Town Improvements. To the Editors of the Carleton Sentinel: I have often observed with what grace and dignity the Town of Woodstock freely fur-nishes to its crowded inhabitants some of the comforts and pleasures that are supposed to belong peculiarly to rural life, and in return how thankful and contented a people we should be. But there is just one advantage, amusement, excessive comfort-call it what you may-which is always associated with memories of the distant sunny green vales and verdant pastures of hill sides, for which we should feel special gratitude, and about which citizens in extoling our many diversions have hitherto maintained an unbecoming, and—I might almost say—a disrespect-ful silence. How quiet, how very ancient in its almost death-like stillness, would our nights, made day bright by electricity, be were butations of the sweet-toned bells that we hear as their carriers slowly and unostenta-tiously perambulate through our principal streets! In the early hours of dawn, how mollifying the effects on the nerves of childen, especially of those who are unfortunately l and who need the restful sleep! and how be parents of such ones must rejoice to have hem lulled and thus rocked, as it were, by ost. How strangers, visitors to our town, must admire our beautiful sense of the fitness of things, and note this evidence of our vigorous development and enterprise. How mistakable evidences that the midnight and early dawn processionists have not always taken the middle of the street, but with that delightful nonchalance born of the consciousness of being engaged in a good work-but more frequently because they are in search of some sweet tuft of herbage that unobtrusivey protrudes from some vacant lot-have very often occupied the sidewalks. Truly what blessings, what pleasures, what unsought con-veniences we do onjoy! Ought we not to be and August. I hope it may not be regarded as ; resumptuous in me to suggest that the Marshal should make out a list of the names of ur benefactors, the owners of the quad rused travellers, and at the next convenient opportunity, say when there is a full meeting of the Town Council, have a vote of thanks passed and tendered to each in recognition of distinguished service to the general public.

It any rate it might be thought over. Feeling that I have approached this subject with that due praise that modesty demands, and that my fellow townsmen will acknowledge that this matter bas been too long neglected, and hoping that our local editors will not fail, now that their attention has been called to it, Hats, Flowers, to thoroughly write it up, and feeling too that I have shown my patriotism in a tangible

ADMIRER. A Public Square. To the Editors of the Carlelon Sentinel

The best in the World for outside use, and is here no public square or promenade, free to URDAY NEXT. Bull's Mountain is well adapted to the pur-pose, and such a walk, protected by a railing and furnished with seats, where one could "rest and be thankful," would be a great boon to our town's people, as well as to visitors; no finer view can be obtained anywhere—the eye ranging to the horizon in any direction.

This subject is commended to the serious consideration of the city fathers; here's where they can smoke the pipe of contemplation, and also of peace. But no more need be said; let them but take a walk in a body to the top of the hill, and survey the scene; they will at once say, "all this shall be secured to the town at once-the work shall be given to Overseer Gibson and his squad of men." Mr. Gibson has already saved us $200 for the Council lunds,—but excuse me
