Written for the Carieton Sentinel.) The Girls of Carleton County. Oh! all ye tuneful bards who sing In Carleton's noble County,
Ye should applaud,
And loudly laud,
And thank God for His bounty;

Which bounty gave To bless the brave,-The girls of Carleton County; -For we have sweet and lovely girle,-

To praise them is cur duty; So passing fair,
So debonair,—
Unrivalled for their beauty; For wit and worth The first on earth, So thank Gol for His bounty,

Which blesse I us with such lovely girls,-The girls of Carleton County. A though New Brunswick girls are fair,-Each County blessed with many, None can exceed Our own indeed, Ob, no! indeed, not any! True beauty's type

When cherry-ripe;— So thank God for His bounty, Which biessed us with such charming girls The girls of Carleton County. Let poets sing of nature's charme, And what they deem the rarest; Sing what they will, To think our girls the fairest.

Though near or far None fairer are;-So thank God for his bounty, Which blessed us with such handsome girls, The girls of Carleton County.

Commands respect; They're brightest and the neatest; All must admit Their worth and wit;-So thank God for his bounty Which blessed us with such clever girls,

Not only fair as flowers are,

The fairest and the sweetest;-

The girls of Carleton County. Then bless, 'God bless,' our noble girls! So lovely, bright, and charming;— Their worth is such, I'm longing much For one to help at farming. Ye well surmise

I'd dearly prize
That gift of greatest bounty,
With which our noble land is blessed, The girl of Carleton County.

Wine or Water. A lady once asked a minister to take wine with her. When he declined on the ground that he was a total abstainer, she said: Does not the Bible tell us, "Every creature of God is good, and nothing to be refused if it be received with thanksgiving?" You are refusing a good creature of God. The minister, pointing to the wine she held in her hand, said: "Pray, madam, who made that wine? She answered: "I suppose it was made by man." "And pray," said he, "who made this water?" "God," she replied. "Then," said the minister, "have you not made a mistake in charging me with refusing a good creature of God when I refuse that which man made, and accept that which God made?" The lady instantly saw that she was in the wrong, and frankly acknowledged her error. As members of the Band of Hope we thankfully accept God's precious gift of water, and we reject the poisonous productions of map.
