HER OBJECTIONS TO A SERMON.—An old woman was present at a Presbytery meeting one day, when a student gave, as part of his trials, for license, a discourse which he read from the MS. The discourse was favourably received by the Presbytery; but the old woman, unable to restrain her feelings, rose and said, "Moderator, sir, the members of Presbytery have failed to find fault with the sermon, I mean to tell you, that I have three faults to find with it. First, the sermon was read; second, it wasa well read; and third, it wasa well read."

M.—Yes, but I told you to put the water in the first and the milk into it. Then, you see, we can tell the people we never put water in our milk.

"She's a grass widow," said one.

"What's a grass widow?" asked the other.

"The old lady! Don't you know that?" said the other, scornfully, "why, her husband died of hay fever."
