

Fire Assurance and Collecting Agency.

The subscriber has been appointed agent for the undermentioned First Class Fire Assurance Co., viz:

The Atlas Assurance Co.
of London, England; Established 1803.
Capital.....$600,000 00

THE WESTERN ASSURANCE Co. OF TORONTO,
Net Cash Assets.....$1,240,351 06
Unpaid Capital.....$90,000 00

Farms and mercantile risks taken at lowest rates. Losses promptly paid.

WILLIAM DIBBLEE,
AGENT FOR COUNTY OF CARLETON.
As Police Magistrate, I will collect accounts and Notes to amount of $50 and under without cost.

Woodstock, April 2, 1887.—
W. D.

QUEEN HOTEL.

FREDERICTON, N. B.
J. EDWARDS, - - PROPRIETOR.

FIRST-CLASS LIVERY STABLE IN CONNECTION.

ROYAL HOTEL,
45 King Street,
SAINT JOHN, N. B.

T. F. RAYMOND, - - Proprietor.
15-31

W. FRED. KERTSON,
Barrister, Ntary Public, &c.
GRAND FALLS, N. B.

Judge of Probate, Clerk of the Orphan and County Courts,
Victoria County.

J. C. HARTLEY,
ATTORNEY-AT-LAW,
CONVEYANCER, &C. I.

Money to Loan on Real Estate.

Agent for New York Life Insurance Co.
Also Agent for the Liverpool & London & Globe Fire Insurance Company—the largest in the world.
Assets.—$7,814,292.00

OFFICE—MAIN STREET,
TWO DOORS BELOW FISHER & CORNELL'S OFFICE.
(43)

W. WATSON ALLEN, CLERK OF THE PROBATE.

ALLEN & FERGUSON,
Barristers-at-Law,
SOLICITORS,
NOTARIES PUBLIC, &c.
ST. JOHN, N. B.

PROBATE'S BUILDING, - - Rooms 11, 15 & 16,
Cor. Prince William and Princess Streets.
(12-23)

THOS. LAWSON,
Barrister, Attorney-at-Law,
NOTARY PUBLIC,
ANDOVER, VIO. CO.

COLLECTIONS PROMPTLY ATTENDED TO.

J. R. MURPHY,
BARRISTER, ATTORNEY,
Notary Public, &c.

Also Issuer of Marriage Licenses.

Loans Negotiated. Special attention given to the Collection of Accounts.

BANDOLPH K. JONES,
Barrister & Attorney-at-Law,
WOODSTOCK, N. B.

Office.—At his Residence, Corner Main and Albert Streets,
Woodstock, Nov. 10, 81.

W. W. HAY,
AUCTIONEER
-AND-
ISSUER OF MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Office.—'Glasgow House'
WOODSTOCK, N. B.

DR. W. N. HAND,
Office and Residence.—At Turner's New House, Chapel St.,
Woodstock, N. B.
56-41

DR. M. F. BRUCE,
Ophthalmic and Aural Surgeon to
St. John Gen. Public Hospital.

PRACTICE LIMITED TO—
EYE, EAR, THROAT AND NOSE.
OFFICE, 40 COBURG ST., ST. JOHN.

DR. J. E. GRIFITH,
DENTIST
Office.—Next door to Dr. Smith's
Drug Store.

Special attention given to preserving front and badly decayed teeth.

W. D. CAMBER,
DENTIST.

NITROUS OXIDE GAS used for the PAINLESS EXTRACTION OF TEETH.
Office.—In Connell's Wooden Block, Queen Street.

E. M. BOYER'S
(Woodstock, New Brunswick.)
Collecting & Exchange
AGENCY.

ALL kinds of all kinds collected in any part of CANADA or the UNITED STATES. Charges on outside claims successful. Commission done at the lowest rate. Marriage licenses issued. We are agents for the Canada Accident Assurance Company.
Office on Queen Street, - Woodstock, N. B.
15-46.

HERBERT DIBBLEE,
Gold, Silver, Nickel, Oroids,
Brass and Copper
PLATER.
Manufacturer of all kinds of
Harness TRIMMINGS
and COMPOSITION SLEIGH HANDLES.
Carriage and Sleigh Work Plated at short notice. Also, Knives, Forks, Spoons, Castors, Cake Baskets, Watch Cases, Jewellery, &c., Replated.
Call or send for Price List for plating.
All work warranted to wear and look as good as new.
Light Articles such as Watch Cases, Jewellery, &c. sent by mail.

EXHAUSTED VITALITY.
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE.
The great Medical Work of the age on Manhood, Nervous and Physical Health, Premature Decline, Errors of Youth, and the useful medicines consequent thereon. 300 pages 8vo., 125 prescriptions for all diseases. Cloth, full gilt, only $1.00, by mail, 50c. Illustrative sample free to all young and middle aged men. Send now The Gold and Jewellery sample free to all young and middle aged men. Address P. O. Box 1990, Boston, Mass., or Dr. W. H. PARKER, President of Harvard Medical College, 25 years' practice in Boston, who may be consulted confidentially. Speciality, Diseases of Man, Oct. 19-20
D. Ballou St.

The Carleton Sentinel.

SAMUEL & JAMES WATTS,

Our Queen and Constitution.

Printers & Proprietors.

XLI.—24.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., SATURDAY, JUNE 15, 1889.

WHOLE NO.—2202

WANTED! 10,000

ECONOMICAL BUTYERS to come and see our New Stock of Bedroom Suits, Parlour Suits, Lounges, Centre Tables, Mirrors and Pillows, Extension Tables, Easy Chairs, Sideboards in Pine, Ash and Walnut, Bureaus and Commodes, Hanging Lamps, Strand Lamps, Dinner Sets from $7.50 upwards, Tea Sets, Toilet Sets, Silver Plated Castors, Cake Baskets, Berry Dishes, Sugar Bowls, and our stocks of Granite Iron Tea and Coffee Pots in both large and well assorted; in fact we have an immense variety in all our departments. The Leading Novelties and Standard Styles of the season. Prices the lowest ever known in a First-Class Goods. Now just received, when you visit Fredericton call in and see one of the sights of the city. You will be cordially received, whether you want to buy or no.

Lemont & Sons, Fredericton, N. B.

NATIONAL COLONIZATION LOTTERY.
Under the patronage of the Hon. Father of Confederation.
Established in 1884, under the Act of Queen Victoria, 23rd Vict., Chapter 36 for the benefit of the Dominion of the Province of Quebec.
Capital Prize: One Real Estate worth $50,000.00.
$50,000.00.

CLASS D.
The 24th Monthly Drawing will take place on WEDNESDAY, JUNE 19th, AT 2 P. M.
PRIZES VALUE $50,000.00.
Capital Prize: One Real Estate worth $50,000.00.

LIST OF PRIZES.
1 Real Estate worth $5,000 5,000
1 do do 2,000 2,000
1 do do 1,000 1,000
1 do do 500 500
10 Real Estates, - - - 300 3,000
30 Furniture Sets, - - - 100 3,000
40 do do - - - 100 4,000
200 Gold Watches, - - - 50 10,000
1,000 Silver Watches, - - - 100 10,000
1,000 Toilet Sets, - - - 5 5,000
2,307 Prizes worth $50,000.00.

TICKETS $1.00.
Offers are made to all winners to pay their prizes cash, less a commission of 10 p. c. Winners' names not published unless specially authorized.
S. E. LEFEBVRE Secretary.
Office, 10 St. James Street, Montreal, Can.

HAVE ARRIVED!

LADIES' AND MISSES' KID BOOTS OF ALL GRADES!
BEST ASSORTMENT, BEST QUALITY, BEST FITTING, LOWEST PRICES, AND LATEST STYLE BOOTS IN THE MARKET.
Also, 100 Cases Rubbers and Rubber Boots.
BAILEY BROS.
Woodstock, March 15, 1889.

SAWING MACHINES!

A FULL STOCK OF
Drag and Circular SAWING MACHINES,
NOW READY!
ALL THE LATEST PATTERNS.
Also two second-hand Horse Powers, suitable for running Sawing Machines, which we will sell cheap.
SMALL & FISHER.
Woodstock, Nov. 2, 1888.

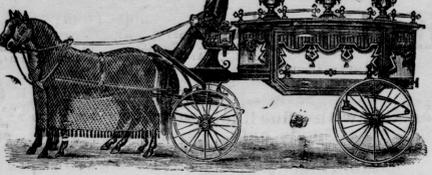

Plows! Plows!

CONNELL BROS' FOUNDRY,
WOODSTOCK, NEW BRUNSWICK.
Our New No. 1 Chilled and Polished PLOW STANDS AT THE HEAD.
It had an immense sale last fall, and is having a still greater demand this spring. Farmers would do well to place their orders early, to prevent disappointment.

CONNELL BROS., - - WOODSTOCK, N. B.

J. R. TUPPER,

MANUFACTURER OF COFFINS AND CASKETS.

Everything in connection with a First-Class Undertaking Establishment always in Stock.
Direct Communication, by Telephone, between Store and Residence, by day or night.
Parties from the country, requiring anything in above Line, will consult their own interests by calling here first.
Prices that Defy Competition! Hearse Second to None in the Province!
J. R. TUPPER.

WOODSTOCK UNDERTAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

STILL GREATER REDUCTION IN PRICES!
We are now prepared to furnish CASKETS and COFFINS at prices unheard of before:
CASKETS, Adults $12.00 - CHILDREN'S CASKETS, $5.00
COFFINS, 7.00 - Coffins, 4.00
Everything usually found in an Undertaker's Establishment at equally low prices.
Give us a call and see for yourself.
Orders by Telegraph receive immediate attention. We guarantee satisfaction in every particular.
We also have in stock a full line of FURNITURE, embracing PARLOR and CHAMBER SETS, CHAIRS, TABLES, &c., which for durability, extensiveness and excellence, are unequalled.
Remember the place—MAIN STREET, NEAR RAILWAY DEPOT.
JACOB VNWART, PROPRIETOR.
Woodstock, May 8, 1889.—43.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER Absolutely Pure.

This Powder never varies. A marvel of purity, strength and wholesomeness. More economical than the ordinary kind, and it will give you a better result with the smallest amount of flour.

I CURE FITS!

When I say I cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time, but to cure them for ever. I SEAR A RADICAL CURE.

FITS, EPILEPSY OR FALLING SICKNESS,

When I say I cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time, but to cure them for ever. I SEAR A RADICAL CURE.

J. GALLAGHER & SON, MARBLE WORKS,

Woodstock, - - - N. B.

Monuments, Tablets, Gravestones, Mantles, Table Tops, &c.

WE would respectfully announce to the public generally that we are better prepared than ever to supply their wants as we have the largest and best stock of MARBLE ever imported into this County, and which we will sell cheaper than the cheapest.

Photographers

Now is your time to leave your orders at HALL'S PHOTOGRAPH ROOMS KING STREET.

For a Dozen nice CABINET PHOTOS.

J. H. Hall, King St.,

Woodstock, Nov. 23rd. -84

TODD BROTHERS, Builders' Hardware

Dealers in all kinds of DOORS & WINDOWS.

Write for Prices.
St. Stephen, N. B.

DRUNKENNESS

OR THE EXCESSIVE USE OF THE CUP.
It has been proved by the most scientific and accurate tests that the use of the cup is the cause of the most serious and dangerous diseases of the human system.

MYRTLE CUT AND PLUG SMOKING TOBACCO

FINER THAN EVER.
See
T & B
IN BRONZE
on EACH PLUG AND PACKAGE.
15-43.

Poetry.

People will Talk.
You may get through the world but 'twill be slow;
If you listen to all that is said as you go
You'll be worried and fretted and kept a stew.
For medicine tongues that have something to do;
And people will talk.

If quiet and modest you'll have it presumed;
Your humble position is only assumed;
You're a wife in sheep's clothing, or else you're a fool;
But don't get excited, keep perfectly cool;
For people will talk.

And then if you show the least boldness of heart,
Or a slight inclination to take your own part,
They'll call you an upstart, conceited and vain,
And keep at you till you don't know what to explain.
For people will talk.

If you're a man of good, amiable woman
Whom every one loves, and whom every one admires,
And has rather excited, whatever they say;
But don't get excited, whatever they say;
For people will talk.

Select Tale.

THE HANDSOME DOCTOR.
BY W. H. S.

'And don't you really think Dr. Wilfred Morley a very handsome man, Miss Gray?' queried Mary Jones, at the ladies' sewing society, and all who heard the question stopped working and listened eagerly for Sophie Gray's reply.

Sophie, a small, slight, yet commanding looking brunette, flashed an amused glance around the circle, and laughed so significantly that two or three of her friends blushed; the quick-tempered daughters of Sir John Laurie drew themselves up and frowned; while that pink and white beauty, Caroline Woodleigh, sighed audibly, and shaded her face with her hands, as if she were personally concerned in the matter.

'I don't think I have ever expressed an opinion of any kind respecting Dr. Wilfred Morley's personal appearance,' Miss Gray said at last, 'nor do I know why you ask me to do so now. All the years I have lived in Eardwell no one has ever inquired what I think of Dr. Wilfred's father, and yet he has always attended me and my household.'

'It is not a case in point,' cried Lydia Vane, audibly. 'We are not discussing the skill of our medical men, but the physiognomy of the latest comer amongst us. Now, do confess that you agree with the majority, and think as we do, that Dr. Wilfred is one of the handsomest men you ever saw.'

And the reply was waited for with breathless eagerness, for Sophie Gray was the wealthiest and most independent young lady present.

Since the death of her father, the lord of the manor, she had been her own mistress, the aunt residing with her as ostensible chaperon being a nonentity as well as an intruder.

Sophie had never, a companion for her walks and drives, teaching at the schools, and cottage visiting.

Bessie Layton was the orphan daughter of an estimable man, who had been land-steward to the late Mr. Gray; and who was an apt pupil of the late Mr. Gray's daughter, who never seemed to feel a snub—and certainly never resented one—upon those young ladies of Eardwell who were loudest in their expressions of surprise that Sophie Gray made so much of this insignificant little thing, were forced to allow that Bessie did not presume on her friend's kindness.

As Miss Gray was of a social turn of mind, and frequently gave the most delicate tennis parties and carpet dances no one cared to offend her.

Let it be said immediately provoking that she should turn the cold shoulder to the most eligible of the Eardwell bachelors, the son of the elderly practitioner, who for more years than he cared to count had been considered the cleverest medical man in or near Eardwell.

Dr. Wilfred, as he was commonly called, to distinguish him from his father, had been studying in Paris and Vienna.

He left Eardwell a poor, awkward boy, he returned there a polished gentleman, with diplomas and certificates of his ability that warranted him in publicly announcing that from henceforth Wilfred would be his partner, with a view to his own retirement by and by.

But the sewing maidens are still sitting with their work on their laps and needles suspended or else tapping impatiently on the table with their silver thimbles.

'You ask me,' said Sophie Gray slowly, 'if I consider Dr. Morley's son handsome. How can I answer when I have every reason to believe that you and I attach very different meanings to the word? I have known persons who were commonly called ugly, but whose features were beautiful in my sight. If I concede that Dr. Wilfred is a very pretty young man, will it satisfy you? At the same time I must be allowed to say that I don't feel at all anxious to cultivate his acquaintance simply because he has a well-shaped nose and respectable moustache.'

A pretty young man; and this was all the praise she would bestow on the dark eyed, handsome doctor, whom a score of female admirers were likening to Gray Livingstone—Lord Byron—and every hero of romance they could remember.

For the first time in his life, Dr. Morley the elder found himself at a discount amongst the more youthful of his patients, the former ones, preferring to tender their wrists and murmur their symptoms to a younger, or as they said, a more sympathizing medical man than he.

Was Dr. Wilfred, or was he not, aware of the admiration he excited? He was too proud to care, he was too busy to mind the glances of Caroline, the saucy speeches of Lydia Vane, and the more gracious ones of the Misses Laurie?

Any how he gave no sign, treating them all with the same graceful deference; and while never seeming in a hurry, yet always contriving to make his many engagements an excuse for slipping away when his fair friends became too pressing in their civilities.

Local & Foreign Items.

Leading statisticians of England assert that more persons annually choke to death with old rags than in the country are manufactured out of whiskey, and there is no apparent reason why the process of conversion may not work as well one way as another; from whiskey to rags, and from rags to whiskey. What a beautiful business it is!

An old man in an almshouse in Bristol, stated that for sixty years he spent sixpence a day in drink, but never was intoxicated. A gentleman who heard this statement was anxious to ascertain how much this sixpence a day, put by every year at five per cent, compound interest, would amount to in sixty years. Taking out his little abacus he began to calculate. Putting down the first year's amount at the interest five per cent, £3 2s 6d, he added the interest, 9s 1d, and thus went on year by year until he had reached the sixtieth year the sixpence a day reached the starting sum of £2,225 16s 8d. Judge of the old man's surprise when told that had he saved his sixpence a day and allowed it to accumulate at compound interest, he might now have been worth the above sum; so that, instead of taking refuge in an almshouse, he might have come forth as a millionaire, he might have bought himself with a house of his own, costing £700, and fifty acres of land, worth £50 per acre, and have left the same as a legacy to his children and grandchildren.—Temperance Anecdotes.

The Case of Mr. Brown.
He came of good old revolutionary New England stock. His father, hale and hearty, is still living at a very advanced age. His mother, the son's mother, is also hale and hearty, and is a type of those men and women so often found among the descendants of pioneers who bring to bloom and fruition the intellectual power latent in their ancestors.

He was a very bright boy, and easily carried off the honors of his class at the academy, and afterward at college, where he studied where he studied his profession. During these years he adhered to the simple habits found in his boyhood except that he learned to smoke cigars while in college, and occasionally to indulge in night suppers given by the secret society to which he belonged.

He was a general, genial nature, ever ready with witicism, sympathy, aid, he was greatly sought in society. He could sit up all night and as he was fresh the next day as though he had spent the night in bed, and he was a big dinner, hard work, incessant smoking, seemed to make no impression on him. He had a magnificent constitution. He was a magnificent man.

Into the work of his profession he threw himself with all his might, and early became one of the honored members of the bar. He was quoted as authoritative. Money flowed in upon him, and as the years passed on he became connected with large professional enterprises. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which could not be digested, easily without the aid of wine, began to tell on him. The first which he kept burning so hotly without intermission began to consume the furnace which he had so long kept burning so hotly without intermission. Some slight provoking accident laid him upon a sick bed, from which, after much pain, he rose and continued as before to burn his candle at both ends. The tobacco habit was confirmed, and he was no longer able to smoke, though physicians warned him that nicotine was slowly but surely killing him. The habit of general living could not be given up. He was known as a first-class man, but not as a total abstinent. The finer kinds of wine were always found on his dinner table, and the finest brands of cigars were almost all the time burning in his pipe.

As the years passed on, incessant work, incessant smoking, and heavy dinners, which