Always a River to Cross. Always an effort to make, If there's anything good to win, Any rich prize to take Yonder's the fruit we crave. Yonder the charming scene;

But deep and wide with a troubled tide, Is the river that runs between. For the treasures of precious worth We must patiently dig and dive ; for the places we long to fill We must push and struggle and strive And always and everywhere We'll find in our onward course Thorns for the feet, and trials to meet, And a difficult river to cross.

The rougher the way that we take, The stouter the heart and the nerve, The stones in our path we break, Nor e'er from our impulse swerve, For the glory we hope to win Our labors we count no loss; 'Tis folly to pause and murmur because Of the river we have to cross.

So, ready to do and to dare. Should we in our places stand, Fulfilling our Master's will, Fulfilling the soul's demand; For though as the mountains high The billows may rear and toss, They'll not overwhelm if the Lord's at the helm
