Cartwright's Unrestricted Reciprocity resolution, and the Estimates which were for the first time in the history of the House present. ed before the Budget speech was made The first named affair arose from the facts that follow. Messrs. Poirier and the two Trem blays are the French translators for the Com mone debates. During the recess they wrote and spoke against the Ministry, especially the French Ministers. They held that ou of session they had liberty to do this Mr Chapleau thought otherwise and wrote to Mr. Speaker demanding their dismissal and the Speaker complied. In the Honse Mr. Lau rier held that the Speaker had exceeded him authority as the report of the Debates com mittee recommending the appointments had been adopted and became the action of the House, therefore only a resolution of the House could dismiss them. Voluminoupapere, including a pamphlet, were laid on the table and when they are printed the question will be fought out.

By far the most important political event eince the resignation of Mr. Blake, is the de cision of the Liberal party to adopt Unrestricted Reciprocity as a policy. The con-clusion was reached at the Liberal caucus and next day Sir Richard Cartwright put a notice of motion on the paper. Boiled down it states that unrestricted reciprocity with the United States is highly desirable. Unrestricted reciprocity means that Canada will place on the free list of her tariff all the pro ducts, natural and artificial, of the United States, provided that country does the same tween unrestricted reciprocity and commeradoption of one tariff for the United States | cals will be added to the list :and Canada against the outside world, while SENTINEL and Harper's Magazine, under Sir Richard Cartwright's proposal Canada will maintain her own tariff and the States their own against all outside countries. The debate on this resolution will last at least a week. It will be the biggest oratorical display of the session.
