ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure.

This Powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kinds and cannot be sold in competition with the multitudes of low test, short weight, alum or phosphate powders. Sold only in cans. ROYAL BAKING POWDER Co, 106 Wall Street, New York. —53-48

To His Worship the Mayor and Councillors:

GENTLEMEN,—Your Committee to whom were referred the report of the Town Treasurer for the year 1887, beg leave to report that they have carefully examined the same and find vouchers for all expenditures, and also that the Town has been credited with all sums received by him on account of the Town, excepting one item, $17.10, which he had overlooked, but which has now been credited on this year's account.

Dated this 10th day of February, 1888.

J. N. W. WINSLOW,
GEO. L. HOLYOKE,
JOHN GRAHAM,
} Audit Commitee.

LITERARY NOTICES.

The February number of Harper's Magazine shows no falling off from the excellence of the January issue. The leading article is a sketch of Felix Buhot, Painter and Etcher, and Frenchman as well. The illustrations are from Buhot's etchings. Mr. Henry James comes to the front with a novelette, one of his best efforts. It is called "Louisa Pallant," and is cleverly illustrated by C S Reinhart. "Ship-Railways—Ancient and Modern" is the title of an article by F. L. Hagadorn describing various undertakings of this kind, both proposed and accomplished, since 500 B. C to the present day. A paper written by the late General Randolph B. Marcy, U S A., is on "Rambling in the West." Fifty years ago General Marcy led engineering and military expeditions in various parts of the Great West, and gained an immense amount of knowledge of the country. His reminiscences are valuable from many points of view, as well as interesting. "Socialism in London," by J. H. Rosny, is a careful review of the present situation in the British capital, so far as the doings of Socialists are concerned. The various cliques are described and their methods and characteristics are enumerated. The contribution on the Tariff by Hon. George F. Edmunds is a reply to Mr. Henery Watterson's chapter in the January number. It sets forth fully the arguments of the Protectionists against tariff-tinkering. "Hyderabad and Golconda" are the two famous cities recently visited by the Rev. John F. Hurst, D. D., who has described his experiences in a graphic manner in the article under this name, beautifully illustrated. The Departments are full of lively and timely matters. In The Easy Chair Mr. George William Curtis discusses the author's readings at Chickering Hall; shows the folly of not entertaining because one cannot entertain like his rich neighbors; destroys the happiness of Democrats who have fondly believed in the myth of Jefferson simplicity; and then reviews the musical season in New York. Finally, something is said of the Sharp trial fiasco not altogether complimentary to juries. In The Study Mr. Howells discourses about Emerson, Whitman, Cervantes, Dr. Holmes, and other authors and books. The Editor's Drawer abounds in amusing points. Mr. Warner is at his best in writing about "The Condescension to Literature and to the Stage."

Higher Education for Farmers.

Dr. Hoskins, a Vermont physician, who went from a farm to college that he might study as a physician, wisely says:—

"It is a most singular and painful thing, this indifference in so many farmers to the value of education. By a course of medical study I became familiar with at least the elements of several sciences, and when, by an accident, I was made incapable of following my profession, and returned again to the soil for a livelihood, I found in my chemical, geological and botanical acquisitions my greatest help to prosperity. Unquestionably these would have been of little use without work. I believe in work, but I see no reason why work should not have the help of knowledge. 'Intelligent, continuous work,' is what a farmer needs; and the more intelligence the better.

"Now that I am entering upon old age, I am particularly desirous to excite in those ambitious young men who will soon occupy the stage of action which I am leaving, a desire for all useful knowledge, and to convince them by the application of that knowledge farming can be raised from a base drudgery to a pleasant, elevating and profitable occupation. Farming not only can be but must be an intellectual occupation, requiring as much brain work as any business on earth. The fine gentleman brought up to do nothing in particular, and 'educated' in the same way, who squanders a fortune in muddling on a farm is not an educated farmer whatever himself or others may think. The rule has been that men were educated away from instead of into farming, etc. The educated farmer is in agriculture 'for all it is worth,' and in using this cant phrase I mean it, with all that it implies. Money is not the only nor the highest object of man's ambition. The true aim of life for man is the development of all his faculties and powers to their highest capabilities. Make a man of yourself, all around, my young friend. Develop all that is in you; use your faculties for all they are worth; and in doing this, while you need not fail of worldly wealth, or at least of comfortable prosperity, you will develop values in yourself which money alone will never buy, and which you and those who know you will never think of estimating in mere dollars and cents.

New Brunswick Railway.

The Maine railroad commissioners in their report thus refers to the N. B. road and its branches:—

"They are happy to report a continued improvement of the Aroostook River railroad. During the past season, about 450 tons of steel rails have been laid, making the entire line in Maine steel, and 15,000 ties. The road-bed has been thoroughly ballasted and ditched. At Caribou and Presque Isle new passenger stations and freight houses have been built and extensive improvements made. On the New Brunswick road, eleven and five one-hundredths miles of new sidings have been laid, and 600,000 yards of ballast put upon the road-bed. Thirty-eight bridges, six of steel, in all about 10,000 feet in length have been built, and 40 bridges have received needed repairs. Large additions have been made to the equipment.

At first a little, hacking cough,
"'Tis nothing but a cold,"
They say, "'Twill very soon wear off."
Alas, the story old!
The hectic cheek, the failing strength,
The grief that cannot save,
And life's wan flame goes out, at length,
In a consumptive's grave

If persons would use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, when irritation of the lungs is indicated by a cough, it would be an easy matter to avert consumption. Be wise in time.
