Rev. Mr. Chubbuck, the evangelist, died of Bright's disease, Saturday last.

Hon. Edward Bulwer Lytton, G.C.B., British Ambassador to France, died in Paris, on the 24th inst., aged 60.

We are in receipt, from the publisher, Rev. W. O. Raymond, St. John, of a pamphlet giving an interesting account of the centennial celebration here of the ordination of Rev. Frederick Dibblee, the first rector of Woodstock; also the sermon preached on the occasion by Rev. Canon Ketchum, and a paper prepared by Rev. W. O. Raymond on the early days of Woodstock. Any at all interested in the early history, of the County, especially of Woodstock, should secure a copy of this pamphlet. For sale at the book stores; price, 10 cents.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Nov 20th, 1891

The great convention has ended and the representatives of a paid up membership of 150,000—W. C. T. U.—have been, so to speak, resolved into their original elements, or in other words have returned, from this, one of the most notable gatherings, to their several local spheres of work, there to dispense the inspirations and ideas gathered at their communion in Boston.

On the closing day, the declaration of principles was submitted by the committee on resolutions and adopted. This platform is a lengthy document, a synopsis of which you may have later. It is vastly comprehensive, embracing almost every topic in which women and men are interested as regards morals, health, dress reforms, free schools and an unrestricted Bible. Upon some of the planks there was animated discussion, in which the ladies displayed acuteness and logic. An effort made by Mrs. Livermore to pronounce in favor of having the World's Fair open on Sundays, but without the running of machinery, etc., was emphatically negatived.

A pleasing episode was the gift to Miss Willard, who continues to occupy a preeminent position, and who, by the way, as a presiding officer, exhibits marked ability, by address of deeds of a lot of land at White Mountains and one on the Catskills.

A kindlier feeling toward the aristocracy of England must have been provoked by the happy and earnest assistance given by Lady Somerset, and by the presence and brief address at one of the meetings of the Countess of Aberdeen, who had just arrived with the Earl in the city.

The Almy trial, at Plymouth, for murder, has been made, by some of the city papers, a great sensation. He has been condemned and sentenced to be hung a year hence. A remarkable feature of the close of the trial was the fact that the sentence was pronounced in the absence of the condemned, and the wild and noisy enthusiasm with which the sentence was hailed by those gathered in the Court room when the sentence was pronounced. The papers say the doomed man will not be made aware of his fate for two days after the decision. As one can gather from the reports, the burden of the plea made in the prisoner's defense was that he loved the murdered girl too well to have deliberately plotted to take her life.

Hon. Wilfred Laurier has been here, been feasted and feated and gone home. He appears to have made a good impression, although there seems to have been some dissent from his manner of discussing the question of annexation, which, whenever discussed, would be on its merits and not as a question of politics. His reciprocity utterances were well received.

There has been another personal reception this week. Major McKinley and Speaker Reed were dined by the Home Market Club, and afterwards expounded the doctrine of high tariff and cognate matters.

It should have been stated, when referring to the W. C. T. U. convention, that at one of the first sessions, Governor Russell and Mayor Matthews were invited to be present. They did not attend, but sent letters of excuse and regret. Hisses greeted the reading of these letters, indicating that many regarded the expressions of regret not sincere. It remains to be seen to what extent the influence of the women will be manifested in the approaching election for Mayor, Mr. Matthews being again a candidate.

The New Bridge.

Much is being said and written regarding the new river bridge, and, as is perfectly natural and right, many good persons honestly differ in opinion upon the question, and to the varying opinions of such due importance should be attached. But beside these, many, on both sides, are influenced in their sayings and actions by purely selfish motives, and, to the opinion of these latter, the Government are not bound to take much heed. It does appear to the SENTINEL that in a matter of so much public importance, involving the expenditure of such a large amount of the people's money, the Government would be criminally guilty were they to disregard entirely the recommendations of their competent engineers, and locate the bridge at any given point, regardless of its fitness, simply because some of their friends and supporters desired it placed there. The writer, were he to allow his personal interests to control him, would strenuously urge the propriety of locating the new bridge on the site of the old one, above the Water Works, but believing that the engineers have condemned the site, and have, after careful surveys and soundings, reported in favor of the King street location, he bows to the inevitable, and readily admits that the Government would have laid themselves open to the gravest censure had they ignored the recommendations of their engineers. In this case, the Government might reasonably be expected to be especially careful in coming to a conclusion, from the fact that their own friends were divided on the subject; their decision, based as it has been upon such unassailable grounds, proves that they have been influenced by an anxiety to conserve the public good, rather than personal interests.

Death by Drowning.

A sad accident occurred at Avondale on Saturday, by which two bright and promising boys, Addington Sherwood and W. D. McL. Tracey, aged 14 years, were suddenly called to face death. It was known that they were skating on the mill pond, and not returning in due time, a search was instituted which resulted in the finding of the bodies, near together, standing upright, in water which was only a very few inches over their heads. The mournful accident has cast a deep pall of gloom over the entire community and much sympathy is expressed for the sorrow stricken parents.

"Bouchal Bawn" at Opera House.

The above named new, magnetic, interesting Irish comedy drama will be presented at the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday nights, Nov. 30th and Dec. 1st with the eminent and popular Irish comedian, J. S. Murphy, in the title role supported by a company of thorough experience, ability and merit. The play was written especially for Mr. Murphy and abounds in realistic, marvellous and thrilling scenes, a beautiful story of heart and home in the Emerald Isle, interwoven with humorous merriment of the most laughter-provoking character. The company is a strong one and noted for its well-known experience and ability to please. Nothing will be lacking to present "Bouchal Bawn" in a most enjoyable manner.

The Late Thomas C. Upham.

In the death of Thomas C. Upham, another link in the chain binding the past to the present has been severed. The deceased was a direct descendant of the earliest settlers. His father, James Upham, was one of the first setulers of the town, and his mother, a daughter of Captain Jacob Smith, is said to have been the first white girl born on the St. John river above the Meductic Falls. Mr. Upham in early life prosecuted farming, but later he became quite an extensive lumber operator. He once held a Captain's commission in the militia; and was for some years Town Marshal of Woodstock, and Deputy Sheriff of the county. He removed to Boston in 1868, where he resided till his death. In 1836 Mr. Upham was married to Elizabeth Hay, sister of the late R. A. Hay; Mrs. Upham is still living in the enjoyment of good health. The remains reached here Saturday and were followed from the station, by a large number of friends, to the residence of Wm. Upham, Esq., brother of the deceased, from whence they were taken on Sunday, to the parish burial yard for interment; the funeral procession was a long one.

Town Council.

At the Council meeting, on Friday evening, all the members were present save Coun. Hanson.

On motion the Clerk was instructed to notify all non-resident delinquent taxpayers, that unless their rates were paid by the 1st December, legal steps would be taken to collect the same.

The report of the committee recommending that the tender for the delivery of 400 cords of gravel, at $1 85, of Mr. Trafton be accepted—this being the lowest tender was admitted.

Vanwart moved, seconded by Hay, that Trafton's tender be accepted.

McLauchlan moved in amendment, seconded by Leighton, that a contract be entered into with Trafton for only 200 cords gravel, at $1 85

The amendment was lost, only the mover and seconder voting for it, and the original motion carried by a reverse vote.

His worship read a communication from Manager Timmerman of the C. P. R, as follows:—

J. T. ALLAN DIBBLEE, WOODSTOCK, N. B., Dear Sir,—After our consultation yesterday regarding the permanent location of the Company's freight yard, freight shed, engine house, coal shed, local repair shops and station at Woodstock, I am prepared to meet your views to the following extent:

As an inducement to the Company the City will lay pipes to and furnish in their offices, station, freight shed and engine house and vicinity free water for Railway purposes and fire protection.

NOTE—There is a permanent gravity supply at Upper Woodstock

The City will protect and ensure the continuance of the connection with the Company's track of the Railway track leading to Moore's Mills.

In consideration of which the Company will agree to purchase sufficient land from Mrs. A. B. Bull, Henry Upham, Peter Ryan and others and locate the contemplated improvements on the same a short distance west from the present yard, with the exception of the passenger depot which will be on the Company's lot Queen St., now occupied by the Engineer's office and other buildings, which will be moved and suitably altered to serve the desired purpose.

The City's conditions to be dependent on the completion of those on the part of the Company.

The measure to which you are asked to cooperate, I think it will be agreed, is not unreasonable, considering that the Company, to meet your views, has to pay twice the amount of money for half the quantity of land as compared with the alternate location, for which we have options at Upper Woodstock, and in the event of removal would not have any further revenue from the water supply in any case.

Also that it will ensure the expenditure in improvements, the greater portion of the money being distributed in Woodstock, from $22,000.00 to $25,000 00.

Desiring an early reply, so that the matter can enter into the seasons appropriations, for the ensuing season, I remain,

Yours truly,
H. P. TIMMERMAN, Genl. Supt.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 13, 1891.

On motion Vanwart seconded by Leighton, the matter was referred to a committee to be composed of the Mayor, the Supt. of Water Works, and three councillors, to examine into and report upon.

Couns. Vanwart, Leighton and McLauchlan were appointed on said committee.

Political Meeting at Bristol.

EDITORS SENTINEL:—

On Wednesday evening the 11th, a public meeting to discuss the political issues of the day was held in Bristol Hall. J. N. Farley, Esq., was called to the chair. Although the weather was wet and unfavorable, the attendance was good, and the Hall was well filled, and the different sections of the parish well represented, as well as the parish of Wicklow.

The chairman after a few remarks, called on our worthy representative Dr. N. R. Colter. The Dr. was well received, and gave an eloquent address, speaking for nearly an hour, in a manner that commanded undivided attention. He referred to the late session of parliament, and the debates that had occupied the time of the House. He then dealt with the trade question of the day, between the Dominion (and especially this Province) with England's free market, and the United States with a high tariff wall between us, contrasting the difference, thus showing the farmers the advantage of free trade with the U. S. He believed that honorable reciprocity with the States could be obtained, giving us the benefit of their market. He understood that the protest against him was to be proceeded with, and was not afraid to face another contest, on the same issues as the last.

Mr. Carvill of Woodstock, was next introduced, and responded by making a good speech. He took up the Boodling question at Ottawa, and handled Uncle Thomas and others, without gloves.

Mr. Thomas Robertson, ex M. P. of Shelburne, Nova Scotia, who was present, was called upon by the chairman to address the meeting. He responded by making an excellent speech, which was received with the closest attention, and which received unanimous applause. He had had ten years experience at Ottawa, as a Liberal M. P., and contrasted the platforms of the two parties clearly showing the difference. The National Policy had failed to verify either the predictions or promises of its promoters. The Liberal party of this Province had always been loyal to the flag and the constitution, and the cry of disloyalty raised by their opponents, was false, and raised only for political capital.

The meeting was conducted very orderly throughout, and all the speakers received the best of attention. It now broke up with hearty cheers for the Doctor, as well as the other speakers.

Dr. Colter was cordially received by his constituents in this part of the county, and it is safe to say that should another election be forced upon the county, the Doctor would receive a larger support than he did last winter.

ONE PRESENT.

One of the finest lines of Otter, Persian Lamb, Astrachan and other fur Capes ever shown in Woodstock, now shown by Hugh Hay.

Personals.

Mrs. G. W. McDonald, is making a few weeks visit to friends at St. John.

W. F. Brittain, Lower Wakefield, has returned home from the Northwest.

J. C. Winslow, Postmaster, spent a few days in Fredericton the present week.

Robert Bell and Irvine W. E McLellan Belleville, left on Wednesday, for Jacksonville, Florida, to spend the winter months.

Hugh S. Wright, representing that old and able company, the North American Life Assurance, has, with his family, taken up a residence in Woodstock.

Messrs Dr. R. B. Upham and Murray C. Upham, of Boston, accompanied the remains of their father here for burial. They returned on Tuesday morning.

Geo. F. Atherton and family, who have resided here for some years, during that period having made hosts of friends, have returned to Fredericton to live. They left here Wednesday.

Letter of Condolence

From the members of Windsor Lodge, No. 206, I. O. G. T., to the relatives and friends of Emma Cogswell, who died 13th of November, 1891:—

The Angel of Death has crossed your threshold, and with his icy touch has severed your family circle and removed one of its loved members from your midst. Noiseless was his tread, unexpected his approach, yet none the less certain his victim. Just as summer's latest sun was fading over the western hills with his withering power he came—the golden summer of your loved one's life was ended and her freed spirit now roams the echoless regions of Immortality. Our sympathy for you in this deep affliction is profound and sincere, for we remember that our band too has been broken, and to-day we weep over a common grave. You have lost a dutiful and loving daughter, a kind and affectionate sister, a faithful friend, and as with feelings of deep emotion we view our sister's vacant seat and remember that her presence can no longer cheer, her earnest words no longer encourage, we feel our loss too is irretrievable. Our Order has lost one of its most earnest and energetic supporters, our Lodge one of its best beloved members By her scrupulous integrity and fervent zeal in our noble cause she won our esteem and respect, while her kind heart and generous disposition rendered her the favorite of all who knew her Very keenly do we feel this dispensation of Providence, yet the Judge of all the earth doeth right, and in submission we bow to the mandate of Heaven. And even now, as the autumn winds are sighing a requiem over the newly made grave, and our heart's mourning in their deep sorrow, that sweet messenger of peace, Hope, comes to us and whispers that away on the other side of the River we shall greet our sister, and the family circle and our social circle shall be again united in a land of everlasting felicity.

Call not back the dear departed,
Anchored safe where storms are o'er,
On the border land we left her,
Soon to meet and part no more.

Far beyond this world of changes,
Far beyond this world of care,
We shall find our missing loved one.
In our Father's Mansion fair.

Written by order of the Lodge.
JAMES S. FAULKNER, Secretary.

Ladies have you seen the beautiful Beaver, Greenland Seal, Astrachan and Sealette Capes, just being opened by Hugh Hay.

A Cold Winter Predicted.

"Smith's Planetary Almanac," just issued, says that the coming winter is to be stormy and snowy. The following forecast for January, February and March is given:—

JANUARY.—A month of storms. Cold and winterlike generally. Remarkable for its high winds and "cold dips."

FEBRUARY.—Will differ form an ordinary February considerably. Instead of the usual "dry and cold" characteristics, I look for stormy weather, with heavy snow and rain. Sudden fluctuations of temperature.

MARCH.—Considerable downfall. A month with deep snows in Northern and heavy rains in Southern sections. A low temperature March. "Lion-like" this time. Not a bit like the "lamb" of 1891 Gales frequent. A marked change for the better towards the close of the month.

The December of 1892, Mr. Smith claims, will be "something for the 'oldest inhabitant' to talk about."

Of course we can do nothing to prevent the cold coming as above predicted, but we can do much to guard against its effects. Storm Windows are invaluable as a means of keeping the heat in and cold out of our houses, and we advise all householders to order them at the Woodstock Woodworking Factory of R. K. Jones.

Ready Made Clothing, Overcoats, Reefers, Hats, Caps, Boots and Shoes, Rubbers, Moccasins, etc., at B B. Manzer's.

JOTTINGS.

A P. Connolly's letter, next week.

W. F. Barker, New York, has the thanks of the SENTINEL for late and valuable publications.

Order storm windows at the Woodstock Woodworking Factory, before cold weather, to avoid the rush.

The residence of Mr. Webber, at the upper end of Main street, has been improved in appearance, by a fresh coat of paint.

The weather continues of a most delightful character; in fact this has been one of the most pleasant Falls known in many years.

The Star-Herald, published at Presque Isle, Me., has been enlarged from a four to an eight page paper. It is a first-rate local paper.

Mr. Blackaldar officiated in the F. C. B. Church Sunday, the pastor, Rev. C. T. Phillips being confined to the house from a slight accident.

At the request of the ex-Sec-Treas., we publish in another column the accounts of the Carleton Co. Agricultural Society for the year 1891.

Henry Price, a workman in Dickinson's Tannery, got one of his fingers badly jammed in the rolling machine, Saturday. Dr. Sprague was called.

Now is the time of year for skating accidents. Two boys, Fowler and Tracy narrowly escaped drowning while skating on the ice at Lakeville, on Saturday.

We believe that Mr. Haines found a capital foundation for the piers for the new river bridge. We understand the piers are to be of granite, with iron superstructure.

The light fantastic will be tripped by the lads of the Woodstock Cornet Band and their lassies to-night (Friday) in Cole's Hall. Give the band a large attendance.

All members of the Carleton Co. Agricultural Society are particularly requested to attend the meeting of the society at the Record office this (Saturday) afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A series of very successful religious services are being held in the Methodist Church, Ferryville. There have been quite a large number of seekers, and many have professed conversion.

A very pretty combination of colors has been effected in the painting of Mr. Williamson Fisher's dwelling house. Mr. Stoop was the painter, and has exhibited much taste in the execution of the work.

Miss Rose Gallagher left, on Monday morning, for San Francisco, Cal., where she intends visiting her brother Charles for some months. During her absence the business will be carried on by efficient milliners.

Don't wait for the holiday rush, but go at once to Campbell's photograph studio, and secure a first-class picture, in any style desired, of yourself. It will be the most acceptable Xmas gift you can give a friend.

A young man, Robert Briggs jr., while chopping wood in the yard of his father, Seventh Tier, Friday of last week, by the glancing of his axe received a severe cut on one foot; the three bones of the foot were cut through, just above the toes. Dr. Colter was called, sewed up the wound, and hopes to save the foot.

The new time table of the C. P. R. will be found in this issue.

Be sure and read W. B. Jewett's new "ad." His stock is superb, in quality, varied in character and satisfactory in price.

We are sending out bills for subscriptions, to our American subscribers; the SENTINEL will be much obliged for a prompt response.

Water takers are reminded that the water rates are due, and must be paid at once, at the water office, Town Hall. Pay to-day and you will not forget it.

Call at Henderson's Furniture Warerooms, Queen St., and buy a Lounge for $4 00; Chamber Suite $15 and all other classes of goods at corresponding low prices.

The case of Hale & Murchie, vs. Hillard Bros., is still before the Court, but will probably have terminated, before this paper reaches its earliest readers. It has been one of the longest cases before the Circuit Court of this county in many years.

Rev. Dr. Wilson lectured in the Methodist Church, McKenzie Corner, Monday evening, 23rd inst. His subject was "A Tramp Abroad," The lecture was very interesting and instructing. The people of those parts will be very glad to hear the Dr. again.

Be comfortable and happy this winter. How? Why, make your house warm, save doctor bills and fuel. Order storm windows at the Woodstock Woodworking Factory. They measure for them, glaze them and deliver them at your house (in town).

Owing to a slight error in the marking of the tags, as returned by the Judges on draught horses, at the late Exhibition, a colt of 1891, shown by Horace Kinney of Richmond, was set down in the list of awards as receiving second prize. It should have read first prize.

The Carleton, Victoria and Madawaska Counties Baptist quarterly meeting will be held at Centreville, on the 11th December, opening at 7 p. m.; preaching by H. Estabrooks; missionary sermon, Saturday evening, by Rev. J. C. Bleakney; quarterly sermon, by Rev. B. H. Thomas; alternate, Rev. C. Henderson.

In looking for holiday goods, don't forget to visit the FIVE and TEN cent store. Here will be found a very large lot of goods, comprising useful as well as fancy articles, among which you will be sure to find something that you want, and at prices lower than at other places Remember, the five and ten cent store.

While there were only a few persons present to help Doctor Colter and his wife celebrate the 20th anniversary of their marriage, on the evening of the 16th there are great numbers in this and the neighboring County of York who will unite in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Colter and family many more long years of continued happiness.

Recent developments at the Britton mine are said to be of the most encouraging character. There is now a steam drill at work which facilitates operations very much. The shaft has now reached a depth of 154 feet, with the result of not only, as we are told, of exposing apparently rich ore, but, as well, proving the correctness of Mr Gould's predictions.

M. Connors, night watchman at Moore's mill, while near a woodsawing machine, at work, on Saturday, was accidentally hit on the eye by the point of a slab thrown by one of the men working with the machine, The cut was a serious one, causing a portion of the aqueous humor of the eye to run out. Dr. Smith dressed the wound. This accident to Connors is rendered more serious from the fact, that his other eye, has for a long time been very defective in sight.

A well merited rebuke. At Sunday evening service in the Methodist Church before commencing his sermon, Rev. Mr. Dobson referred in strong terms to the present dilapitated condition of the cemetery. Its appearance he characterized as "a disgrace to humanity, to christianity, to civilization; a shame and burning disgrace to a community in which existed so many churches." To which sentiments all thoughtful citizens must say Amen.

How strange it is that you pay out money all Winter long, year after year, for fuel, and neglect the easiest and most effectual way of keeping the heat in and cold out of your house. We refer to storm windows, which are made at the Woodstock Woodworking Factory of R. K Jones. The only expense is the first cost, which is low. Unlike the woodpile they have not to be constantly replenished.

Miss Annie McDonagh, daughter of the late George McDonagh, a lady well-known and highly respected, died very suddenly, at her home, Monday evening, from heart failure. The many friends of deceased will regret her death, and extend sympathy to her mother and sisters in their tribulation. The remains were interred in St. Gertrude's cemetery, Wednesday morning. The family have been visited by the dread messenger, Death, often of late years.

The North Richmond Methodist Church was re-opened the 22nd inst. Rev. Dr. Wilson preached in the afternoon and evening. The sermons were replete with thought and delivered with marked earnestness. The congregations were large, the church being filled to its capacity, who listened to the discourses of the Doctor with eager attention. The church looks well within and without. The cost of renovation was not less than $375.

Mr. Hugh Judge, for some years in the employ of the C. P. Railway, went to San Francisco, Cal., Monday morning. On Saturday evening some of his friends in the Ancient Order Hibernians presented him with an address, expressing their regret at his intended departure, and wishing him luck in the future. The address was accompanied by a very handsomely engraved gold-headed cane. Mr. Judge was taken by surprise, but feelingly responded to the good wishes of his friends.

A well attended and exceedingly pleasant social was held in the basement of the F. C. B. Church on Monday evening. The object was twofold, first to bring the members of the church and congregation into closer social relationship and secondly, and chiefly, to extend farewell greetings to Mr. G. F. Atherton and family. Mr. C. R. Watson was called to the chair and the following programme was well rendered:—

Opening chorus; farewell address to Mr. Atherton, by the chairman; solo, Miss Jennie Blackaldar; reading by Mrs. Burpee; address by Mr. Blackaldar; duet by Mr. and Mrs. Alexander; solo by Miss Annie Fisher; reply to the address by Mr. Atherton; solo by Mrs. Shaw. Coffee and cake were then passed around, after which the company united in singing "God be with you till we meet again," and Mr. Blackaldar pronounced the benediction.

Rev. J B Young, of Andover, arrived here on Saturday, and during his stay has been the guest of Mrs. Kertson The rev. gentleman occupied the pulpit of the Mission Church, on Sabbath last, in the morning and evening.

We regret to announce that Rev. A. J. Lods is ill. He was obliged to cancel his appointments at Edmundston, on Sunday last. We hope to see him out again shortly.

His Honor Judge Stevens remained here over night on Monday, on his way to Edmundston to attend the County Court which opened there yesterday.

We are having unusually warm weather for this season of the year. It is the subject of common remark It is a great saving in fuel to have the weather so warm.

Mrs. Armstrong (wife of ex-coll. Armstrong of this place) and family left here for Ottawa yesterday morning, to join her husband, who has obtained a lucrative position in the civil service

Bull' Creek Items

Nov. 21. 1891.

On Tuesday night, near nine o'clock, a gale of wind and rain reached this vicinity, doing considerable damage. A large barn belonging to Albert A Bull, was blown down upon all his cattle. A large mow of hay was directly over the cattle, and that and heavy timbers were held up from crushing them to death, as later investigation proved, only by the sleigh shafts and a pin in the rave of the long sled. Mr. Bull and his youngest son Corydon, were absent from home. The neighbors promptly responded to the call of distress, and by imminent risk to life and limb, bravely succeeded in rescuing the cattle from their awful peril. They were, all but two, thrown down and held there, some of them twisted frightfully, until the men sawed off the stanchions and a number with a rope pulled them first this way and then another through the debris and fallen timbers some distance away. The men went to the back part of the barn and cut a hole with axes and took five out there, but on account of fallen timbers no more could go that way, and while they were going round to try again in front of them one poor cow bellowed pitifully, begging for help. At twenty minutes to eleven all had been rescued alive and, except a few scratches, unhurt. A comical feature of the, at the time, terrifying event, was a large hog made her own escape, grunting and squealing and tearing round, but finally settled down to business, eating the mow of wheat she succeeded in reaching on the roof which rested one side upon a high fence, the mow having been pitched that way. Fortunately no life was lost, which was almost miraculous, as two of the family were at the barns at the time and the falling roof grazed the head of one of them. Three out-buildings belonging to neighbors were thrown down and fences demolished.

Nov. 17, 1891.

The omission of the compulsory principle in the present School Law is the weak point. No stronger argument in favor of this can be adduced than the fact that at least 25 per cent. of the school population of N. B. are growing up destitute of the rudiments of an education. This we claim in every civilized community should be the birth-right of the child. The collection of the school tax is enforced and the ratepayer is entitled to all the benefits thereof, and no sentimental balderdash should deprive the child of school knowledge. At present owing to the incompetence not to mention gross ignorance of the members of many school boards, the stupid apathy of the parents, and the niggardly provision made by the ratepayers and as a consequence the engagement of cheap teachers or none at all, these afford a very precarious opportunity for the education of the youth in far too many districts. Very great injustice is done in such cases to the individual ratepayer who is obliged to send his children elsewhere to get an education Vulgar prejudice and personal spite very often is the controlling principles that actuates such school boards. County School Boards, the members appointed by the Board of Education would remedy this. The district to be represented by an agent as in the State of Maine.

Petitions for the division of the parishes of Grand Falls and Drummond will be laid before the Legislature.

Herman Henderson, the Grammar School Master, is very popular in Andover. Quite a number of scholars are attending from the county.

J. R. Inch, L. L. D., the new chief of the Education Bureau, is a very efficient and courteous officer. The teachers of N. B. will find in him a sincere friend. A life long and distinguished teacher himself he will do honor to the office which is undoubtedly the most important one in the country. The Government have scored a point in their favor in providing such an able, zealous gentleman, in the place of Mr. Crockett.

J. D. Burnham and S R Boyer are doing a thriving business with their full stock of Fall goods at low prices.

George Wheeler is our prominent school teacher, but, sorry to say, he will leave us Christmas.

Under the careful treatment of Dr. Hagerman, of Florenceville, B. Melsaac is able to be out again.

Last Saturday was a very busy day here among the tradesmen, more so than has been the case for some time.

Misses Annie McMullin, Edith Burnham, Mabel Tompkins, Mrs. S. R. Boyer and Mrs. John Lovely, thinking it too nice a day to stay in the house, drove up to Bristol and was very much pleased to see that the place had been improving since last they visited it.

A RESIDENT.

("A Resident" will notice that we have not published some of the items contained in his letter; the information contained was given by our Florenceville correspondent last week.—EDS. SEN.

Madawaska County Court convened here yesterday, Judge Stevens presiding. There being no cases the court was immediately adjourned

The appearance of the waiting room in the C. P. Ry. station has been much improved by the application of a new coat of wall paper.

There was quite a smash up in the vicinity of the C. P. and Temiscouata Ry. stations a few days ago caused by a runaway horse to which was attached a new buggy.

D. F Merritt, Collector of Customs, Woodstock, was in town yesterday on his way to St. Francis.

Ten new Frost Proof cars were received by the Temiscouata Ry. yesterday for use on that road.

There was no service in the new church last Sunday owing to the illness of Rev. Mr. Lods.

A prominent merchant tailor and a local sportsman covered themselves with glory on a recent sporting expedition.

The Press correspondent's prolonged effort this week in vindication of his ambiguous item in a former issue of that paper would lead the public to believe that we were actuated by a feeling of jealousy when we asked him in these columns, two weeks ago, to explain the sentence referred to. Your correspondent is not open to criticism as a "press reporter" as our friend the Press scribe apparently delights to style himself, nor do we claim to have a monopoly of news, but when we contribute to these columns we endeavor to furnish that which is reliable and that which is of interest to the general reader; and therefore with our criticizer's last effusion before us, and recalling many of his previous writings, we feel that it would be inconsistent with our object, and an injustice to this community and to the readers of this paper in general, if we obtained our information from the same source that the Press correspondent does, or allowed ourselves to be influenced in any manner by any of his statements His other accusation, in which he evidently wishes to fasten a further charge of jealousy on us, and at the same time exalt himself, is beneath our notice, as it is not to be assumed by any fair minded reader, to contain one word of truth. So far from being jealous of our contemporary, I have no inclination to enter into a discussion over the usefulness of the bridge in question; on its political situation, as it is conceded by all to be in harmony with the best interests of the place.

Kintore Items.

The Sons of Temperance had an evening of pleasure in the school at Lower Kintore, on Friday, the 13th inst. The house was well filled by a very respectable company who had come from every district of the settlement, and a more enjoyable evening never fell to the lot of those present. Every one who took part did so in a most creditable manner. The entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental music, with speeches, readings, recitations and dialogues.

Mr. Thomas Watt, D G W P., who occupied the chair, gave an opening address and read the following lines which he had written for the occasion:—

The frost king drove out in his icy car
And killed all the flowers that were blooming;
He rejoices to see each leafless tree
And the storm clouds sternly glooming.

He comes to chain the river's flow.
And bind the crystal fountain;
He bids the snow spread out its robes
To cover plain and mountain.

But though the dreary wintry winds,
May be howling like a demon,
There's many a form must stand the storm
And these are brave Canadian freemen.

But while we feel ill's that are sent.
There are other ills far more trying;
Arise and crush the demon drink,
Which all that's good is defying

The Sons of Temperance here have met,
And friends will surely lend a hand,
To end at last the greatest foe
That ever cursed our land.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson delivered an admirable address, which cannot but have a good and lasting effect on the minds of those present. About the middle of the evening the company had a nice tea served by a very efficient staff of stewards and stewardesses. It would be difficult to give a conscientious decision as to what department of the entertainment was best rendered, all was so well done. Temperance is making a great advance both in Kintore and in the county generally. In this settlement a Sons of Temperance lodge has been established in almost every district, and many workers are to be found among them, but it will require all their attention, intelligence and perseverance to destroy the drink evil. The lodge is kindly inviting all to assist in preventing incalculable misery and aiding in making many happy homes.

The weather still continues fine and warm for the season.

R J. Lee has removed to Poplar Lawn, the place lately purchased of J. J. Dobson.

Mc Ewen Brothers started yesterday with their crew for the lumber woods.

Owing to the misfortune of breaking his waggon, Herb did not get around last week

Wm. Sayles has returned after an absence of some months.

Mrs. J W. Scovil very recently gave a knitting party, which proved a very enjoyable occasion; the weather being fine a goodly number of invited guests were present Oh how the needles did fly, as each busy knitter strove to out do the other, while their tongues kept time to their needles the while no doubt.

One day last week, as Fred. Lee and George Stokoe, were driving along toward Glassville, they met with what might have been a serious accident, but for their early training in horsemanship. In some way the breeching strap became unhooked, and the horse, after kicking, attempted to run. Of course the boys knew just what to do under such circumstances, and in a few minutes they had the harness all in place and went on their way rejoicing.

Rev. Mr. Gough will preach in the school house on the evening of the 30th inst.

IN MEMORIAM

This district is enshrouded in sorrow, caused by the death of Mrs. John Milne The death of this good and useful woman has drawn forth an unusual amount of sincere regret and sorrow from the many friends and sympathisers, by whom she was highly esteemed on account of her singularly genial, obliging and hospitable disposition, and her devotedness to the interests of her neighbors. Many a one has she helped and comforted in their hour of affliction; for many did she perform the last kind act when death came But now, thank God, she has gone to her reward. Her end was peace; she appeared as if awaiting patiently, but trusting, for the coming of the Master to take her home. What renders her death the more sad, is the fact that she had been ill only a few days: cut down in the midst of her usefulness. She was a woman of great force and energy, and truly we can say we have lost our best friend, outside our own family: we rejoice to know, however, that our loss is her gain. What makes it still more sad to us who are left to sorrow, is the circumstance that her beloved husband John Milne, a most energetic Deacon and Sunday School teacher in connection with our church, is so sick as to be confined to his bed. We pray that God will spare and restore him soon for the sake of his ten motherless children, and for the Kirk and Sunday School and his many friends.

Called from her home so fast away
Whose voice was music to the ear,
Her loving voice at gloamin' gray,
Will no more give us joy to hear.

ST PAUL, Minn, Nov. 21.—Over half a foot of snow fell in this city and neighborhood in a couple of hours this morning and it looks as though winter had set in for good. The weather in the north west during the past week has been the most unseasonable for many years.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 24.—A despatch from Newton, Miss., says a cyclone struck Lawrence, four miles distant yesterday afternoon. All the houses in the track of the storm were lifted bodily away. A number of persons were seriously injured

LONDON, Nov. 24th.—A correspondent at Tien Tsien, telegraphs: News has arrived here of a murderous raid in the North Well; armed bands have devastated a whole district and pillaged and burned the Belgian mission stations at Tayen and Sanchi and massacred over one hundred converts to Christianity. Troops have been despatched to the scene. The number of European victims is unknown.

LONDON, Nov. 24,—A Bangkok correspondent telegraphs an account of the terrible destruction wrought by a cyclone which swept over a portion of the country, wrecking thousands of buildings and causing great loss of life. The towns of Chai Ya and Bandon have been practically destroyed and 300 inhabitants killed.

TORONTO, Nov. 22—Diphtheria has become so prevalent in Toronto as to be almost of the nature of an epidemic. Every available cot in the general hospital is occupied by sufferers from that disease, and the health authorities have been compelled to open a temporary hospital for diphtheria patients.
