That reduced the tax for 1885 to one quarter, the $140 was paid with $35, leaving on the delinquent list $105 that could not be collected. Now then comes the strangest part of the whole transaction, and what settles in my mind that the assessors did not understand their business. They had set a value on the R. R. land, the R. R. Co. had appealed to the valustors, the valustors had reduced the value three-quarters. Now then the assessors had no power to alter what the valuators did. But what do we find? I am quite sure the same three men were appointed assessors for 1886. When they met to make out the valuation of the parish they ran against this reduction in the R. R. land, and what do they do? why, they say, this will never do, the valuators interfering with our work; we will show them who is right in this matter, and they put the land up to $2 again. The tax for 1886 was $204.38. The R. R. Co. was notified by the collector that their tax for 1886 was $204.38; in that little act of notifying the R. R. Co. the collector's fees was $6.13. Well, what does the R. R. Co. do, they take no notice of it, and up to June session of the Council of 1888 they had not paid any of it. In 1887 I think there were two new assessors appointed and one of the old ones; when they met to make out the valuation of the parish they also came to the R. R. land. Well, what do they do, they conclude they must tax the land at the $2 per acre. It was not their business to collect the tax, they must do their duty and tax it well, no matter whether it was collectable or not. The tax for 1887 was $189.12. Some time in 1887 the R. R. Co. appealed to the valuators again to have the valuation reduced. The valuators met some time in January last, and they put the land at 50 cents again, and the Co. paid the tax of 1887 of $189 12 with $47.28, leaving on the delinquent list $141,-80, never to be collected. The assessors had levied on the parish for 1887 $1616.38. Take out the $141.80, the unjust claim, and we have $1474 58, the real sum collectable for 1887. For 1888 we levied $1677.18, $202 60 more than was levied in 1887. The valuation of the parish with the wild land at $2 per acre was $4779 94. In 1888, after the reduction made in the wild land by the valuators, it was $4133.36, $646.58 less than before. You take $1 50 per acre off 3372 acres of land and it amounts to $506.58, this is off the R. R. land. When the assessors met to make out the valuation of the parish for 1888, Mr. McIntire sent his agent with a plan of his land, he has 10,000 acres. The plan shows 1800 in Northampton valued at $1500, also in the parish of Peel 1200 acres valued at $1000, then in Brighton he was taxed on 9639 acres valued at $18000, in Northampton and Peel his land was valued at 83⅓ cents per acre, in Brighton, according to the plan, he has 7000 acres, but the assessors had him taxed on 9000 acres at $2 per acre; he was willing to put it at $1 per acre, that reduced that land from $18,000 to $7,000 Then Randolph, Hale and Burt, had 2000 acres valued at $4000; put that at 50 cents and we have $1000 instead of $4000, or a reduction on the valuation of the parish of $646.58. Now in order to raise as much money on $413,336 as was raised on $477,994, and $200 additional, there is only one way to do it and that would be to raise the per centage. In 1887 the percentage was 28 cents on the 100 dollars, this year it is 34 cents, 6 cents more than last year. Now what do we find by the assessors trying to overrule the valuators? Three year's tax on the R. R. land amounts to $533.50; the parish has received out of that for 1885 $35 for 1886, nothing for 1887 $47 28, total, $82.28 We must bear in mind that the assessors and collectors' fees have to be paid out of the $82 28, the assessors' fees are 2½ per cent.; for 1887 they got 3⅓ per cent., the collector gets 3 per cent. We must also bear in mind that the assessors and collectors' fees have to be paid on the whole amount whether collected or not. The assessors' fees on the R. R. land for three years is $15.69, the collectors' fees on the same is $16, total, $31.69; take that out of $82.28 and we have the handsome sum of $50.59 tax on the R. R. land for three years, and it cost the parish $31 69 to assess and collect it. Then we have on the delinquent list $451.22 that cannot be collected; is it any wonder that the parish of Brighton is $1100 in debt? Now Messrs. Editors it is very plain to be seen that if each year there is just money enough levied on the parish to meet the liabilities of the parish and each year there is from $150 to $200 levied that cannot be collected, it will certainly leave the parish just that much in debt, and just so certainly the time will come when the parish will have to be taxed enough to meet that debt, and that time has come now in the Parish of Brighton, and I can tell "Fair Play" that our taxes are not only higher for 1888 but they must be higher for some time to come. Now Messrs. Editors I think I have made this plain for "Fair Play," so thanking you for space in your valuable paper,

I remain yours,
A. W. RIDEOUT,
One of the assessors for Brighton.

SKIFF LAKE.

MESSRS EDITORS,—For the benefit of any desiring a short and inexpensive but pleasant trip, we intend describing our visit to Skiff Lake. We left Woodstock in the evening train and spent the night at Canterbury Station, starting about ten the next morning in a big wagon, well packed with a large party, and carrying huge baskets of provisions. After a five mile drive from the station, we arrived at the lake, and found it to be "more than our fancy had painted it." The lake is five miles long and two wide, surrounded on all but one side by thickly wooded hills. Almost in the centre lies a compact, round, little island, known as "Jefferson's," being a favorite Summer resort of the American actor of that name. Another island, known as "Northcote's," has a comfortable looking house upon it; here we noticed rustic seats made of the stumps of trees, the stump itself forming the back and seat with the addition of arms, which transformed them into cosy arm chairs. There are three houses in all. We were the guests of Mrs. Lawson, whose house is furnished with stove, tables, dishes, beds and all the etceteras for camping out. The day was as perfect as it could be; the water smooth and blue as the sky; the party pleasant and jolly. There were three rowboats at our disposal, so that the day was spent upon the water. We visited the different islands, noticed the huge rocks, some covered with moss, others out of which large trees seemed to be growing, their roots merely covered with a thin layer of soil; we ran into sheltered coves where great beds of yellow water-lilies were growing, whose thread-like roots we could see in the clear water. We had not time to visit the foot of the lake where the water and scenery are said to be more beautiful than at the head. There, too, the white water-lillies are found, and, along the banks, blueberries grow in profusion, while the fishing is said to be splendid. But the growing dusk warned us that our pleasant day was at an end, and we turned our faces homeward, determined to advise those who would be happy to go to Connors' Drive at Edmundston.

The whole of Connors' drive is out of the Madawaska and into the main St. John. Mr. Connors has had a heavy drive of it, and on Monday, when the "tail" end of the big drive reached the St. John, he dismissed the crew and suspended further operations until a rise of water comes. The lumber now will not reach the booms until late in the fall unless there comes a heavy rain before the usual fall freshet. Mr. Connors, who is in town today, states that he let his drive hang for the present, to prevent a jam at Grand Falls, which would very likely occur at this pitch of water.—Gleaner.

P. K. Delderick, a manufacturer, of Loudenville, N. Y., drove into Albany from that place Tuesday morning. After transacting some business at the Mechanics' and Farmers' Bank, he came out and laid a package containing $20,000 worth of bonds in his carriage. A stranger engaged him in conversation about his horse while a confederate abstracted the bonds from the carriage. One of the robbers was arrested in Troy in the afternoon. He refused to give his name, but was fully identified.

TESTIMONIAL.

Woodstock, N. B., July 10, 1888.

I have great pleasure in introducing Mr. H. H. LOCKWOOD, who has tuned for me in St. John for a number of years and given me the best satisfaction. He has also repaired pianos in such a way as to place him foremost in his profession in this country as well as in my native land, Germany.
